President Requests Delay on Order.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Secretary Hull [top] and Admiral Land, chairman of maritime commission.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The attempted transfer of nine United States Lines ships to Panama registry in order to circumvent the new neutrality act barring American ships from European combat zones was halted today by violent storms inside and outside of the Roosevelt administration.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and numerous senators branded the proposed transfer of ships to the flag of Panama as a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the neutrality law. The United States maritime commission, which had already approved the step in principle, delayed final action. It was stated that the board would give the matter further consideration and might decide the question tomorrow.

President Orders Delay.

In a press conference at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., Mr. Roosevelt said he had requested the maritime commission to delay transfer of the registry of the vessels to Panama. He said he wanted time to check personally on questions as to the relationship of the transfer or sale of American merchant ships to the national defense and to the elimination of American competition by foreign purchase of American lines.

He asserted that consideration of the transfer by the maritime commission was evidence that there is no danger of the United States becoming involved in war, because the commission would not consider the proposal if such danger existed.

Neutrality does not enter into the matter, he insisted, because any American has a perfect right to sell property to a neutral nation or transfer title in it to a neutral. There is no danger of the United States becoming involved if anything should happen to any of the ships should they be transferred because neither the ship, crew, or cargo would be American.

Threaten to Picket Commission.

Concurrently with the ebullition of protests against the move in Washington, Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union, announced in New York that if the ships were transferred from the American flag the American seamen thrown out of work would be sent to Washington to picket the maritime commission. Under the new neutrality law American seamen may not be employed on ships entering the combat zones proclaimed by the President.

"If these ships are manned by alien seamen," said Curran, "the union is going to see to it that the American seamen thrown on the beach as a result of this action are taken down to Washington to form a picket line around the commission until those American seamen are taken care of."

Both at the maritime commission and in other administration quarters, it was denied that Curran's picketing threat had influenced the steps taken to hold up the transfer of the ships. It was evident, however, that the proposal to circumvent the law had touched off an explosion in the administration.

Planned in Secret.

The plan to put the United States Lines' nine ships under the Panama flag is said to have been worked out prior to the passage of the neutrality measure last week, but was kept a secret because of the realization of the storm of protest it might evoke from congress. In fact there is reason to believe the move would not have been made had congress remained in session as the Republicans and the anti-Roosevelt Democrats advocated.

With congress safely out of Washington the scheme was broached. The maritime commission had been

NO! SAYS NAZI PRESS; BRITISH CABINET CALLED

Chamberlain to Give Reply Tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Nov. 7.—The capitals of Europe bustled with diplomatic activity tonight as government leaders considered the Belgian-Dutch offer to mediate a peace between Germany and Great Britain and France. The offer was made earlier in the day by King Leopold of the Belgians and Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands.

First reports from the three belligerent capitals held out little hope for success of the offer, although it was emphasized that it would receive every consideration before a definite reply was given. No official statements were issued in Berlin, London, or Paris. All comment was unofficial.

Nazi Press Is Hostile.

In Germany the Nazi press turned down the idea of mediation, but dispatches from Berlin said it was a matter of conjecture how seriously the rejection was meant. There can be no doubt, it was said, that a majority of Germans would welcome a peaceful compromise. Official circles in Germany for weeks have been chiding the neutral nations for their failure to take energetic steps to further the cause of peace.

It was emphasized that Germany's official reaction would not be known until Fuehrer Hitler has considered the offer. The Fuehrer left Berlin tonight. It was said he went to Munich and might spend a few days at his Alpine residence, Berghof, to which he usually withdraws on the eve of momentous decisions.

The Belgian ambassador to Germany had a 20 minute conversation in the Russian embassy in Berlin this afternoon with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister. Later a member of the Belgian embassy expressed fear that "all efforts to bring about peace are futile."

It was learned that Hitler conferred last week with unnamed foreign emissaries who, it is understood, reported to Brussels. The nature of these negotiations was not disclosed.

Chamberlain Reports to King.

In London the Belgian-Dutch peace offer sent Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain hurrying to Buckingham palace to discuss the sudden twist of the war situation with King George VI. of Great Britain. At the same time, British cabinet ministers gave urgent consideration to the offer.

The war cabinet is reported to have met as soon as the news reached Whitehall, and another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow to draft a reasoned reply. Chamberlain is expected to give the reply in a statement to the house of commons Thursday. British diplomatic sources said any peace plan will be considered entirely on its merits.

Emphasis was laid in London on the argument that the British-French policy already has been stated by government ministers in parliament. Chamberlain's reply to Hitler's peace overtures in September was recalled in the British press. The prime minister then said the British government's policy was: "To redeem Europe from the perpetual and recurring fear of German aggression and to enable the peoples of Europe to preserve their independence and liberties."

Halifax Makes Statement.

This policy was more or less reaffirmed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax in a radio broadcast tonight. Lord Halifax, perhaps with Leopold's and Wilhelmina's move in mind, said:

"As the prime minister stated, we seek no vindictive peace, we have no territorial ambitions for ourselves, and should feel the future would hold little hope unless the new peace settlement might be reached thru the method of negotiation and agreement.

"When the challenge in the sphere of international relations is sharpened, as today in Germany, by the denial to men and women of elementary human rights, that challenge is at once extended to something instinctive and profound in the universal conscience of mankind.

"We are, therefore, fighting to

No Blitzkrieg, I Am Humane! Goering Says

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Nazi air minister, told THE TRIBUNE today that he had refrained from launching a blitzkrieg [lightning war] against England because he is a humane person.

The man who has been designated Adolf Hitler's successor made this statement at a reception given by Alexander A. Schkwarzev, the new Russian ambassador, in honor of the presentation of the envoy's credentials to the Fuehrer and the 22d anniversary of the bolshevist revolution.

Somebody in the audience laughed as Goering uttered the words: "I am humane."

Scoffs at Enemy Claims.

Referring to raids on British craft by German flyers, the field marshal said: "We attacked mostly warships because they are of strategic importance and they furnish good practice."

When Goering was asked about British and French reports of German airplane losses he replied: "Of course we lose a plane or two now and then. If they are shooting down as many as they claim they are, all I can say is that they are not shooting down our aircraft."

The field marshal implied that repeal of the American arms embargo does not worry him. He said he did not believe that America has enough planes ready to ship to Europe nor a sufficiently strong aviation industry capable of working quickly.

Goering Discredits Reports.

Goering discredited reports that 8,000 American planes will be shipped to England and France in the near future.

"To start with, it is impossible to build 8,000 planes quickly," he said. "In the second place, even if the planes were ready they would be on the other side of the ocean. That does not mean they are over here yet."

It was suggested that 800 planes were ready at American docks for shipment.

"That might be nice for others," the air minister said. "It's something, but it is not enough."

A lone pedestrian veered uncertainly toward the door of the Hammond, Ind., police station late yesterday afternoon. Two motorcycle policemen, Perry Orr and Harvey Hill, were lounging at the entrance.

"Tell me, am I drunk?" inquired the uncertain one.

"You are," the policemen returned positively.

"Is it true what they say about my drinking?" he asked Desk Sergeant Harold Petrie.

"It certainly is," affirmed Sergt. Petrie. "And just to prove it I'll lock you up for the night." The man who talked his way into jail said he was Hunter Imes, 35 years old, of 4744 Pine avenue, Hammond, Ind.

2 QUART MILK CARTONS TO CUT N. Y. PRICE 3 CTS.

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—The Sheffield Farms and Borden companies announced today that they will start a revolutionary method of milk distribution next Monday in Brooklyn which will mean a saving of approximately 10 per cent in the milk bill of every family. The plan will be extended to all New York boroughs as quickly as possible.

Under the new plan milk will be distributed in two quart sterile cardboard containers. This will result in a 3 cent saving for each two quart container, or a cent and a half a quart on all grades, based on tomorrow's rates, the highest since 1931.

Consumers who buy the quart containers will be paying 15 cents for grade B, most widely used here, and 18 cents for grade A milk, a rise of one-fourth cent over today's price. But if they buy the two quart container, grade B will cost them 13½ cents and grade A 16½ cents a quart.

Grand Jurors Impaneled for Manteno Quiz

Roy Taylor, former mayor of Kankakee, was among 17 men and 6 women selected yesterday to serve as a special grand jury for Kankakee county to investigate the typhoid fever epidemic which caused 53 deaths at the Manteno state hospital for the insane. Walter Bratton, brother of Circuit Judge Luther Bratton, and Charles Entwhistle, Kankakee city plumbing inspector, also are members of the jury.

State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro petitioned Judge Bratton to impanel the grand jury. Sheriff Daniel E. Bergen summoned the men and women of the panel. Mr. Entwhistle's knowledge of sewage disposal problems and precautions was expected to be of great help to the jury because the epidemic resulted from the pollution of wells by sewage.

Jury to Meet Monday.

The jury is to meet next Monday. Prosecutor Shapiro said he expects it to hear witnesses for several days before a vote is taken on indictments. The prosecutor had announced his intention of recommending action against A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare; Dr. Ralph H. Hinton, recently suspended as managing officer of the hospital, and possibly against Dr. A. C. Baxter, state director of the department of health.

Woman Is Questioned.

The prosecutor also said conditions in the department of Mrs. Lillian Williams, hospital dietitian, would be investigated. He said numerous complaints had been made that poorly prepared food had been served to the patients and that highly insanitary conditions prevailed in the kitchens.

Yesterday Prosecutor Shapiro summoned Mrs. Williams to his office for questioning. He did not reveal the results of the interview, but it was understood her story tended to corroborate some of the reports he had received.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 [Special].—Republicans strengthened their control of Pennsylvania today with the party's candidates winning a state judicial contest, carrying the hard fought election for mayor of Philadelphia and walking back into many county offices held by Democrats.

Former Judge Robert E. Lamberton, Republican nominee, captured the Philadelphia mayor's office, defeating City Controler Robert White, who ran on a Democratic fusion ticket, by 30,499 votes. Complete unofficial returns from the city's 1,300 election districts give: Lamberton, 390,488; White, 359,989.

Democrats Concede Defeat.

Democratic City Chairman John B. Kelly conceded the victory to Lamberton at 11 o'clock tonight. The people, he said, had "willed they want to continue with the present administration." Kelly pledged his support to any honest effort to help Philadelphia. The Republican party has held the mayor's office for 55 years.

In a state-wide election to fill a vacancy on the Pennsylvania Supreme court Common Pleas Judge Marion D. Patterson, Republican nominee, won a sweeping victory over his Democratic opponent, Herbert F. Goodrich, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school. The vote was: Patterson, 1,191,539; Goodrich, 929,496.

Upset Democratic Citadels.

Three Republican nominees for seats on the Superior court also appeared to have won by comfortable margins in a state-wide contest. They were Judge William H. Keller, named by both Republicans and Democrats, and Judges Thomas J. Baldridge and William E. Hirt, incumbents seeking reëlection over two Democratic contenders.

This judicial slate was carrying hard coal regions such as Luzerne and Lackawanna counties which had been built into Democratic citadels during the recent Democratic administration of Gov. George H. Earle. Last November Lackawanna was one of the six out of 67 counties in the state which Gov. Arthur H. James failed to carry in his sweeping victory.

In this Republican trend political

California Scheme Loses 2 to 1; Big Ballot Cast.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—California citizens crushed the "ham and eggs" pension movement at the polls today.

A count of nearly three-fourths of the ballots cast in the special election indicated its defeat by 2 to 1. The vote in 8,355 out of 11,165 precincts was 504,286 for and 1,008,282 against. Voting of near record breaking proportions marked the interest aroused in the pension plan.

One of the proposal's promoters, Will H. Kindig, conceded its defeat, but hinted his organization would seek to retaliate. He said the people of California were "incensed over the attitude" of Gov. Culbert L. Olson, who fought the plan.

Willis Allen and Roy G. Jones, active leaders in behalf of the plan, jointly announced that they would start petitions for the recall of Gov. Olson at once.

"Olson, who was elected by ham and eggers, has repudiated the people," they said.

Gov. Olson Gratified.

Gov. Olson, expressing gratification over the outcome, meanwhile indicated he was planning improvement of the state's social security program. He said the outcome would help his administration plan the employment of "all persons willing and able to work at useful and productive employment." The administration is formulating a "production for need" program for the unemployed.

State Senator Robert W. Kenny, head of the southern California organization against the plan, said the federal government would have to expand its social security program.

"In defeating ham and eggs," he said, "we have not at all solved the general problem. When Gov. Olson reconvenes the California legislature in January I am looking forward to the promised constructive suggestions from him toward meeting the problem of poverty in the midst of plenty."

Bankruptcy and Dictatorship.

The "ham and egg" plan was a pension scheme to pay $30 every Thursday to persons over 50 years old who have retired from active work. The scheme, in the form of a constitutional amendment, would be financed with script on which users would have to add a 2 cent stamp each week to make it valid.

Foes of the plan campaigned on the issue that such a scheme would bankrupt the state and set up a dictatorship.

Also far behind in today's special election was a proposal for state control of oil production, backed by President Roosevelt, former President Herbert Hoover, and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

San Francisco reëlected Angelo J. Rossi for a third four year term over a field of seven.

PENSION LOSES IN OHIO

Cleveland, O., Nov. 7 (AP).—Ohio today emphatically rejected the Bigelow plan to extend old age pension rolls to citizens between the ages of 60 and 65 and to liberalize payments. For every voter who favored the program there were three who opposed it.

Returns from 8,030 of the state's 8,589 precincts gave 418,078 votes for the Bigelow pension amendment, and 1,393,615 against.

The issue brought out the greatest off-year vote in the state's history. The result was said by observers to be the worst defeat of its kind ever recorded in the Buckeye state.

Herbert S. Bigelow, white haired author of the proposal to tax land and incomes to guarantee $40 or $50 a month to every retired citizen over 60, conceded defeat.

"It looks as if we are snowed under," he said, sitting in his loft office in an old Cincinnati lodge building.

Plans "More for Poor."

"There has been bitter misunderstanding about the proposed tax for the pension proposal and this could be cleared up by clarifying the wording," Bigelow said. "The sentiment of the people will not accept this defeat and there will be no fundamental change in the proposal."

Christ Williams, Bigelow manager for 29 northern Ohio counties, said: "The Bigelow amendment will be presented for 1940 with airtight constitutional provisions. Furthermore, in all probability an even greater tax on the rich will be enforced for the protection of the poor."

Opponents had fought the plan as $16,000,000 to $310,000,000 a year. Pensions averaging $23 monthly now are paid needy persons over 65.

To foot the bill Bigelow proposed a 2 per cent tax on land worth more than $20,000 an acre. He denied opponents' contentions that because courts consider land to include improvements, the plan would tax small home owners.

A second proposal which Bigelow sought to write into Ohio's constitution also was defeated. This would have reduced the requirements for popular initiation of constitutional amendments and legislation.

RETURNS REVEAL DEMOCRATIC RIFT IN VIRGINIA VOTE

Richmond, Va., Nov. 7 (AP).—Democratic nominees for the general assembly piled up heavy majorities in most sections of Virginia today, except in the southwest, where Republicans and independents were locked in close races.

Early returns showed Democratic candidates for the senate victorious in at least three of the seven districts in which there were Democratic-Republican contests.

Rivalry between Democratic factions headed by United States Senator Harry F. Byrd, conservative, and Gov. James H. Price, who has New Deal leanings, cropped out in the Buchanan-Russell-Tazewell senatorial contest between Senator Jack W. Witten, running as an independent, and Harry C. Stuart, the Democratic nominee.

Witten, who is friendly to the governor, held a substantial lead in the early returns over Stuart, a stalwart in the Byrd faction, but Stuart's home section remained to be heard from while returns from much of Witten's strongest territory was in.

More than 1,300 offices were filled in the election, including all 140 places in the general assembly and county offices. There were contests in only eight of the 35 senatorial districts and 23 of the 85 house districts.

G. O. P. RETAINS ASSEMBLY EDGE IN NEW JERSEY

Newark, N. J., Nov. 7 (AP).—Continued Republican control of New Jersey's legislature was virtually assured for 1940 tonight when incomplete returns in today's general election indicated the party retained its majority in the 60-member general assembly. Republicans also held topheavy leads in three of six contests for state senate seats, but even if Democrats should win all six, Republican dominance of the upper house would not be upset.

In the fight for the 12 assembly places in populous Essex county, usually the key to assembly control, the Republican "clean government" forces built up a lead of 75,113 to 49,855, with 533 of 576 districts tallied.

DETROIT MAYOR, TRAILING IN VOTE, ACCEPTS DEFEAT

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP).—Mayor Richard W. Reading, with returns of today's vote steadily piling up against him, tonight conceded the mayoralty election to his opponent, Edward J. Jeffries, president of the common council.

The returns from 900 of the city's 961 precincts gave Jeffries 208,112 votes and Reading 100,322 in the nonpartisan municipal election.

Tabulation of the city's heavy vote was slower on other contests, but returns from 400 precincts showed Charles E. [Gus] Dorais, athletic director of the University of Detroit, near the lead in a field of 18 nominees for nine council positions.

Mississippi Vote Interest Centers on 2 Amendments

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 7 (AP).—Mississippi voters today formally elected Paul B. Johnson of Hattiesburg as governor. Johnson won the Democratic nomination, tantamount to election, in the second primary this summer. He defeated the former governor, Martin Sennet Conner. Interest today centered on two proposed constitutional amendments. They would modify state laws to allow last wills and testaments, with restrictions, to be drawn in favor of church-related institutions, such as orphanages.

Cleveland Elects Burton for Third Term as Mayor

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8, Wednesday (AP).—Cleveland elected Harold H. Burton to his third consecutive two year term as mayor, returns from more than half the city showed early today. In 575 of 921 precincts Burton had 92,579 and John E. O'Donnell, another Republican, 64,361. They were nominated in a nonpartisan primary.

Bridgeport Picks Socialist Mayor for His 4th Term

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 7 [Special]. —Jasper McLevy, New England's only Socialist mayor, was reëlected for his fourth successive two year term at today's city election. The vote was: McLevy, 23,106; Stephen F. Boucher [D.], 10,639; Daniel E. Johnson [R.], 5,868.

JOHNSON VICTOR IN KENTUCKY'S GOVERNOR RACE

Piles Up Big Lead Over G. O. P. Opponent.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8, Wednesday (AP).—Gov. Keen Johnson, on the basis of unofficial returns from more than a third of the state's 4,347 precincts in yesterday's general election, early today apparently had won Kentucky's governorship.

Reports from 1,812 precincts gave Johnson, lieutenant governor under former Gov. [now United States senator] A. B. [Happy] Chandler, 215,544 votes to 132,285 for his Republican opponent, Circuit Judge King Swope of Lexington, making his second bid for the office.

The Louisville Courier-Journal last night conceded Johnson's election and predicted his majority would be "50,000 or better." Altho the incumbent's majority now is 78,000, many strong Republican districts, believed to have favored Swope, had not reported.

G. O. P. Reports Gains.

Republican leaders said they had made big gains in Jefferson county [Louisville], and returns from the first 40 precincts out of 622 in the district showed Swope leading Johnson, 3,715 to 3,151.

In victory Gov. Johnson becomes the second person to succeed himself and the third lieutenant governor to be elevated to the office of chief executive in the Blue Grass state's history. Johnson, a Richmond publisher, became governor when Chandler resigned Oct. 9 and was appointed to the senate by Johnson to succeed the late M. M. Logan.

Senators Alben W. Barkley and A. B. Chandler headed the final drive of oratory, concluding last night with an hour's rally of the state's Democratic leaders who pleaded with voters for an overwhelming victory over the Republicans.

Asked to Vote Straight.

They asked the Democratic adherents to vote the straight ticket, saying the vote was of national and world importance.

In addition to electing a governor, the Kentucky electorate also selected a lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, auditor, commissioner of agriculture, a full complement of 100 members of the state house of representatives, 18 state senators, three railroad commissioners, circuit judges, and commonwealth attorneys.

Speed Champ Loses First Political Race for Mayor

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 7 (AP).—David Abbot [Ab] Jenkins, holder of a dozen world's automobile speed records, appeared tonight to have lost his first political race—a contest for the Salt Lake City mayoralty, but it was a photo finish. Complete but unofficial returns from the city's 149 districts gave Jenkins 20,422 votes to 20,472 for Herbert A. Snow, his business man rival. The election was nonpartisan.

TAMMANY WINS NEW YORK CITY; G. O. P. IN STATE

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—Tammany Hall staged a comeback in the metropolitan areas today as voters went to the polls all over New York state. Elsewhere Republican candidates fared better than usual in the off-year elections.

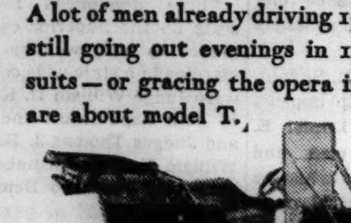
Tammany in Manhattan—and the Democratic organizations in the other four boroughs—made a clean sweep of it, electing every candidate except those for the city council. Included were nine Supreme court justices, three city court justices, register, sheriff, state senator, and two assemblymen in Brooklyn, and sheriff in Richmond [Staten Island].

In the state's only congressional contest Edwin Arthur Hall, Republican, defeated John V. Johnson, Democrat and American Labor party, in the normally Republican 34th district, in the Binghamton area, to succeed the late Representative Bert Lord, Republican.

Irving Lehman, senior associate judge of the Court of Appeals and brother of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, was elected chief judge of the state's highest court without opposition. A Democrat, he was nominated by his own, the Republican, and the American Labor parties.

Early returns on 50 mayoral contests disclosed that in Poughkeepsie, largest city in President Roosevelt's home county of Dutchess, a Republican defeated the present Democratic mayor.

A lot of men already driving 1940 cars are still going out evenings in 1931 dinner suits—or gracing the opera in tails that are about model T.



Perhaps it's mistaken economy—or a failure to realize that clothes, too, look their age—but whatever the reason, it isn't good business. Besides modern dress clothes, just like modern cars, are so much more comfortable than those of yesteryear that any man will be more than compensated for their cost in the pleasure they'll bring him.

So if you haven't renewed your evening clothes lately, why not take a few minutes today to let us show you how well you could look—and feel—in the kind you really ought to have.

17 DOWNSTATE COUNTIES ELECT COMMISSIONERS

G. O. P. Wins in 10 Races; Democrats Get 7.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Voters in each of 17 downstate Illinois counties with the commission form of government elected a county commissioner today. The contests were for the posts of nine Republicans and eight Democrats. Returns tonight showed victories for 10 Republicans and 7 Democrats. The results by counties follow:

RANDOLPH—W. J. Burnes [R.] defeated A. E. Taylor [D.], by a vote of 6,352 to 5,955, to give the Republicans control of the board for the first time in about 10 years.

WILLIAMSON—Harry Goddard [D.] defeated Hubert Rushing [R.], 10,218 to 8,838 votes, to retain the Democratic complexion of the board.

WABASH—J. L. Litherland [D.], incumbent, was elected over Clifton J. Wood [R.] by a close margin of 1,870 to 1,833 votes to retain the Democratic complexion of the board.

CALHOUN—Ed Borrowman [D.] was reëlected over R. E. Sidwell [R.]. In a special county treasurer election Mrs. Della Sutter [R.] was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband last February. She defeated former Sheriff E. C. Baker [D.] by a wide margin.

MENARD—Howard Horn [D.] defeated Harmon G. Miller [R.], incumbent, giving the Democrats all three seats. Unofficial figures gave Horn 1,280 votes to 1,118 for Miller.

MORGAN—C. P. Hedrick [R.] defeated Erwin C. Aufdenkamp [R.], incumbent, giving full Democratic control to the board. The unofficial vote was 5,792 to 5,155.

SCOTT—Harry Northrup [D.] defeated Arthur Walk [R.] and Morris Daniels [Independent]. The vote: Northrup, 1,432; Walk, 829; Daniels, 214. The board remained as prevoiusly, all Democratic.

MAYORALTY WON IN PHILADELPHIA BY REPUBLICANS

State Strength Also Is Increased.

G. O. P. Shows Gains.

Outside of Philadelphia on either slope of the Alleghenies the Republicans had expected to register gains, but here in the city the mayoralty result was in doubt. James, a popular candidate, had bucked the swarming army of federal and state jobholders in the city last fall and carried it by only 9,600 votes.

It was here in Philadelphia that the Democrats centered their attempt to drive a wedge for a return to power. They failed, however, to dent the Republican line, which has held the city hall for 55 years. Along with Judge Lamberton, the G. O. P. slate for district attorney, sheriff, recorder of deeds, receiver of taxes, clerk of the courts, as well as the county commissioners was victorious.

On the surface the time was ripe for a reform ticket. The Democrats formed a league with the Fusionists who included independent Republicans seeking a city charter with the manager type of municipal government and the proportional voting system.

Campaign on City Costs.

Then the Democratic-Fusion nominees hammered away at the need for house cleaning the city hall, pointing out that Philadelphia had the largest per capita debt in the country, that the present city hall administration had pawned the gas works and was threatening to pawn the city water works to pay off mounting deficits.

In return the Republicans reminded the voters of the scandals and waste of the Earle administration in the state, the indictment of 12 prominent Democratic leaders and Gov. James' record for economy and business revival.

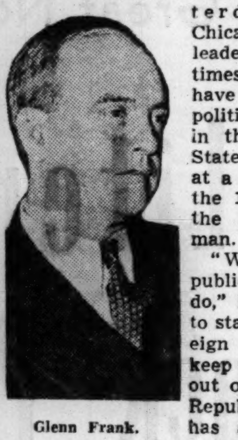
DEFINES G. O. P. STAND AS: KEEP US OUT OF WAR

Glenn Frank Says Party Has Date with Destiny.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican program committee, yesterday warned Chicago G. O. P. leaders that war times in Europe have changed the political situation in the United States. He spoke at a luncheon of the 1940 club in the Hotel Sherman.



Glenn Frank.

"What the Republicans must do," he said, "is to stand for a foreign policy to keep this country out of war. The Republican party has an appointment with destiny, and it's not a blind date. But it could conceivably be missed thru two evil geniuses—complacency and opportunism."

What Returns Did Not Show.

Dr. Frank analyzed the reasons behind Republican gains in the November, 1938, election. But first he explained what the election results did not show.

"There are Republicans," he said, "who think that last Nov. 8 signalized an irresistible swing back of the pendulum, that the stars in their courses will be fighting for the Republican party from now on, and that all the party needs to do is to sit tight and play the breaks. This is the complacency school of party thought."

The party has another evil genius, opportunism, Dr. Frank declared. That kind of thinking, he said, leads to "hysterical attempts to outpromise the New Deal, a blind fling at the old game of wetting a thumb, holding it up to see which way the wind is blowing, and then galloping furiously off in that direction."

What the Returns Showed.

The program chairman then gave his views on what was proved in November, 1938. Those elections, he said:

1. Showed that millions of people have recovered belief in fundamental principles of self-government and economic common sense.

2. Smashed the legend that the subsidized voter is unbeatable; proved that people will shoot Santa Claus the night before Christmas if they discover that on previous visits he has raided the pantry and left them to foot the bill for all the gifts he has bestowed.

3. Were most decisive where the New Deal was taken head on, its fallacies made an issue, not where candidates were apologetically Republican, promising to do everything President Roosevelt is doing and more.

4. Showed that issues are taking on a new importance, that principles bulk larger than engaging personalities in 1940.

5. Reflected a rising rural revolt against the more futile and dangerous drifts of the New Deal.

Moore Discusses Vote Frauds.

Edward F. Moore, Republican county chairman, also addressed the club. He declared party organizations should not be forced to bear all the responsibility for dishonest precinct clerks and judges of election.

"It should be borne in mind," Moore said, "that the board of election commissioners has the power to reject all precinct judges and clerks of election. The board has the sole right to investigate as to the character and fitness of these officials.

"Our committee stands ready to coöperate with the board against election dishonesty. I feel that more than 90 per cent of the precinct officials are honest and sincere, just as I feel that 90 per cent of the men who recommend clerks and judges are honest and sincere.

Reply to Grand Jury.

"But when we see, in some precincts, that not one Republican vote is cast in an election, then we know that there are no real Republican officials in the precinct that day. You'll have honest elections when you have honest ward committeemen and precinct captains."

Moore's remarks were interpreted as a reply to last week's grand jury report which placed the entire responsibility for crooked precinct officials upon the party organizations.

LIBERTY PERILED BY WAR DICTATOR BILL, SAYS DEWEY

A warning that the Roosevelt administration is preparing a new war dictatorship bill to give the President unrestricted powers was given yesterday by Charles S. Dewey, chairman of the Illinois council of the United States Chamber of Commerce, assistant secretary of the treasury under Coolidge, and former financial adviser to Poland.

Charles S. Dewey.

Mr. Dewey spoke before 1,000 delegates of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America, which is holding is 18th annual convention in the Palmer House.

Dewey said that the new dictator bill has been prepared by Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] and contains all the dangerous features of the world war emergency acts and the May bill of last year, which was defeated after having been denounced as a blueprint for American fascism.

Sweeping Powers Described.

Dewey said he had read a copy of May's new proposal, which would set up a war resources administration, and that it:

1. Provided that the President preside over the war resources administration and that its director—who would not be subject to senate confirmation—be responsible to the President alone.

2. Prepared for the creation of an emergency agency to coördinate the performance of all of the nation's economic functions.

3. Prepared for the organization of such other administrations for the coördination of various phases of national economy "as are required by circumstances."

French Dictatorship Told.

How such a measure is affecting France was told in detail by Dewey, who was in that country on his way to Poland in September when the European war began.

"One of the first acts under the dictatorial powers of the premier, Edouard Daladier, was the taking over of all industries by the government," Dewey said. "There had been a stern fight by labor three years before to reduce the maximum working time to 40 hours a week. The premier immediately set this back to 60 hours.

"I mention that to you executives to remind you that when a dictatorship comes it touches all. No longer will the laboring man be able to express his wishes by collective bargaining. No longer will the manufacturer be able to say what he wishes to manufacture.

Peril to Liberty Cited.

"In case of war we would all be willing to submerge our wishes to the common good. But there is no emergency imminent, nor is one likely to come. Let us beware of laws that would form a dictatorship when none is required.

"There is a trend in this country toward national socialism—call it by whatever name you will. It is a trend toward the totalitarian state, toward the taking over of powers that belong to the people."

If the United States should submit to a war emergency dictatorship, private industry probably would lose its freedom forever, the delegates were told at their annual dinner last night by Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, Mich., national commander of the American Legion.

"Undoubtedly, in such an emergency, the first to be taken over by the government would be the transportation agencies," said Kelly. "The lesson of 1917-'18 still is fresh in our minds. It is my thought that at the end of such a conflict not only the transportation group but many other private enterprises would find it practically impossible to return to the field of private operation.

Lost Freedom Hard to Regain.

"We must never forget that a recourse to armed conflict to aid democracy in the world as a whole would endanger and could easily lose the liberties we hold as a free people. Under the stress of war individual freedom of economic action, once abrogated to those in control, is not easily regained when the period of emergency is over."

At the afternoon session officers were elected for the ensuing year. They are C. S. Musgrave of Bartlesville, Okla., vice president of the Phillips Petroleum company, president; F. A. Doebber of Indianapolis, Ind., executive vice president; J. E. Paulan of Chicago, assistant traffic manager of the Acme Steel company, secretary, and W. T. Vandenburgh of Louisville, Ky., reëlected treasurer. Musgrave succeeds W. F. Schulten of Chicago. J. M. Fitsgerald of New York was reëlected chairman of the board.

The convention will end this afternoon.

GOODSPEED, BLACKETT CONFER TODAY ON 1940 FUND RAISING DISPUTE

Charles B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the Republican national committee, and Hill Blackett, G. O. P. national committeeman for Illinois, will attempt to compose their differences over party fund raising for the 1940 campaign today.

John Hamilton, national chairman, was to have attended the conference at the Chicago club, but telephoned that his doctor had ordered him to remain in Washington for treatment of a sore arm. He is expected to send a message, which may be delivered by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin. Dirksen will be accompanied by Congressman J. William Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the congressional campaign committee.

Goodspeed is expected to say at the conference that the national committee will continue to collect for its own work and for senatorial and congressional candidates. This clashes with Blackett's plan to make a single solicitation for all purposes and apportion it on a percentage basis.

Royal S. Copeland Jr. Loses in First Bid for Public Office

Suffern, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—Royal S. Copeland, son of the late United States senator from New York, was defeated today in his first venture in politics. A Democratic candidate for the post of supervisor of Ramapo, he polled 2,592 votes to 4,507 for the Republican incumbent, Pincus Margulies.

ACT TO PREVENT DICTATORSHIP IF WAR HITS NATION

Scores of organizations which advocated the principle of embargo on arms and munitions for warring nations in the recently defeated neutrality act now are wondering how long they can continue to work to keep the country out of Europe's war without being adjudged guilty of seditious acts.

Many leaders of agencies set up to keep America out of the war assert that wheels now are turning dismally toward that end despite the fact that they admit the country still is dead set against taking the United States into Europe's conflict.

The first Chicago meeting to try to forestall the process leading toward war dictatorship in America will be held tonight in Jefferson Park Congregational church. Prof. Henry Nelson Wieman of the University of Chicago divinity school and Prof. George Axtell of Northwestern university will be the speakers.

BELGIAN, DUTCH TRADE HARD HIT BY SEA BLOCKADE

Economic Distress Lies Behind Peace Plea.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 7.—Belgium and The Netherlands, whose governments today made a plea for early peace in Europe, have been hard hit economically by the British-French blockade of their ports.

Belgium's seaborne trade has been reduced by war and blockade to one-fourth of its normal volume. The captain of the port of Antwerp, the most important shipping point on the continent, has reported that average weekly sailings have dropped from 240 to 64, and tonnage in the same proportion. Inland canals are carrying only 42 per cent of their usual traffic.

The loss of foreign trade has brought unemployment and necessitated a billion and a half dollars of emergency governmental costs. Two hundred thousand Belgians are on relief. Arthur Wauters, minister of information, said recently that continuation of the blockade would soon force the government to ration food.

Netherlands' Exports Slump.

Figures given out by the league of nations showed The Netherlands' exports dropped 27 per cent in September from the previous month. Observers said a greater drop was apparent in October and that even more severe restrictions might be expected if the war takes a more active course.

Belgian newspapers have protested against the blockade rules placed in effect by the British. La Libre Belgique declared that the keeping of foodstuffs from Belgians was illegal and had "deplorable reactions on public opinion." La Nation Belge asserted that no power has authority to tell Belgians that they must "directly or indirectly support the cause of either of the belligerents." This was proclaimed after Robert Hibbert Cross, British minister of war economy, was quoted as saying neutrals should stand inconvenience as a "minimum contribution to the cause of democracy."

"Britain Has Us by Throat."

"Britain has us by the throat," said Le Pays Reel, "to make us realize that sooner or later we must rally to its cause if we do not desire to perish."

Such criticisms and the plea that the neutrals are being paralyzed economically have been ignored by the British. They have established contraband control services at Kirkwall in the Orkney Islands, the Downs on the North sea and Weymouth on the channel, and many ships destined for neutral ports are taken there for search. If declared contraband, their cargoes are seized and sold.

Germany has been none too sympathetic to the neutrals, holding that they should protest forcibly, rather than steam their ships into the Downs for inspection.

One factor that presumably kept the blockade severe was the large increase in exports from the United States to neutrals after the war started. Of these neutrals, The Netherlands in September bought $9,916,000 of American goods, against $6,663,000 in September, 1938, and Belgium $5,554,000 against $4,467,000. It has been suggested that some of the extra purchases were to be run into German ports by the neutrals.

SUBS OF WARRING NATIONS BARRED IN PANAMA PORTS

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Nov. 7 (AP)—Submarines of belligerent nations were prohibited from entering Panamanian waters, ports, havens or anchorages except in cases of emergency, in a government decree issued today.

The measure was aimed to prevent violation of Panama's neutrality or of rendering invalid the "effects of the Panama declaration relative to the continental maritime security zone."

Panama on Sept. 11 prohibited ships of belligerent powers from "shuttling" between the Canal Zone and Panamanian waters. This meant that a belligerent merchantman which already had spent the three months permitted by international law in a Canal Zone port could not then move to Panamanian waters for a similar period of refuge.

maintain the rule of law and the quality of mercy in dealings between man and man and in the great society of civilized states."

In France, the Belgian-Dutch offer was presented to the public as being the result of a German threat to violate the neutrality of the two countries.

If the editorial comment in the controled French press is any guide, a polite and sympathetic but definite "no" will be the French response.

Hear Nazis Plan Attack.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Nov. 7 (AP).—Informed sources here tonight hinted that King Leopold's nighttime dash by automobile from Brussels to The Hague for hurried conferences with Queen Wilhelmina and their subsequent offer to help find a way to peace was prompted by information that Germany was about to gamble on an attack against France's Maginot line. Military experts agree such an offensive would cost thousands of lives.

Queen Wilhelmina was said to have been told of her impending consultations with Leopold only three hours before the Belgian monarch reached The Hague last night. After several secret conferences in Noordeinde palace, their mediation offer was made in telegrams sent to the heads of Germany, Great Britain, and France.

The mediation offer was the second by the king and queen. Three days before Germany invaded Poland on Sept. 1 the sovereigns offered their offices to mediate the growing crisis in Europe. The offer was accepted by Poland, Britain, France, and Germany, but there were no further developments after the Nazis started their Polish campaign.

But tonight, on King Leopold's prompting, the two sovereigns, in their own words, decided in this "hour of anxious tension for the world" to "make their voices heard again."

Recall Promises of Powers.

"The belligerents declared some time ago that they are not standing obstinately against examination of a reasonable and fixed basis for a reasonable peace," the king and queen declared in telegrams to King George VI. of Great Britain, President Albert Lebrun of France, and Fuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany.

"We consider that in the actual circumstances it is difficult for the belligerents to seek contact with one another, and as the sovereigns of two neutral states which have good relations with all their neighbors, we are willing to offer our good offices.

"In case they are accepted, we are willing to use all means which the belligerents give us and which we possess to find, in the spirit of friendly understanding, factors to facilitate an agreement. This appears to be our task for the welfare of our peoples and for the whole world.

"We hope our offer will be accepted and that in this way the first step will be taken toward permanent peace."

INSIST NO THREAT MADE

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 7.—Speculation centered here tonight on the real reason for the action of King Leopold of the Belgians and Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands in offering to mediate a European peace

Despite the hurried decision made by Leopold at 7 p. m. yesterday to make a night drive to The Hague to see the Dutch queen, The Netherlands government declared:

"This was due to no immediate menace, but was the result of conversations carried on with the queen since Saturday."

The trip, however, was made in complete secrecy and spokesmen for the press did not mention the king's presence in The Hague until this afternoon.

The Tribune correspondent was unofficially informed that the manner in which the decision was taken was part of the showmanship to sell the peace idea to the world. The hurried trip to The Hague, it was admitted, was to prevent the possibility that the plan might leak out too soon and that pressure to modify, nullify or prevent it might be exercised and also to prevent criticism in the press from defeating the purpose of the appeal.

Some believe that the sovereigns were confidentially informed that a peace effort might be welcomed by the empires, especially France. Stress was laid on the fact that the telegram was sent to King George VI. and not to the British government. The argument was advanced that if the war is unpopular in England, the king might be able to do something about it.

President Seeks Delay for Investigation.

sounded and found favorable. Authors of the plan had received assurance that there would be no objection at the White House.

The only uncertainty was "Old Man" Hull. So the maritime commission got Mr. Hull on the telephone and made a vague inquiry as to whether the transfer of American ships to foreign registry involves any question of foreign policy. Mr. Hull replied in the negative and the commission thanked him and hung up.

Calls Scheme Evasion.

When Mr. Hull learned today the full implications of the inquiry addressed to him he was furious. He rang up the maritime commission and gave that body a piece of his mind. He wanted it distinctly understood that he does not approve of the transfer of the ships to the Panama flag.

He called the scheme an "evasion of the spirit, if not the actual letter of the neutrality act." He added that he is deeply interested in "preserving the full integrity of the neutrality law and the proclamations establishing the combat areas."

That gave the commission pause. The commissioners went into a huddle, in fact several huddles during the day and had not decided at a late hour tonight what to do.

Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the commission, declined to comment on Hull's statement. Another commission official intimated that it was none of the state department's business, that it was a question for the attorney general. He admitted, however, that the attorney general was not being consulted.

Denies Evasion Attempt.

President John M. Franklin of the United States Lines denied that in seeking to transfer registry of eight vessels to Panama it was attempting to evade the letter or spirit of the neutrality law. He was in Washington seeking favorable action on the flag transfer proposal.

"This is not a subterfuge," Franklin said. "We are motivated solely by our desire to continue to serve American shippers. We want to stay in business."

He declared that he was not concerned over opposition to the proposed transfer by Secretary Hull and other government officials. "I'm dealing only with the United States maritime commission," he said emphatically. "Our application is made and I hope it's granted."

Franklin said that discontinuation of the United States Lines North Atlantic service would jeopardize possibilities of operating new American flag tonnage which the company plans to place in service at the close of the war.

"The British are likely to get the business if America loses it," he added. "It's hard to make headway against the British in any line of trade."

Senators still in Washington were quick to criticize the plan.

Senators Are Aroused.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] said that if the transfer were made he would demand an investigation of the whole affair.

"No one would have dared propose it if congress were in session," he said.

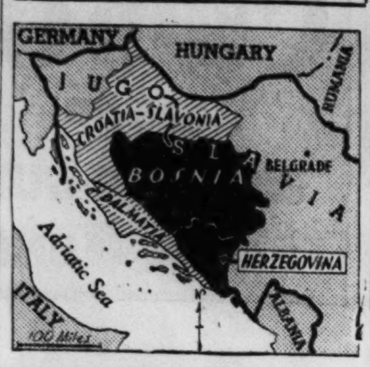
"It certainly would be in violation of the neutrality act in spirit at least," said Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.]. "We're on the road to war."

In Cincinnati, Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] called the scheme "outrageous and dangerous."

"If the idea is that Panama is only a dependency of the United States from whom the ships may be reclaimed by force if objection is raised, then the plan is a cowardly subterfuge to evade the cash and carry provisions of the neutrality act," Taft said in a statement.

Senator L. B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.] described the proposal as outrageous and said it was "an evasion of the intent of the neutrality act."

Autonomy Promised



Bosnia and Herzegovina are to be granted autonomy, according to an official of Jugo-Slavia.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 7.—Dr. Djafer Kulenovich, minister of mines and forests, announced tonight that Bosnia and Herzegovina will be granted autonomy, similar to that recently given to Croatia. He said the frontiers will be redrawn to correspond with those existing at the time of the Hapsburg empire.

LUCAS OPPOSES SHIP TRANSFERS TO DODGE LAW

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—United States Senator Scott Lucas, who voted to repeal the arms embargo, said today he opposed the transfer of American ships to foreign registry to circumvent the neutrality act.

"If the congress had any idea that this situation was going to arise, the law would have been written to prevent it," Lucas said. "I am in favor of legislation to subsidize American shipowners if necessary to prevent bankruptcy; it would be cheap insurance against war risks."

BRITISH SEE FAINT HOPE OF BREAKING INDIA DEADLOCK

Defend Use of Emergency Powers in Wartime.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Parliament's concern over the situation in India was shown today in questions brought up in both houses of parliament. The answers of government spokesmen indicated there was no hope of soon breaking the deadlock in the negotiations toward an agreement between the India Congress party and the All India Moslem league.

The marquess of Zetland, secretary of state for India, told the house of lords that use of emergency powers in various Indian provinces in no sense was a penal measure, but simply a provision for "carrying on the king's government."

Zetland said the Congress party refused to consider plans for associating Indians with the central government in the conduct of the European war unless the British government were willing to declare India an independent nation and unless it would raise no objection to its future form of government being determined by a constituent assembly chosen on the widest possible franchise.

Reject Congress Position.

Zetland said that the Congress party consistently maintained that the fact there were racial and religious minorities in India was irrelevant in that connection and they would protect the minorities. He said the British government "finds it impossible to accept this position."

Zetland went on to say the outstanding result of the recent discussions "have been to establish beyond a doubt the fact that a declaration in the sense proposed, with summary abandonment by the government of its position toward India, would be far from acceptable to a large section of the Indian population."

However, this did not mean that Britain had weakened in its determination to assist India to reach without avoidable delay "the position in the British commonwealth of nations to which we are pledged," he said.

Still Hopes for Conference.

In commons Wedgwood Benn, opposition Laborite, asked if it was intended "by further discussion with the Congress party to overcome the difficulties about the scope of the constitution of the constituent assembly at the end of the war."

The undersecretary for India said the viceroy would do all in his power to keep the door open and be glad to help either as regards such an assembly or conference.

Dispatches from Rangoon reported that the British government had given assurances it would continue to use its best endeavors to promote attainment by Burma of its due place in the British commonwealth of nations.

WARSHIPS FIGHT OFF ATTACK BY GERMAN PLANES

Polish Destroyers Help British Vessels.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—British warships, aided by two Polish destroyers, were reported to have fought off an attack by German aircraft today, while British planes engaged Nazis in a "number of air actions" over the North sea.

The admiralty, describing the air-naval battle, which also occurred in the North sea, said all warships escaped damage. The air ministry said all British planes returned safely from the encounter. It was not known whether there were any enemy casualties.

Flyers Escape into Clouds.

An air ministry communique telling of the air battles said an enemy plane approaching the Shetland Islands, north of Scotland, was driven off by antiaircraft fire and chased away by British planes.

"Several other enemy aircraft were sighted and two were engaged by royal air force patrols many miles out over the North sea," the communique said. "The enemy aircraft escaped into clouds and it is not known whether they were able to return home."

Naval circles said they believed the sea-air battle was the first time Polish ships had been in action against the Germans. Three Polish destroyers escaped from the Baltic after the Nazis bottled up the sea at the start of the war.

British Fly Over Germany.

The air ministry announced last night that new reconnaissance flights over western Germany had been carried out by British planes. One of the planes failed to return, the ministry said.

Naval circles speculated on the likelihood that the German pocket battleship Deutschland had slipped thru British patrols into a home port to provision and refuel.

These sources said the theory was supported by the fact that there has been no confirmed report of activities by the raider since she put a prize crew aboard the City of Flint in the North Atlantic Oc. 9.

Sight Battle in Sky.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 7 (AP).—Observers on the west coast of Jutland, northern Denmark, reported an offshore battle today between two unidentified bombers and a dozen fighting airplanes. They said the bombers disappeared into the fog followed by the fighters.

Dutch Fire on Planes.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 8, Wednesday (AP).—Heavy gunfire was heard early today in Amsterdam and at several other points as Netherlands antiaircraft batteries attempted to bring down unidentified planes.

Firing first was reported at Schipo airport, south of Amsterdam, then on the western outskirts of the city, and later northward in the direction of Haarlem.

This indicated the planes were flying in a northerly direction. The gunfire brought many residents to the streets in their night clothes, but no planes could be seen.

Capture Finnish Ship.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 7 (AP).—German sailors captured the 1,290 ton Finnish steamer Otava, carrying woodpulp, off Sundvall today and headed her for Germany after entering Swedish waters to ride out a storm.

British Seize Nazi Ship.

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, Nov. 7.—The German ship, Uhenfels, 7,600 tons, has been brought into Freetown as a prize. It was reported that the Uhenfels left East Africa last month, sailing around the Cape of Good Hope and eluding capture until she was north of the equator.

U-Boat Chases Liner.

Thomaston, Me., Nov. 7 (AP).—Mackay radio reported receipt today of a general wireless message from the British passenger liner Mataroa in mid-Atlantic which said the ship had been "chased by a submarine of unknown nationality." The submarine "disappeared or submerged," the message said.

The Mataroa reported her position as 25.24 north latitude, 53.22 west longitude, or about 750 miles southeast of Bermuda. Mackay said the Mataroa sent out the SSSS call, which was not a distress call, at 12:30 p. m. Chicago time.

U. S. LINE SEEKS BRITISH CREWS FOR SHIP SWITCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8 [Wednesday].—The United States Line took the first step this morning to recruit British crews to replace American seamen in eight ships which it proposes to transfer to Panama registry.

A United States Line ad in the morning papers reads: "Vacancies exist for deck officers, electricians, machinists, and chief stewards, all of British nationality, in vessels sailing between the British Isles, France, and the United States."

Applicants are advised to contact personally or in writing with the United States Line offices in London or the Atlantic Transport company in London for details on pay and conditions of employment.

The effort to circumvent the modified neutrality act has aroused keen interest here. The Daily Telegraph this morning reprints the help wanted ad on the front page and the paper's shipping correspondent suggests that it means that British seamen are preferred for posts on American ships which it is proposed be placed under the flag of the Panama Republic.

TELL HOW NINE FRENCH FLYERS WHIPPED 27 NAZIS

Credit American Planes with Victory.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The full extent of the French air victory yesterday in which nine French pursuit planes trapped 27 German raiders among the clouds over no man's land and brought down nine of them, according to the French general staff, became apparent this evening when details of the combat were received from the front.

Dramatic as the victory was, it has significance beyond the fact that France's air fighters showed superiority over the enemy. The planes that they were flying, all of which returned safely to their base, are American-built craft.

They are Curtiss single seater chasers. The French have apparently been using them sparingly, or not at all, for fear that the United States congress would refuse to revise the neutrality law and thus cut off their source of supply. Repeal of the arms embargo was the signal to wheel them out of the hangars, since more like them are coming.

27 Caught in Trap.

The fight began shortly after 5 o'clock when a patrol of 27 Messerschmitt planes was discovered heading from the Saar territory toward the Maginot line. Nine French planes, sent up to meet them, hid behind a cloud bank and waited.

When the enemy craft were over the region between Forbach and Saareguemines, on the northern flank of the west front, French poilus in the lines below saw the American built planes drop from the clouds and attack them.

The battle broke up quickly into separate combats. The Messerschmitts hardly had time to break formation and use their superior speed before one, its pilot riddled with machine gun bullets, crashed near the air base from which the French had taken off. A second and a third followed. The Germans, periled from below by French antiaircraft fire, banked their planes sharply and with throttles wide open headed back for the German bases.

Outspeeded in straight flying, the Curtisses showed their superior maneuverability as the French pilots climbed quickly and, diving once more, shot down four more of the Messerschmitts, the last as the Germans fled over the French advance positions.

Two Others Crash.

Two more of the Messerschmitts fell in flames just across the Saar river, one near Merzig and another among the blockhouses and machine gun nests of the west wall. The French flyers quit the chase and returned to France. Four of their machines were badly shot up by machine gun bullets, but all landed safely.

Of the seven German flyers who fell in France three had been killed. A fourth was picked up severely wounded and the three others, who landed alive, were captured.

Nazis Repulsed Near Forbach.

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP).—Military dispatches said tonight that in spite of German attacks in the Forbach sector, French detachments continued to hold and defend their outposts there.

The French communique tonight stated: "Local patrols and artillery activity at various points of the front."

[Early yesterday the German high command reported: "In the west there was no noteworthy fighting action except minor scouting by troops and weak artillery fire on both sides. In air fights yesterday one British airplane was shot down at Mainz and two French planes at Saarlautern (Saarlouis).]

MARITIME LABOR CONDITIONS FACE SENATE INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—A senate investigation of labor conditions thruout the American merchant marine may be one of the by-products of the current strike of longshoremen engaged in the coastwise shipping industry, Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] said today. Bailey is chairman of the senate commerce committee, as well as chairman of a special committee authorized nearly two years ago to make such an investigation. The senator said he has asked the 12 operating companies affected by the longshoremen's strike and Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, to answer a list of questions for the guidance of the special committee on the nature and causes of the strike.

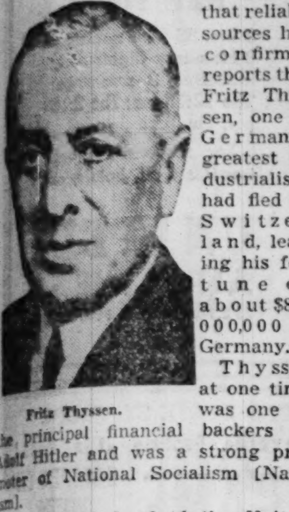
FRITZ THYSSEN, RUHR STEEL HEAD, FLEES GERMANY

Enters Switzerland; Had $80,000,000 Fortune.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Nov. 7.—The newspaper De Telegraaf said today that reliable sources had confirmed reports that Fritz Thyssen, one of Germany's greatest industrialists, had fled to Switzerland, leaving his fortune of about $80,000,000 in Germany.



Fritz Thyssen.

Thyssen at one time was one of the principal financial backers of Adolf Hitler and was a strong promoter of National Socialism [Nazi-ism].

Thyssen was head of the United Steel Works of Germany, head of the Thyssen industries which his father founded, and the foremost industrialist of the busy Ruhr valley.

Fought French in Ruhr.

Thyssen rose to eminence in the post world war period when he caused a stiffening of German opposition to the treaty of Versailles, the payment of reparations, and French occupation of the Ruhr district.

When French troops occupied the district in 1923, Thyssen closed mines of the German coal syndicate. He was fined and jailed, but won his release after four days' imprisonment and later arranged a compromise with the French.

Thyssen was a conservative and opposed the social democratic tendencies of the German republic. He watched Hitler's rise, then became one of his chief backers.

Fades Into Background.

When Hitler came to power in 1933, Thyssen was made a state counselor, took a place on the reich's economic board and became the chief economic authority in western Germany except for agriculture. In recent shakeups in the personnel and direction of the Nazi régime, Thyssen faded into the background and then into opposition.

The Thyssen industries employ about 65,000 workers and grew from a small plant at Mulheim. Fritz Thyssen is 66 years old. He addressed a gathering at Harvard university in 1924 and one at Columbia university in 1931.

FOUR ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN CARTRIDGE MILL

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP).—Four men were killed today in an explosion at a du Pont powder plant near Carl Junction, nine miles northwest of here. The dead were Bryan Hough, 42 years old; S. E. Weisler, 29; Raymond C. Allen, 32, and Clarence D. McCombs, 31. The explosion occurred in a cartridge house where the men were loading powder into paper cartridges.

Three Miners Drown.

Midland, Ark., Nov. 7 (AP).—Three coal miners drowned and one was missing today after working in the Rains Coal company mine near here flooded suddenly by water from an old working. Fifty other miners escaped from the shaft.

Miss Virgie Leatherwood, company bookkeeper, listed the dead as William McInness, Jake Lay and John Rona, all of near Hartford, Ark. C. Evans, of Midland, was missing.

ARGENTINA ASKS NAZIS TO EXPLAIN SEIZURE OF SHIP

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 7.—The Argentine government took preliminary steps today toward preparing a protest to Germany against the capture of a Latvian steamer bound from Riga to Buenos Aires.

The Latvian minister visited Foreign Minister José Marie Cantilo and informed him that German warships in the Baltic had captured and taken to Stettin the Latvian ship Arija.

The vessel left Riga on Oct. 20. Her crew were held incommunicado until yesterday. The Latvian government asked Argentina to join Latvia in requesting the vessel's release. The Arija was carrying 1,500 tons of seed potatoes and 2,500 tons of lumber, neither of which was listed as contraband. Cantilo instructed the Argentine embassy in Berlin to ask the German government for an explanation.

Britain Abolishes Death Penalty for Cowardice

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Leslie Hore-Belisha, British secretary of war, told the house of commons today that the death penalty in Great Britain's armed forces for desertion, cowardice, and sleeping on sentry duty had been abolished. It remained as the maximum punishment, he said, for murder, mutiny, and treachery.

Granted Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. HELEN MILNE.

Judge Oscar Nelson granted an uncontested divorce yesterday to Mrs. Helen Milne, 23 years old, of 3523 Nagle avenue, from Raymond L. Milne, 43, who was secretary to the late Ald. John J. Coughlin of the 1st ward. At a previous hearing Milne testified that after Coughlin's death he lost his $700 a month position as head of the grievance committee of the Chicago Parking association.

Mrs. Milne charged cruelty and said that her husband slapped her once in a loop restaurant and on another occasion struck her in their home. Under an out of court settlement she will receive half of the $85 a month profit from the subleasing of their apartment until the lease expires next May and also part of the proceeds from sale of the apartment furnishings.

Many Germans in Rumania Act to Evade Repatriation

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 7.—Many Germans residing in the Banat region of northwest Rumania have applied for membership in the Hungarian section of the Rumanian union party to avoid repatriation to Germany, according to Hungarian papers in Transylvania.

NO BLITZKRIEG, I AM HUMANE! GOERING SAYS

Calls Air Raids on British Ships Good Practice.

were no stronger than the American industry then it would be very weak, indeed," he continued. "I mean this seriously—very seriously."

"This is very serious," added his aid, General of Aviation von Bodenschatz.

Goering told interviewers that the general war situation is "exceedingly favorable to Germany."

"Just pause to think that if in 1933 anybody had foretold what we have achieved, everybody would have said he was crazy," he asserted.

Put Fingers to Temples.

To emphasize this point Goering and his lieutenants put fingers to their temples.

"The fact that I am standing here today and am in such good humor ought to tell you much more than anything else could just what the situation is," he said as he stressed the importance of coöperation between Germany and Russia.

Goering moved his hands slowly as he talked. He wore an enormous platinum ring with a big diamond in the middle and a large ruby and an emerald on each side.

When Goering appeared at the reception in the soviet embassy he was besieged by ambassadors, diplomats, German and soviet business leaders, Nazi and Russian army officers, artists, movie stars, and newspaper correspondents.

The field marshal in addition to being aviation minister is arts protector, chief of the four year plan for economic self-sufficiency, and president of the national council for defense.

Ribbentrop at Fête.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had been at the embassy earlier, but his visit had attracted less attention than Goering's. Since it was the first reception given by the new Russian ambassador, many diplomats of the German protocol office, clad in gray uniforms with silver belts, acted as assistant hosts for their Russian friends. The scene was one of splendor unrivaled in any other embassy in Berlin.

Goering after his arrival first spoke with Schkwarzev and his small interpreter, Secretary Perlov, who is described as the "man closest to Stalin in the Berlin embassy."

Then Goering conferred with the black mustached, swarthy looking chief of the Russian trade delegation, who is in Berlin to perfect Russian-German trade coöperation.

Members of the protocol staff formed a bodyguard for Goering in the embassy marble and gold hall, where a table was spread with the richness and splendor of czarist Russia beneath glittering chandeliers.

Goering's wife, Emmy Sonnemann, the actress, moved into the rococo dining room, where another table was lavishly spread and around which the wives and daughters of the diplomatic corps flocked.

There was one lonely man in the gaily swirling crowd. He was Bernardo Attolico, the Italian ambassador to Berlin. He exhibited signs of discomfort as he strolled from one room to another. His wife, with a huge ostrich feather framing her Roman profile, gently tapped a six and one-half foot tall chief of the German protocol on the elbow and signaled that she wanted to talk with Goering.

As the field marshall and Signora Attolico stood beside the festal board, everybody withdrew and the ambassadoress spoke rapidly. Goering listened intently, but at the same time his eyes strayed over the food. He signaled a butler and pointed to a cake filled with a two and one-half inch layer of whipped cream—a delicacy forbidden and unattainable in ordinary circles of present day Germany.

The most dramatic moment at the reception came when Aarne Wuorimaa, the tall, blond, and stately Finnish minister to Berlin, and his equally tall aids entered the reception hall where the smaller Russian diplomats formally bowed their welcome. That the Finns are worried about the outcome of the diplomatic struggle between their country and Russia was indicated by Wuorimaa and his aids.

"Our country is united as never before in its history," they told me. "We shall not allow the slightest violation of our independence or sovereignty. We are ready to die to defend it if necessary."

Russian, Italian, and other officers of neutral nations with a wealth of decorations attached to their uniforms exchanged polite conversation with German officers. The Germans fraternized with the Russians in their drab khaki uniforms. The Russians evidently relished the bows and smiles of the Germans in the embassy where a bust and a portrait of Nicolai Lenin hold places of honor.

Alexander C. Kirk, America's representative in Berlin, had his first conversation with Von Ribbentrop during the reception. He was introduced by Attolico, the Italian ambassador.

According to the rules of protocol, a foreign minister is not compelled to receive a chargé d'affaires, while he must receive an ambassador whether or not he feels in sympathy with the country which he represents.

Von Ribbentrop had taken the opportunity provided by routine interpretation of the rules to sidestep America's representative until today, when the Italian ambassador stepped into the breach.

ENGLAND WANTS LOAN OF BILLION FOR WAR CHEST

Commons Approves Plan for Public Borrowing.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—The house of commons today approved a request by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, for authorization of public borrowing up to £250,000,000 [about $1,000,000,000] as part of the £2,000,000,000 [about $8,000,000,000] war budget for this year. The remainder is to be raised by taxation and private borrowing.

Sir John Simon.

Simon announced the government would set up a select committee to control expenditures, both civil and military, along the lines followed in the world war.

Seize 420,500 Tons of Goods.

R. H. Cross, minister of economic warfare, told the house Britain had seized 420,500 tons of merchandise as contraband in the first two months of war. Figures on the amount of merchandise detained for inquiry were not available, he said.

Cross added that the government hoped to open trade negotiations with Spain in the near future.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, war minister, warned Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition, against making statements that British soldiers are being badly fed and clothed. These rumors, he said, were broadcast from Germany "in a vain effort to shake public confidence."

Asserting that the British army was better treated than any other army in the world, the war minister denied Laborite complaints that recruits in Scottish camps had to send home for additional food and clothing.

Aids Polish Refugees.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax announced the government had decided to offer $400,000 to aid the 120,000 Polish refugees in Hungary and Rumania.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain denied a report of the existence of a secret inner war cabinet.

"My attention has been called to a statement," the prime minister said, "to the effect that there is now an inner cabinet composed of the prime minister, the foreign secretary [Lord Halifax], the chancellor of the exchequer [Simon], and the lord privy seal [Sir Samuel Hoare] whose decisions are withheld from the defense ministers until they come before the war cabinet in the form of recommendations.

"The statement is entirely without foundation," Chamberlain asserted.

BRITAIN, TURKEY DRAW UP SCHEME FOR BALKAN BLOC

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 7.—M. Shumenkovic, Jugo-Slav minister to Turkey, who returned here last night, is understood to have brought details of an Anglo-Turkish plan to form a neutral Balkan bloc to include Bulgaria.

It is said that the plan includes guarantees to Bulgaria from Rumania that the minority in Dobruja [formerly Bulgarian territory now held by Rumania] will receive good treatment; reciprocal withdrawal of troops from the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier, and granting of a free zone to Bulgaria in the Greek port of Saloniki.

George Rendel, British minister to Sofia, is expected to return tomorrow from Ankara to convey the Anglo-Turkish proposals to the Bulgarian government. Territorial revision is not expected. The immediate aim of British-Turkey policy, it is thought, is to create an atmosphere of cordiality and to postpone the revisionist question to a time of less general tension.

Belgium to Answer Nazi Warning on Polish Legion

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 7 (AP)—Reliable sources said Belgium was drafting a reply today to a German warning against permitting Poles in neutral countries to join the Polish legion being formed in France.

TELLS SITUATION OF AMERICANS LEFT IN WARSAW

Only Letters to Germany Are Permitted.

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—A letter from a reliable person in Warsaw dated on Nov. 3 describing the condition of about 100 Americans still in the former Polish capital has been seen by an Associated Press correspondent here.

"Life gradually is resuming its normal course," the writer said.

"Most houses already have water and electric light. A person is already permitted to send letters but only to Germany and in the German language. That is why I am not writing you in English.

Postage Stamps Scarce.

"It is very difficult to buy postage stamps. Sometimes the postoffice doesn't sell any at all and when any are put on sale the public must often stand several hours before the window. I had to stand for four hours."

After describing how the American colony of 569 who were registered last Jan. 1 as permanently living in Poland had dwindled gradually when war approached and how 62 Americans departed on Sept. 21 when diplomats were taken from the city, the writer continued:

"Now there are about 100 American citizens in Warsaw, mostly of Polish extraction or women who married Poles—for example, Mrs. Klimpel, formerly Gloria Patricia Wright of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Kormian, formerly Wilcie Dickerson of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Szukalski, formerly Joan Lee Donovan of New Bedford, Mass.

Group of American Nuns.

"Winston Cram of Nashville, Tenn., chief of the Methodist mission, also remained in Warsaw. There also is a group of American nuns who studied at the university.

"Most of these Americans would like to leave Warsaw and return to America. American women who married Poles would like to leave Europe with their husbands, but it is exceedingly difficult to obtain permission for the husbands, as they are Polish nationals.

"The American consulate has no information concerning the number of Americans in other Polish cities."

BRITAIN PLACES YANKEES ABROAD ON 'SUCKER LIST'

Propaganda Deluges Business Men.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Nov. 7.—American business men in Switzerland are on the British government's sucker list, it was learned here today.

They are being deluged with British propaganda by the ministry of information and the foreign office in the hope that they will exert pressure on America in behalf of the Anglo-French cause.

White papers, blue books, and other documents stating the British point of view regarding the war and its causes are being mailed in Switzerland by British consulates to Americans, Swiss, and other neutrals.

Practice Spread to America.

It is understood here that this practice is being widely followed in all the important neutral countries, including America. The propaganda is sent from London to the consulates, legations, or embassies and by them is mailed to a list of persons selected by the British representatives on the spot.

One American here has been receiving British literature addressed to a house which he has not occupied for some weeks, which seems to indicate that the mailing lists are being made up more or less indiscriminately.

One of the jobs of the press attachés of the British embassies is to see that this propaganda is planted in the proper places, it was learned on good authority.

195 Page Book Issued.

In the propaganda distributed here is a 195 page book, "Documents Concerning German-Polish Relations and the Outbreak of Hostilities Between Great Britain and Germany on Sept. 3, 1939." It begins with the German-Polish agreement of 1934 and ends with the talk of the British prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, to the German people on Sept. 4, 1939. There are 144 separate items showing the deterioration of relations between Germany and the other warring powers.

A smaller document of 22 pages, "The Outbreak of the War," carries speeches by King George, former President Ignace Moscicki of Poland, Chamberlain, and Edouard Daladier, the French premier, and a summary of correspondence between Britain and Germany from Aug. 22 to Sept. 3 of this year. This document has nine items.

A third pamphlet, "Hitler, Stop," is subtitled "The Calendar of Aggression," and at the top of its first page it carried the title "Treachery, Step by Step."

HOW MUCH DOES YOUR OVERCOAT COST YOU PER SEASON?

Some coats start the season looking like the proverbial million dollars . . . but by the end of the first year, they're worn-out, shabby and about ready to give up!

On the other hand, there are overcoats that are just as smart and fresh and ready for Old Man Zero when a new season rolls around as they were the first time you put them on. They're eloquent proof that it pays to spend a little more on a really good coat so that the cost is spread over a longer period of time.

Endurance, stamina—ability to "take it"—these are the important points as to how much a coat costs per season—and here you'll find all the answers—in this great group at!

KEEPING IN KEY

By CALEB

"ONE OF the truest measures of management," a competent critic of mercantile matters said to me recently, "is its showing of consistency, maintained through all its operations over a long time-period. When I am called upon to 'size up' a business, that is among the first things I look into.

"Illustrating my point is a friend's comment, made only this morning, about a very famous retailer—famous particularly with thousands who have never as yet visited the establishment itself. 'So-and-So's advertising,' he declared, 'is so much better than his store that there is no comparison! It's so far out of key with the personnel, the merchandise and the service, that I wonder why something isn't done to bring the place and its publicity back into line again.'

"Such an allegation is often supported by the facts about some division of an enterprise either so much better or so much worse than the public impression built up about it as a whole, that serious consequences threaten if the condition isn't soon remedied." . . .

A showing consistently maintained over a long time-period, as the yardstick of a firm's success! My business-counsel friend provided, in those off-record remarks, plenty of food for any executive's thought. Thought about whether the numerous details of his program in its entirety . . . equipment, finance, sales policy, quality standards, prices, scope of products, display, advertising, credits and collections, personnel, trade relations, standing in his industry . . . are all "in key"—or otherwise.

This matter of maintaining symmetry, synchrony, balance, proportion, unanimity — a dozen synonyms are applicable to the basic idea—throughout the ramifications of an international-sized business more than three-quarters of a century old, has always been of the utmost importance in our own management. To keep every phase of presentation to the public in key with every other, is a never-ending subject of sound planning, and of planning's consistent and persistent execution.

The record, "over a long time-period," is such as, in all its essentials, we believe the founder of Field's would be first to indorse . . . supplementing that endorsement, characteristically, with his favorite admonition that service, sales, good will, and customer satisfaction, all hinge directly today, as they did in 1856, on the fundamental of quality.

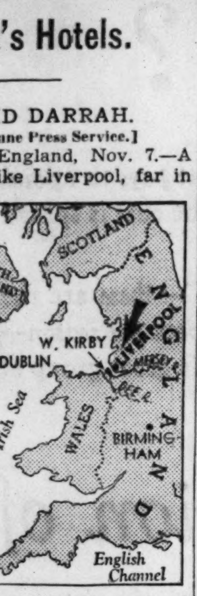
LIVERPOOL SHIPS GO DOWN TO SEA IN STEALTH OF NIGHT

War Brings Big Business to Port's Hotels.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 7.—A seafaring town like Liverpool, far in the west of England, feels somewhat out of the picture in this war and it is avid for more news and information about what is taking place. The persons to whom you talk are anxious and uneasy over the inactivity.



Arrow locates Liverpool and port district.

"What's going on?" they ask as they tune in their radio sets. One thing they all seem certain about: the western European empires are certainly going to win this war.

As I remember, in the last war every one used to ask, "When do you think it will be finished?"

In pubs, trains, and other public places where you engage persons in talks, it isn't long before some one says, "In America, how long do they think it will last?" "It" being the war.

Visit Children in Country.

I came here by train from Birmingham. The train was jammed with women who had been visiting their children who had been sent for safety to various rural districts. Some women had walked for miles. They left Liverpool early in the morning and were returning hungry and tired and furious because they couldn't find seats in the train. We arrived in Liverpool during a complete blackout.

Seaport life goes on as usual here. The business men go to their offices in black coats and striped trousers. The war has brought a business boom to the hotels, which are full of civil servants and persons waiting for ships.

Along the seafront steamers ply back and forth between Liverpool and Birkenhead. In the harbor at night steamers slip down the Mersey river and make for Dublin. But you see few big ships. All are painted a slate gray and are camouflaged. Liverpool's waterfront, perhaps from its shape or the style of the adjoining buildings, reminds me of New York, down around Battery park.

Post Exchange Rate.

Today the waterfront strollers were throwing bread to the seagulls. American sailors, at least until the neutrality bill was modified, must have been here frequently with "long green" [American currency] on their persons for in the waterside pubs you see chalked up on slates hanging before the bar mirrors the latest exchange quotations for dollar bills. The quotation today was four shillings eight pence [about 96 cents.]

Liverpool usually has a considerable number of unemployed. The unemployment, however, has gone down since the war started. There is especially a shortage of housemaids, because they now can get jobs in factories where they earn as much as three pounds [$11.82] weekly.

Liverpool is sandbagged and darkened but it seems less Air Raid Precaution [ARP] minded than London.

Next I went over to West Kirby, which lies on the Dee river side of the peninsula made by the Dee and Mersey rivers, and is half an hour from Liverpool. I went to dine with an old friend.

When the war broke out he volunteered to take and keep for the duration of the war, three children from the slums of Liverpool. He told me that now, after two months, they were fitting themselves into their new and comfortable surroundings.

My friend volunteered for local hospital and ambulance service at the beginning of the war. He works an eight hour shift every day for seven days altho he retired from business three or four years ago.

NAZI PRIZE CREW OF FLINT TO BE PUT IN FORTRESS

3 German Flyers Also to Be Interned.

BERGEN, Norway, Nov. 7 (AP).—The 17 Germans who made up the prize crew aboard the American freighter City of Flint left here tonight for Oslo, en route to internment in the fortress at Kongsvinger, near Sweden's border. The Germans had been held here aboard the mine layer Olav Tryggvason.

An eighteenth German originally in the prize crew became ill and was left at Murmansk soviet Russian port at which the Flint stopped after it was seized by a German raider on Oct. 9, on the ground that its British consigned cargo included contraband.

The foreign office at Oslo said Germany had been informed again that Norway's decision to free the City of Flint and hold the prize crew was irrevocable.

Sailors Get Ship in Shape.

Three German flyers who made a forced landing near Egersund in October also will be interned at Kongsvinger, it was announced. The fortress, an ancient stronghold, recently has served as a barracks for cadets in training.

The City of Flint was given back to its American sailors last Saturday after it had wandered for 26 days from Tromsoe, Norway, to Murmansk and back to southern Norway.

The Flint's crew worked on the ship in Bergen harbor amid unconfirmed reports that Norway would purchase part of the cargo. Capt. J. A. Gainard of the vessel commented, "I am a sailor, not a salesman," when asked about disposition of the cargo.

Ship chandlers reported, however, that no provisions had been put aboard and said there was no indication that the Flint would make an early departure.

Oslo Group Studies Law.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 7 (AP).—Fine points of international law involved in such cases as that of the City of Flint and other complications facing neutrals were discussed today by experts representing six countries of the so-called Oslo group.

They are Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, The Netherlands and Finland, which, with the duchy of Luxemburg, belong to the Oslo trade convention.

The conferences, expected to end tonight or tomorrow, were described as purely technical.

AMERICAN PASSENGER PLANE MOTORS FIRST TO ARRIVE IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The first consignment of goods from the United States of America to England since the arms embargo was lifted by congress was part of a $1,200,000 order for 56 airplane engines and accessories for the Imperial Airways.

Aviation authorities of Great Britain consider American made engines more suitable for meeting the trying conditions encountered along the empire routes. In this connection it was recalled that the tragedy of the Bermuda-bound flying boat Cavalier was ascribed by experts in America to the absence of carburetor defrosters.

Delivery of the Imperial Airways order is expected to be completed in February.

FINDS WOMAN HANGED.

Centralia, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—The body of Miss Anna Bertolero, 39 years old, was found hanging by a rope from a beam on the back porch of her home at Sandoval today. Miss Rena Gambetti, a half sister, discovered the body.

ITALIANS WARN RUSSIA TO STAY OUT OF BALKANS

ROME, Nov. 7.—Russia was attacked by Virginio Gayda in today's Giornale d'Italia because of the Comintern's manifesto yesterday charging Italy with waiting "to attack whomever is defeated to obtain a share of the loot."

Other newspapers make similar attacks, as did radio commentators, thus ending Italy's period of caution about the soviet which began when the Russo-German nonaggression pact was signed. It is at last openly admitted that Russia's pressure in the Balkans is a danger to Italy, and the press comment warned Russia to keep away.

Gayda, who is regarded as Premier Benito Mussolini's editorial spokesman, said that since the Russian manifesto disparaged Germany, it proved "there is no definite accord between Moscow and Berlin." He accused Russia of trying to spread the war.

What I Saw at Fannie May!

MISS IRENE DELROY, star of stage, screen, and radio, after visiting Fannie May Kitchens, says this . . .

"So busy—yet so beautifully clean and orderly! I don't see how they do it! I particularly noticed that the moment one of the trays of candy was finished, a big cover went down over it—completely eliminating any possibility of so much as a particle of dust. With such care in the smallest details, no wonder Fannie May Candy is so delicious. Wherever I go, I have Fannie May Candy shipped to me."

BRITAIN, FRANCE TO CO-ORDINATE WAR PURCHASES

Expected to Place Billion Dollars in Orders.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Great Britain and France will coordinate their war purchases in the United States of America, eliminating competition between them, the British embassy announced tonight.

The embassy promised that an announcement regarding the necessary arrangements to secure close coordination of the purchases would be made later.

It was estimated unofficially that the two nations are ready to place 1 billion dollars in war orders here in the near future.

The embassy also disclosed that the United Kingdom government had decided to set a central organization to be known as the British supply board in Canada and the United States to help coördinate purchases in the two countries.

Differs from World War.

Col. J. H. M. Greenly has been appointed controler-general and chairman of the board, with Sir James Rae as deputy controler-general and vice chairman. Orders in this country, the embassy said, will be placed thru a British purchasing commission under Arthur B. Purvis, who has been appointed director general of purchases.

The announced policy is in direct contrast with the course followed by France and Britain at the beginning of the world war. At that time they bid against each other for American war supplies and raw materials and consequently ran up prices.

DECENTRALIZE FRENCH BUYING.

Maj. Guy de Rochefort, head of a French delegation sent to Chicago to buy horses, disclosed yesterday that France has many commissioners in America, all entrusted with the duty of purchasing supplies.

"None of us knows, as individuals, how large the commission is," said the major. "Each group takes care of its own duties. Our group is composed of men who are experts on horses and mules. I know nothing of reports that France has bought large quantities of shoes and hand grenades from Chicago firms. If there has been such buying, it was done by experts in shoes and grenades."

It is known that the French commissioners are purchasing airplanes and motors, shells, guns, clothing, food and medicines. The separate commissions report to the chief commissioner in New York. Maj. Rochefort said he was studying the markets before putting in any bids for horses.

REJECT DEMAND BY C. I. O. TO OUST CHIEF OF POLICE

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—A demand by the C. I. O. that Police Chief W. K. Ingram be ousted was refused today by the board of public safety. The board held the chief had performed his duty and emphasized he would not be removed except for just cause.

A committee representing all the C. I. O. unions in South Bend presented a petition demanding Ingram's ouster. The committees complained he had escorted a worker thru C. I. O. picket lines at the Oliver Farm Equipment company and that his policemen took workers thru picket lines at the Sander Lumber company.

Chief Ingram said he did take a worker thru the lines at the equipment plant, where pickets were attempting to enforce a dues collection. He said workers in automobiles went thru the lines at the lumber company without aid of police. A jurisdictional dispute between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. is in progress at the lumber company.

BE PREPARED, THO NEUTRAL, WARNS RUSSIAN LEADER

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP).—Russia capped her celebration of the 22d anniversary of the communist revolution with a display of military might today as War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov warned that, altho neutral, the nation "must be prepared."

Voroshilov spoke briefly in Red square, thru which thousands of troops marched in a parade that lasted more than an hour and a half.

"The soviet government watches the international situation and will react to every event," Voroshilov declared after praising the work of soviet troops in Poland and Outer Mongolia.

Mechanized units, including 206 medium sized tanks, formed a large part of the military display. Hundreds of thousands of civilians watched the pageant while war planes roared overhead in formation.

Finland Frames Answer.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Finnish government today drew up new instructions for its delegates negotiating in Moscow over soviet territorial demands.

The cabinet met thruout the afternoon with President Kystio Kallio, the speaker of parliament and party chairmen. The instructions were expected to order the delegation to stand firm against granting Russia a naval base on Finland's southern coast.

It was believed the instructions would reach Moscow tomorrow and that the Moscow talks would be resumed tomorrow night.

SOVIET SNUBBED BY NEW DEALERS ON ANNIVERSARY

Stay Away from Fete in Large Numbers.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—By ignoring the 22d anniversary of the October socialist revolution the United States today snubbed soviet Russia.

For the first time since he effected American recognition of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, President Roosevelt sent no birthday felicitations to Mikhail Kalinin, president of the all union central executive committee of the soviet union.

Taking a cue from the chief executive, high ranking New Dealers, other federal officials, and members of capital society stayed away from the caviar and vodka reception at the soviet embassy celebrating the Red birthday.

No Official Explanation.

No official reason was given at either the White House or the state department for the failure of the President, who was at his family home in Hyde Park, N. Y., to send the customary birthday greetings.

A year ago the presidential message was: "Upon this national anniversary please accept my felicitations and good wishes for the well being of the people of your country."

At the state department officials said privately they were not surprised that Mr. Roosevelt was not sending a greeting because Russian-American relations have been growing colder since the outbreak of the European war.

It was recalled that Premier Vyacheslav Molotov of soviet Russia within the week had called Mr. Roosevelt a meddler because of America's interest in maintenance of peace in the Baltic.

Little Gayety at Embassy.

At today's soviet embassy celebration of the Red holiday there was little gayety. A good proportion of the 1,500 invitations, which bore the gold embossed soviet seal of a hammer and sickle surmounted on a globe, were not used.

t today's soviet embassy celebration of the Red holiday there was little gayety. A good proportion of the 1,500 invitations, which bore the gold embossed soviet seal of a hamglobe, were not used.

The number of regrets was far greater than in any previous year. Not a single cabinet member appeared during the afternoon and no congressmen or senators were noticed. Even state department officials were absent.

Only two prominent New Dealers appeared, altho in the past New Dealers swarmed at the reception. The two New Dealers present were Leon Henderson, SEC commissioner and brain truster, and Edwin S. Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations board and listed by the Dies committee as a member of the League for Peace and Democracy, alleged communist front organization.

With few exceptions the diplomatic corps was present in full force.

6 MILLION DEFICIT IN 1940 COUNTY BUDGET LOOMS

Indicated expenses of $25,936,452, as compared with prospective revenue of only $19,627,058 for 1940, were shown in the preliminary operating estimates of Cook county yesterday. This leaves a deficiency of $6,309,394 that will have to be made up before the final budget is drawn.

The tentative estimates were submitted to the board by Lee J. Howard, county auditor, and Richard J. Daley, deputy controler. Their report was referred to the board's finance committee which will prepare the 1940 budget.

Four Million Higher than 1939.

The operating expense estimate exceeds by more than $4,000,000 the actual appropriations for the county for 1939. They totaled $21,858,759.

Howard said the sharp increase was accounted for by two items: Higher election expenses because of the elections in the spring and fall of 1940, and a judgment of $3,200,000 against the county for Municipal court costs since 1928. A state Supreme court decision held the county liable for the share in court costs.

Howard said 1940 expenses might be reduced substantially by payment of the $3,200,000 in instalments over a period of ten years. The county can avail itself of this method under the court's decision. It would make possible a cut of $2,800,000 in next year's operating budget. The county's annual share of Municipal court costs in the future will amount to more than $400,000 annually, however, Howard said.

Election costs for 1940 will total $1,940,130, according to yesterday's estimates, as against only $300,000 in 1939.

Elections to Cost $1,940,130.

Howard said revenue estimates were conservative and that these might be increased by the county board. For example, the county's 1940 revenues from tax penalty payments were estimated at $5,500,000, altho in 1939 the actual revenue from this source is expected to be about $7,500,000.

All penalty payments on back taxes go to the county and are not divided among the other major governments along with taxes. Revenue from penalties is declining, however, because of greater promptness in payment of taxes in recent years.

Aside from expenses for elections and the Municipal court estimates of costs were based on actual figures for the various departments for the current year.

MEDIATOR HINTS END OF CIO ROW WITH CHRYSLER

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP).]—James F. Dewey, federal labor department conciliator seeking to end a month old labor dispute in Chrysler corporation plants, said today he was hopeful of a settlement this week. His statement, however, failed to elicit similar optimism in corporation or union circles.

Negotiations between officials of Chrysler and of the United Automobile Workers, a C. I. O. union, have been presided over by Dewey.

"Reports of progress," said Richard T. Frankensteen, U. A. W.-C. I. O. regional director, "should not be taken as an indication of any immediate settlement." Herman L. Weckler, Chrysler vice president in charge of operations, said the morning session of the negotiators formed a basis for future discussions.

Strikes in two units of the Borg-Warner corporation were settled today, and the 900 employés will return to work tomorrow.

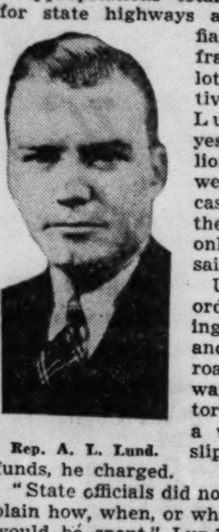
RETIRED TINNER DIES AT 82.

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Charles [illegible], 82 years old, a retired tinshop proprietor, died today in St. Mary's hospital. He is survived by a daughter, two sons, and seven grandchildren, all of Kankakee. Funeral services will be conducted Friday from St. Rose church.

HIGHWAY WASTE MOST FLAGRANT, SAYS REP. LUND

Charges Millions Are Spent Like Pennies.

[This is the tenth in a series of articles analyzing by departments the $57,000,000 reduction in state spending proposed by Representative Lund.]



Rep. A. L. Lund.

Appropriations totaling $86,100,000 for state highways are "the most flagrant and least fragrant of the lot," Representative Arnold L. Lund declared yesterday. Millions of dollars were provided as casually as tho the sums involved only pennies, he said.

Under blanket orders for building, improving, and maintaining roads and highways the legislators gave officials a wide field for slipshod use of funds, he charged.

"State officials did not bother to explain how, when, or where the money would be spent," Lund said. "It is not possible to show the exact points of waste, since the figures are not itemized. That appears to be the purpose."

Smaller appropriations for the department of public works and buildings under F. Lynden Smith were itemized, however, and these show the opportunity for tremendous savings, according to Lund.

Calls Duties Limited.

For example, the department of public works has such limited duties that its $126,440 appropriation should be cut by $87,000 if the office is not consolidated with some other, he said. The division of architecture and engineering likewise ought to lose most of its $438,910 if it cannot be merged, he declared.

"Instead of decreases dictated by logic, there are increases each two years," the young legislator said. "Illinois has practically enough buildings and institutions and these should be managed more efficiently."

Urges 55 Per Cent Cut.

He recommended a 55 per cent cut in the $665,240 of the waterways division, asserting that he has failed to find any reason for vastly increased costs.

With fewer watchmen assigned to do nothing but guard state monuments the $901,499 appropriation for the division of parks and memorials could be trimmed, said Lund.

COURT TO RULE ON ANNENBERG'S WIRE PLEA TODAY

Profit from Bookie Service Told at Hearing.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson will rule this afternoon on whether federal and state authorities can use threats of grand jury action to force the telephone and telegraph companies to cease serving M. L. Annenberg's two racing news distributing companies in the transmission of race results over interstate wires.

The decision will be on Annenberg's petition for a temporary order restraining the communications companies from withholding service from the Nationwide News Service of Delaware and the Illinois Nationwide News Service, Inc. Their clients include most of the handbook operators in the country.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Illinois Bell telephone company are named defendants in the action. William J. Campbell, United States attorney, and Thomas J. Courtney, state's attorney, are named joint defendants.

Closing Hinges on Ruling.

If the court rules in favor of the government and refuses to issue the restraining order, the companies will suspend service on the Annenberg wires tomorrow as previously announced. The Bell Telephone company, the A. T. & T. and the Western Union Telegraph company set this deadline as a result of joint threats which they received from Courtney and Campbell to desist or face prosecution.

Arguments against the petition were concluded yesterday by the government. In a stormy hearing it was charged that Annenberg's news services had an income of $7,724,531 from 659 bookmakers in the Chicago area in the four years between 1933 and 1936. During the same period, Campbell asserted in a sworn affidavit, only three newspapers used the services, paying $57,010 for them.

Samuel Klaus, special assistant United States attorney, climaxed his argument late in the day by warning the court that issuance of the restraining order would enable handbooks to continue operating in this area.

Seeks to Learn Authority.

"If the court issues the order and enjoins the district attorney," he said, "it will permit gambling dens and handbooks to remain open. If the court refuses to enter the order, it will have the effect of closing these places immediately."

Judge Wilkerson leaned forward on the bench.

"There is no reason to hint for a moment that this court would aid an illegal enterprise," he said. "That is not the question involved here. Perhaps the court will need time to consider the merits of the case. Anyway, what about the government agreeing yesterday to postpone cutting off a wire service."

During the morning hearing Judge Wilkerson kept asking Klaus:

"What is the district attorney's authority?"

[This was a reference to Campbell's threat to the utilities to suspend Annenberg's service.]

"The district attorney is the chief federal law enforcing officer in this district," said Klaus. "Sending letters to the wire companies warning them of possible law violations was clearly within his jurisdiction."

Suggests Rule by Decree.

"But if we proceeded the way you want us to, wouldn't we have a government by decree?" the court asked. "Here we have a case where men have made up their minds that some one is doing something in violation of the law. They say: 'Stop it or I'll indict you.' There may be such authority, but I want to see it."

At this point Klaus attempted to introduce an affidavit by Campbell containing charges of Annenberg's connection with the handbook racket and stating that the services of the utilities are an integral part of the Annenberg service.

Weymouth Kirkland, counsel for Annenberg, objected to the introduction of the document. The court first admitted it subject to objections of the Annenberg counsel. Later three other affidavits, one made out by Klaus and two made out by government investigators, telling of the inquiry into handbook operations here, were admitted in evidence and Kirkland was given five days in which to answer them.

Courtney and Campbell also filed written answers to the petition for a restraining order. Courtney contended that as a state official he is outside the jurisdiction of the federal court. Campbell asserted that the federal government cannot be sued without its consent and that the plaintiffs are not subject to consideration in a court of equity because they are seeking to protect an unlawful enterprise.

Affidavit Tells of Parley.

Klaus' affidavit was designed to show Annenberg's connection with handbooks. He told of a conference in Washington, D. C., last summer of high government officials, including Attorney General Frank Murphy and Annenberg, several of the latter's associates, and Attorney Kirkland. Klaus said the conference was called at Annenberg's request to discuss income tax liability.

Klaus said that Annenberg said he derived part of his income from "run-down" sheets carrying names of horses, jockies, and weights used by bookmakers. Klaus then told of a visit to the offices of Illinois Nationwide News service, 431 South Dearborn street.

There, he said, he saw the racing news service in operation. The distinction between the news printer which went to newspapers and the remaining equipment which was designed for bookmakers only was explained to him, he said. He also told of a later visit to the same offices when he was permitted to make a phonographic recording of the broadcast to the Chicago area over telephone wires to bookmakers. These phonograph records are available, the affidavit stated.

Revenue Inquiry Told.

The other two affidavits bore the signatures of Ned Klein and P. J. Boylan, agents of the internal revenue service of the treasury department. They told of being assigned in 1937 to inquire into the income tax liability of operators and owners of bookmaking establishments in this federal district.

"Together or separately we have visited every operator or owner of a bookmaking establishment for whom we had income tax returns for investigation and noticed the method of operation and conduct of the business of such places," they stated.

They said they know thru these visits that all those on a list of customers of the Illinois Nationwide are handbooks. Various lists of handbooks visited by the agents or of owners who were interviewed were attached to the affidivats.

Service Called Essential.

"In each of the establishments," Klein charged, "wire service is an essential and integral part of the operations, and without such wire service it may safely be said that the establishments could not survive."

The method of operating the handbooks observed by the agents was given in detail in each affidavit.

Annenberg, who is a Philadelphia publisher and a critic of the New Deal, is under indictment on charges of income tax evasion and violation of the federal lottery laws.

Judge Wilkerson on Saturday took no action on a request of government attorneys to consolidate the two lottery indictments against Annenberg and his associates. The judge heard preliminary arguments and then continued the hearing for a few days to give the defense time to file reply briefs.

JANITRESS CLEANS UP BROKEN GLASS; JURY NOW HAS NO EVIDENCE

Mrs. Dora Pickley.

Jurors in the Circuit court of Judge John P. Cummings retired last evening to debate a $50,000 damage suit. They were, however, unable to take with them that part of the evidence consisting of the pieces of a broken water bottle.

The plaintiff, Miss Bertha Grinberg, 5201 Woodlawn avenue, sued the Walter Powers company on the ground that she was injured when the bottle, which had contained seltzer, exploded. The broken glass was exhibited to the jury Monday and was then placed in the chambers of Judge Cummings.

There Mrs. Dora Pickley, 5210 South Morgan street, a janitress, found the glass in the evening. Assuming the pieces represented debris, she tossed them into a waste receptacle. Lawyers said the jury probably would be able to decide just as well without the glass. A sealed verdict is expected this morning.

MIAMI VOTERS REJECT PROPOSAL TO ENFORCE MILK PASTEURIZATION

Miami, Fla., Nov. 7 [Special].—A proposal for 100 per cent pasteurization of Miami's milk supply was turned down by voters today at a special referendum.

With only one-fifth of the 50,592 registered voters turning out at the polls, the milk question lost by 5,468 to 4,293 votes. The defeat marked the end of a five month campaign touched off by a survey which, health authorities held, linked a prevalence of undulant fever to raw milk from cows infected with Bang's disease.

A city ordinance passed last August prohibits the sale of raw milk in public places. Citizens are permitted to have it delivered to their homes, however.

Voters also registered an emphatic no on two proposals to change the city's charter to eliminate the present city manager form of government.

ORDERS RETURN OF RICH INDIAN'S $137,500 TO U. S.

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 7 [Special].—Federal Judge Richard Hopkins today criticized Harold McGugin, former congressman from Kansas, for his "slick performance" in dividing up the wealth of the late Jackson Barnett, incompetent oil-wealthy Oklahoma Indian.

The judge's opinion supplements a recent decision in which he ordered McGugin to repay the United States government $137,500 in fees he received from Barnett's widow, Mrs. Anna Laura Lowe Barnett. McGugin is awaiting an appeal from that decision, to be taken up soon by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver.

Barnett received a piece of Oklahoma land when tribal grounds were apportioned among members of the Creek tribe. In 1912 he was adjudged incompetent and a guardian was appointed for his estate. By 1920 royalties from oil had brought him more than a million dollars. In the same year Mrs. Lowe, described by Judge Hopkins as "an adventuress," married the Indian and then entered into a contract with McGugin to pay him 25 per cent of the money she was able to obtain from Barnett.

Louisiana Court Grants Divorce to Schoolgirl, 13

New Orleans, La., Nov. 7 [Special].—Mrs. Irene Yorke Penton, 13 years old, was granted a divorce today from John Penton, 37, whom she married last year while a fifth grade pupil. Chancellor D. M. Russell who awarded the decree said: "Little lady, don't do anything unwise like this again—not until you are a lot older." Irene looked at him gravely but made no reply. She accused her husband of brutality and drunkenness.

CONOCO

MOTO
OIL-PLATES

You can probably agree that these are certainly conservative figures . . .

—4 or 5 months of nasty weather right ahead of you now

—8 or 10 daily cold starts for your car

—6 to 8 minutes per start, till your engine's near-warm

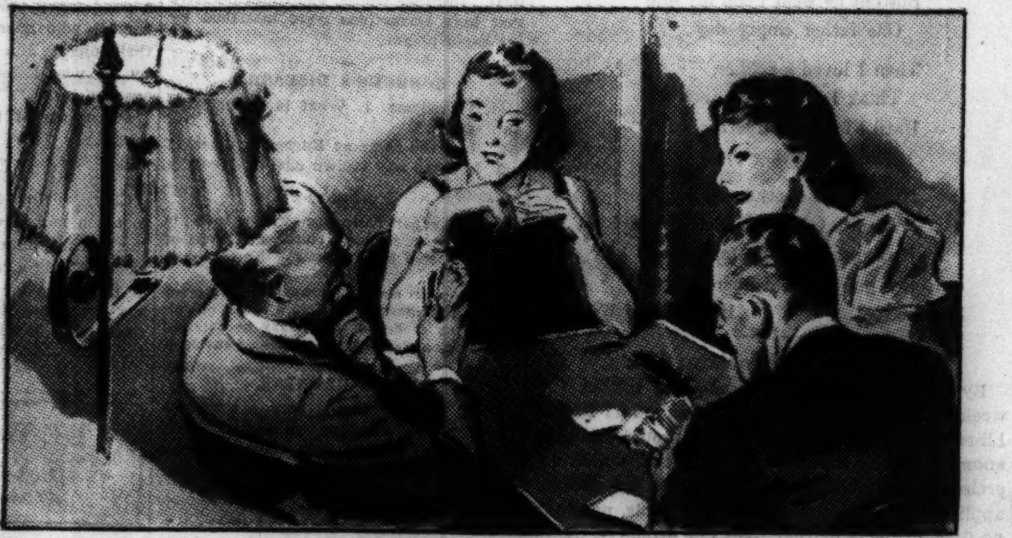
And yet even that can run up your engine's cold-weather "starting-stretch" to right around 90 hours! . . . The foulest 90 hours that Gangster Winter could fire at your engine—your battery. And don't ever hope to halt him with motor oils whose biggest brag is "fast flow." That's not enough—and it's not your money's worth, considering that "fast flow" is mighty slow Winter lubrication compared to OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING in your engine will lubricate before any oil can circulate.



That's because right after you start up with patented Conoco Germ Processed oil it makes OIL-PLATING "magnetize" to all inner engine surfaces, so that it cannot drain down again. It cannot retire to the crankcase as you park the car. Like any other good plating, OIL-PLATING stays right where it's plated by Germ Processed oil—all over the working parts. They've "got on" their OIL-PLATING all the while you're indoors. They don't "take off" their OIL-PLATING. When you come out to start then, your OIL-PLATING can't be delayed even 90 seconds—or one-ninth of a second! And away you go. The battery hardly knows it was working. And it's a good long while before the gauge-stick calls for an added quart of Germ Processed oil. Your Mileage Merchant has your right Winter grade. Change today—to that Conoco station of his. GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

INDIA IN THIS WAR.

Liberal Englishmen recognize that India now puts the crucial question to the empire. The New Statesman and Nation of London says that the Indians, in the hearing of all neutral onlookers, ask: Is this a war for the imperial status quo or for a new democratic world order? The British answer, it is conceded, will do as much as anything could to reveal the ethics of the conflict.

Englishmen recall that 25 years ago the Indians, as the New Statesman says, "rallied to our flag, not the princes alone, but the nation. Mr. Gandhi forgot his pacifism and recruited for us and Indians braved the cold of Flanders and the heat of Mesopotamia." The British response to what was then called chivalry was a generous promise of freedom for which, after the peace, enthusiasm was lost.

The incidents which grew out of the bitter Indian disappointment and the inability of the government to make a satisfactory grant of self-government were among the most grievous in modern history of British rule in India. The passive resistance, offered principally by Gandhi's nationalists, was met by the cruel floggings which shocked better sentiment in Great Britain and tarnished British rule in world opinion. The climax was the massacre at Amritzar.

The present status of India, which thought it was earning its freedom within the empire family in the world war, is sufficiently revealed by the fact that altho the dominions made their own decision in following Britain into the present war, the belligerency of India was declared by the British government and emergency war measures were imposed without the consent of the provincial governments, whose powers they limited.

The Indian congress has issued a manifesto which declares that if the present war is for the defense of the status quo, for imperial possessions, colonies, and vested interests, then India can have nothing to do with it. If the issue is democracy and a new world order, then India is intensely interested. The New Statesman notes that by what it ironically calls "some unfortunate accident," this manifesto failed to reach the daily press. It asked that the British declare their "war aims regarding democracy and imperialism and the establishment of a new world order, and how these aims will be applied to India now."

The war dictatorship, it is true, has suspended many of the old rights, liberties, and privileges of the British at home, but the dominions made their own regulations and were free to do so. They are self-governing. Even the home British were supposed to have given their consent by acts of their parliament, but the Indians had their subservience revealed to them when the home government imposed upon them laws which "restricted and threatened during the period of emergency such precarious liberties as they possess."

English liberals put the crucial question by asking if a rebel India must be met with coercion will any one in Europe or America mistake Britain for the champion of democracy? The British answer to that question, which will be found in the handling of the now acute Indian question, will determine above all words and propaganda what the attitude of the British empire is to be and how the character of the struggle is to be understood. The subject peoples of India cannot remain silent millions in a war for democracy. Their voices will rise above all the propaganda which can be issued.

MR. BROWDER'S NEW DEAL.

As the Reds in Moscow celebrate the twenty-second anniversary of the seizure of power their spokesmen explode the last bubbles of the beautiful dream that soviet Russia was marching with the other "great liberal powers" for peace and democracy. The bond of friendship, sympathy, and understanding which united the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Republics is broken with a bang. The United States is a sordid, grasping, capitalistic country of imperialistic bourgeoisie. A manifesto from the communist international says that the American bourgeois are warming their hands at the fire of war, that Great Britain and France are trying to keep half the world in the chains of colonial slavery, that the Italian bourgeois waits only for a convenient moment to throw itself on the oppressed.

Brother Molotov, speaking for the commissars, says that in the bourgeois countries not at war neutrality only serves as a mask to conceal their activities in fanning and extending the conflict from which they hope to make big profits at the expense, misery, sacrifice, and ruin of belligerent nations. The brothers have signed up with Herr Hitler and have only contempt for the peoples whom three months ago they were lauding as democracies protecting the world against the Nazi-ism which the commissars have now adopted.

Here in the United States Mr. Browder, who three months ago was the first and most ardent third termer, now having grabbed the new party line, declares that Mr. Roosevelt is a spokesman for Wall street, is a reconciled ally of the economic royalists, and is supporting an imperialistic war that "is tearing away the veils of hypocrisy behind which the monopoly capitalists were hiding their ruthless dictatorship."

Mr. Browder's New Deal is the one Stalin made with Hitler.

JOHN LEWIS IN THE 1940 ELECTION.

Once upon a time—it was 16 years ago—two delegates to a convention of the United Mine Workers' union tried to assert their independence of John L. Lewis. Mr. Lewis, that great believer in democracy, called upon his henchmen to seize the rebels, take them out into a courtyard, and beat them up. As in other matters in his union Mr. Lewis' will prevailed.

Strongarm methods have kept Lewis in office. Aside from the use of the ballot, unions ordinarily exercise a restraining influence over their central organization by the control of the purse. The members can decline to pay dues. Lewis has closed that loophole, too. He has agreements with the miner owners by which the owner deducts the dues from each man's pay before paying off.

One additional feature makes the arrangement unbeatable so far as Lewis is concerned. In other organizations special assessments upon the union membership can be voted only by a national convention, often by a referendum vote of the members. But in the miners' union the executive board, a group hand-picked by Lewis, can order a special assessment.

Thus Lewis, who has the organization to perpetuate him in office, merely decides when he wants some money and how much, and then tells the operators to hold it out of the miners' pay. When he was frustrated several years ago in efforts to get elected as the head of all American labor organizations, Lewis decided to have his own central labor body and created the C. I. O. Money was needed for the purpose, and so he ordered the mine owners to take 3 million dollars of the miners' pay, to be used not in organizing the miners' unions but in effectuating the C. I. O.

When he decided it would take a half million dollars to reëlect Mr. Roosevelt, Lewis ordered the mine owners to take the required amount out of the miners' pay envelopes and remit to him. With this money taken from the workers in one of our most depressed industries Mr. Lewis paid for a large part of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign expenditures in 1936.

Last week it pleased Mr. Lewis to have some more money to be spent for election purposes in 1940 or in any other way which might suit his fancy. And so he ordered the soft coal mining companies to take a dollar out of each miner's pay envelope in December and a dollar more in January. He also ordered the hard coal mine operators to make similar deductions, but in January and February. Thus Mr. Lewis will have $800,000.

With this fund Mr. Lewis may be able to determine the nomination of a presidential candidate by one of the major parties. This is power which no man should have. A corporation may not make such a contribution. No individual has ever been willing to contribute such an amount of his own means. Congress should amend the corrupt practices act prohibiting use of money to subsidize any political party to the extent that Lewis subsidized the Democrats in 1936. It should be possible to get congress to take the necessary action early in the coming session, because it is the right thing to do. Also in his present mood Lewis is as likely to offer his money to the opposition party as to the New Dealers whom he largely financed in 1936.

WHO'S OILING THE WHEELS?

Dr. Joseph C. Ross, chairman of the city council health committee, is trying to find out what sort of shenanigan Corporation Counsel Hodes and President Bundesen of the board of health are up to in the paper milk carton case.

Three weeks ago the board of health recommended that the council authorize use of the paper containers. Since then the corporation counsel has been sitting on the board's resolution. Presumably, as the city's law officer, he should draft an ordinance embodying the recommendation, but he claims no one has told him what to do. It is strange that the president of the board of health and the corporation counsel are unable to get together when a matter of city business is involved. Dr. Ross thinks it strange, and threatens to call them before his committee if something doesn't happen quickly.

The wheels within wheels that seem to govern all official regulation of the Chicago milk industry have become a little more apparent than usual in the paper carton case. Dr. Ross should go ahead with the investigation he threatens. He might find who is supplying the oil for the wheels.

There are at least three vested interests in the present milk setup as regards paper cartons. There are the bottle manufacturers, who stand to lose part of their market. There are the distributors, who have heavy investments in bottling machinery that would be rendered obsolete to the extent that the cartons caught the public fancy. There are the milk wagon drivers, who say that cartons, which facilitate store sales, would mean fewer jobs for members of their union.

All of these parties have a right to state their case. They should state it, however, at the public hearings that Dr. Ross has proposed, not behind closed doors in the city hall.

THAT YOUNG MATHEMATICAL WIZARD.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Those Washington university mathematicians and psychologists who on Monday heard a 15 year old tobacco chewing boy from Georgia multiply one 16 digit figure by another 16 figure digit without pencil, paper or hesitation, were not so much astounded as envious. What he did without the slightest effort they claim they could do themselves—but only after the most intensive training.

Students of the human mind have a fairly simple explanation for the phenomenon. Intelligence consists of half a dozen basic faculties, such as visual memory and the ability to manipulate mathematical concepts. All of these are present in the normal mind, but in some individuals one or the other is greatly accentuated.

In an otherwise keen mind the presence of one of these faculties in a highly developed form may well mean genius. But such natural endowments by themselves are not to be envied too much. Sometimes the boy who knows the license number of every automobile in town, or who can add the numbers of the cars on a long freight as they pass, can do little else.

WHAT NEWS ON THE RIALTO?

To fight off the sophistication at Miss Cornell's opening, we spent part of one intermission ostentatiously reading the Madison [Ind.] Courier [population 9,000, circulation ?]. But nobody seemed to appreciate the symbolism of our small town antics.

* * *

Maurice Evans' full length "Hamlet," which opened in opposition, should have been news to all the bright young people now reviewing the drama in Chicago. But they flocked in a body to Miss Cornell, surprising us by such contrary conduct. Apparently the revised code is, not "follow the news," but "follow the bandwagon." Thus we live and learn.

* * *

About three years ago another interpreter of Hamlet, Leslie Howard, asked the drama critics to give Jane Cowl's conflicting première precedence over his own. So they all decided to see "Hamlet" first.

Fresh from the press of Harper & Brothers is "Julius Rosenwald: The Life of a Practical Humanitarian," by M. R. Werner, author of "Bryan," "Tammany Hall," "Brigham Young," "Barnum," etc. As we fluttered its leaves, this letter to the philanthropist, dated Feb. 18, 1930, caught our eye:

"I have noted with deep appreciation the many magnanimous gifts which you made to German war widows and orphans, as well as to German prisoners of war, before America's entry into the world war. . . . As an outward token of this appreciation I have taken great pleasure in having had forwarded to you a vase, the product of the Staatlichen porcelain works.

DEER SLAYING TIME.

Their mild eyes show the stinging lash of fear,
That sudden death will seek them out. They feel,
These tawny troops of nimble footed deer,
Bleak terror in the cruelly leveled steel
And trust no man. How free from all this kind
Of torture were the tranquil summer days!
Dark woods, clear springfed lakes, where they could find
A sheltering solitude; moss padded ways,
Thru marshlands where the pitcher plant
And waxen Indian pipe nestled to pines,
Were their safe haunts. But now the adamant
Of dull November days brings warning signs.
North winds are keen; soon warm bright blood will flow,

When Opie Read Was a Printer.

In Opie Read's early days as a journeyman printer he wandered into a little southern town, got himself a temporary job on a weekly, and then on Saturday night was short changed by the proprietor. Read calmly walked over to a locked up page form, tilted against one leg of a type case, and kicked it into exceedingly thoro "pi." The editor screamed in rage.

"I'll expose you in next week's paper," he yelled. "I'll tell just what happened and you won't be able to get a job anywhere in the United States!"

"Shucks!" said Read, "I can walk outside of your circulation in five minutes."

STAND-IN MAN.

Once I loved a sailor,
Tall and bold and gay,
But out he went upon his ship
One rather empty day.

Then I loved a soldier,
Think I loved him most,
Until I found he'd left a girl
Behind at every post.

Now I have another
Man to take their place;
He's just a substitute, but still
A girl must save her face!

Echoes of a Proclamation.

By proclamation of his honor the mayor, the week of Nov. 12-18 has been designated as Public Library week, a period for taking thought of that anomaly among municipal institutions, which exercises no compulsions whatever upon the citizen, applies no truancy laws like the schools, puts out no fires, protects neither lives nor property, paves no streets, and cleans no alleys, and goes steadily on lending some 12 million books a year to some 600,000 patrons—and all at a cost to the taxpayer of less than a mill in the taxable dollar or 51 cents per capita per year. A long sentence, gadzooks! but a meaty one. Sir, we give you the public library!

Old Skyscrapers Need a Shave.

MIRROR WRITING AND LEFTHANDEDNESS.

BIOGRAPHERS tell us that Leonardo da Vinci, the famous Italian painter and anatomist, was a persistent mirror writer thruout life. Each word that he penned began at the right and—as the sentences were produced—progressed toward the left. Furthermore, in order to read the script as most of us see, it was necessary to hold it before a mirror. Each letter was in reverse. In like manner the compositor can peruse a column of type and comprehend with facility the face of each letter.

Every once in a while we encounter a child who fails to make the normal correction of this reverse image. Perhaps it is a natural accompaniment of lefthandedness. If it is customary for the righthanded person to start at the left and proceed toward the right, it should be equally so for the lefthanded person to begin at the right and continue toward the left. This is emphasized by the fact that there is a far greater tendency toward mirror writing in lefthanded boys and girls.

How does the process originate? Sometimes timidity is a factor. Tots who shun the adventures of life will imitate one another and make—what to them—are the most typical movements. Many of these youngsters are poorly nourished, neurotic, and fretful. Instances are reported in which the tendency will occur for the first time when the child starts to school. Overawed by the wonder of it all, confusion may result, and altho letters and figures may have been fashioned accurately at home, the pupil will shrink into his shell and follow the line of least resistance. In other words, even tho he commences to make the accepted response—seeing things as we see them—the habit is not deeply enough entrenched to last. When fear appears he goes back to the point where only instinct comes to his rescue.

There is nothing organically wrong with the eyes, altho farsightedness—which is reasonably common—may lessen the vision somewhat. As a rule, glasses will not help altho they are always advised if the inability to recognize things at an average distance is obvious.

Now, many of these children will overcome the condition themselves and—with a little encouragement—they will be able to record properly their school exercises. There is probably much more mental confusion when an attempt is made to change a lefthanded patient to a right handed one. Some who perform backward fashion in the kindergarten will—thru example, watching others, and reading the blackboard—discontinue the practice.

Nevertheless, some will retain the power to write both ways. The case is reported of a young woman—unusually cultured—who could inscribe simultaneously the same word with each hand—the right normal and the left the opposite. An able business man of my acquaintance can write with equal facility with either hand.

The broad assertion that these children are subnormal can scarcely be substantiated. We would have to include the famous artist who painted "The Lord's Supper." The fact is, however, that occasionally some mental difficulty may be associated with this phenomenon.

Occasionally a lad who has learned to use the pen will develop the transposed style, if instruction is discontinued. The example is cited of a 10 year old boy who received no schooling whatsoever for three years. In fact, his entire period of education was less than a year. No abnormality was detected, however, in the structure of the alphabet or when he formed words such as "cat," "see," etc. Upon reëntering class the letters were rightly constructed but in reverse order. It acquired several months of training to readjust the visual image.

The relationship between mirror writing and lefthandedness is acknowledged. Rarely is it desirable to force a change in one with whom the peculiarity is fixed. One investigator reported that when 451 righthanded persons were requested to use their pencils with the left hands, 23 wrote mirrorwise. With these the character of the writing was identical. In other words, one could perceive that both formations were inscribed by the same person.

BUERGER'S DISEASE.

M. T. writes: 1. What is endarteritis obliterans?
2. Is it the same as Buerger's disease?
3. Is there any known cure?

REPLY.

1. A gradual narrowing—which leads in some cases to complete blocking of some of the very small blood vessels.
2. Yes.
3. While no cure is known there are many helpful procedures. We have a leaflet on this distressing condition which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TRY A HARNESS.

R. G. writes: Can a person overcome the habit of sleeping with the mouth open? The tonsils and adenoids have been taken out.

REPLY.

Lying on the side rather than the back is advised. In desperate cases some form of harness or other contraption may be placed under the chin and over the head to keep the lower jaw in place. As Uncle Willis says, "Why can't I learn to keep my big mouth shut?"

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 40 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. As a member of the house of representatives of the United States how long would your term be?
[a] Four years. [b] Two years. [c] Seven years.

3. Where is Ellis Island?

4. Of what country was Joseph Conrad, the novelist, a native?
[a] Britain. [b] Poland. [c] Germany.

INDIA A BRITISH PROBLEM.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—There is disturbance in India over the refusal of the British government to grant the right of dominion status [similar to the Canadian government] to India. Mahatma Gandhi and a few other Indian leaders are suspicious of present rather vague promises, for they loyally supported the British in the last war with the hope of being rewarded by being given freedom, but were merely rewarded with some unjust measures such as the terrible Punjab atrocities, including the Amritsar massacre, comparable in cruelty to anything that Hitler has done in Germany.

I do not say that this spirit of British imperialism represents the British people as a whole [for there are many who themselves sympathize with India], but unless the better side of England gains the upper hand there may be a crisis which might develop a parallel to the American revolution, and Gandhi and other Indian leaders may be to India what such men as George Washington and Samuel Adams were to America.

PRISON CLEAN AND ORDERLY.

Riverside, Ill., Oct. 23.—I had the opportunity of going thru the Stateville prison a few days ago and I wish to let others know that it is an institution of cleanliness. I was astounded at the cleanliness of so large an institution. I have been in many institutions, both here and abroad, and I have never encountered such an orderly and clean place.

The warden and his staff are to be commended upon their achievement of being able to keep it in such excellent condition.

C. BURTON JOHNSON.

WANTS MORE LIKE ALD. "JIM."

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Referring to your editorial headed "Keep on Hollering, Jim": Ald. McDermott knows the milk business, and when he speaks in the council he knows what he is talking about. It is too bad that we haven't a good many more like Jim in the city council who have the courage to speak their piece. Jim is loved and respected by all who know him, and his batting average is 1,000.

From one of his many thousands of admirers.

MR. LEWIS' MINERS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—If John L. Lewis has so much money why doesn't he care for the hungry miners? Most of them are working only a few days a week and lots of them live on public charity. Yet he has the nerve to raise a political war chest while the rest of the country pays for the hungry miners.

J. W. KELLOGG.

BUT THE PATIENTS DIED.

Woodstock, Ill., Nov. 3.—In reply to comments on the Manteno situation, I wish to say there is no reason why the staff doctors should be barred from practicing medicine. These physicians were performing their duties efficiently in the treatment of typhoid fever. If not for their efforts the epidemic would have been far more uncontrolable. The rectification of the water supply situation is entirely out of their jurisdiction.

The physicians are not personal friends of Gov. Horner. They are appointed on their merits by the state alienist and state criminologist, both nationally famous M. D.'s, and are then required to pass a civil service examination.

Relatives of the Manteno patients and the Illinois public should be thankful that Manteno has such a competent staff of physicians.

HER JURY SERVICE PLEASANT.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Having just completed the service of three weeks as a juror in the Criminal court, I would like to say I enjoyed the association of the sheriffs, bailiffs, and clerks in the various courts in which I was privileged to serve. I was treated with consideration and courtesy at all times.

Contrary to what I have heard and read, they are all men and women who conscientiously are doing their jobs to the best of their ability.

I admire the judges, whom I have found to be most sincere and fair at all times.

LELA HOWARD.

HE IS DISGUSTED.

Wilmette, Ill., Nov. 5.—Nothing disgusts me quite as much as isolationist cartoons by McCutcheon, such as that in Sunday's paper and the editorials along the same line. THE TRIBUNE'S provincialism and bias seem to me peculiarly out of place in a city of the importance and composition [as to European extraction] of the city of Chicago.

It seems to me stupid to try to hide the fact that we are in the same boat with Europe and with Asia whether we like it or not.

DONALD H. MAXWELL.

TO KEEP OUR YOUTH AT HOME.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 4.—We wish to commend you on your recent editorial, "No Hostility to England." Our administration is plainly unneutral, and since the passage of the arms embargo repeal we fear this country will become involved in the war.

We hope you will continue to put up a vigorous fight to keep our American youth from being herded into the slaughter pens of Europe.

PRESSURE ON WORKERS?

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The community fund is a worthy agency for relief, and every one financially able should contribute without stint, but when a head of a large corporation [railroad] instructs his fellow workers in a letter over his signature to contribute according to their salaries the invitation smacks of Hitlerism.

No contribution accepted by the managers of this fund given under such circumstances will be a credit to the division responsible for same

BLOOD CURDLING STRIPS.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The recent letter, "Comics That Are Not Comics," voices my sentiments. These strips, "Dick Tracy," "Smilin' Jack," and even "The Gumps" are not humorous, but real tragedies.

I remember when "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Beauty and the Beast" were struck from the list of children's stories as being too harrowing and exciting. Now these blood curdling strips are dished out wholesale as so-called comic strips.

What are the Parent-Teacher associations doing that this has not come to their attention?

THE WHIPPLETREE.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Apparently the editor of your "Test Your Facts" column and Mr. Webster were never farmers, as neither of them "knows his whippletrees." The swinging bar to which the traces of a harness are fastened is a singletree, and a singletree is not, as your editor apparently thinks, and as Mr. Webster states, the same as a whippletree.

A whippletree is a swinging bar attached to the tongue of a two horse vehicle to which two singletrees are fastened—one at each end.

COULD FAIR SEX RESIST?

Chicago, Nov. 2.—In case your readers missed the article saying that France is sending Charles Boyer as an allied propagandist to the United States to lecture to women's clubs, I hope you print this letter:

The French idea is that millions of American women couldn't resist Mr. Boyer, and perhaps it is so. Then if England sent over Ralph Richardson and Robert Donat—well, how could we remain neutral? This will be a unique war, verily.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Nov. 8, 1914.

[103d day of world war; 69th day of present war.]

LONDON.—The admiralty announced the occupation of Fao, a Turkish port in the Persian gulf. A military force from India landed with a British naval detachment after the Turkish guns had been silenced by British naval guns.

LIMA, PERU.—The German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, which aided in destroying three British cruisers off the Chilean coast, were reported captured by a Japanese squadron off the coast of Peru.

PETROGRAD.—The Armenians were reported rising against Turkey, realizing that perhaps Russia and her allies would aid them in throwing off the Turkish yoke. They offered their services to the Russian Caucasian army which invaded Turkey.

PARIS.—Violent night and day attacks by the German forces on the western front southeast of Ypres were repulsed with heavy German losses by the French, who gained more ground than they lost. The British expeditionary force also successfully repulsed a heavy German attack in the German effort to reach Calais.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

FOREIGN ESTATES.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—My grandfather lived in the state of Mississippi and owned land in the state of Texas.

1. If he died in Mississippi, would the land be divided among his heirs according to the laws of Mississippi or according to the laws of Texas?

2. I am heir to an estate in England. Can you inform me whom to write to regarding the estate and the establishing of my claim?

O. O. R.

1. If he resided in Mississippi at the time of his death, his personal property would be controled by Mississippi law. His real estate would be controled by the law where it is situated.

2. Depends largely on clues in your possession. It seems probable that a letter addressed "Clark of Probate Court" at the nearest large city would be delivered. If not, you can try writing to the American consul.

Power Output Is Reduced by Lack of Rain.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 7.—The Tennessee Valley authority is praying for rain. Nature recently has gone on a sitdown strike and it is conjectured here that this may lead to a TVA move for more storage dams or more steam plants to aid the hydro-electric plants and protect them in case of future rain walkouts.

A view taken by some experts is that Senator George Norris [R., Neb.], parent of Norris dam, broke the ice in Washington, D. C., recently by whooping it up for more steam capacity in the Muscle Shoals area, where the nitrate plant is located, as a national defense measure. Many regard the term national defense as camouflage for deficiencies of nature.

The drouth has reduced the crop of kilowatts at 152 million dollars' worth of dams, as well as crops on land, and today one-fourth of TVA's electric energy is generated by steam.

Flow Is 7,000 Cubic Feet.

Norris reservoir is 40 feet below its filled level and is lined with dry banks 40 feet high. The filled level is 1,020 feet above sea level and today the level is 980 feet. Water at the rate of 7,000 cubic feet a second is rushing thru the turbines and down the Clinch river to help keep power houses moving on dams on the Tennessee river and to keep a navigable depth of six and a half feet below Pickwick dam, last down river dam so far completed.

Because of the September-October drouth, however, the water discharged has been insufficient to keep the lower plants producing at capacity.

Norris dam, keystone of the TVA and its 520 million dollar experiment in an ordered society, was built at a cost of $30,749,776. It has a power installation of 100,800 kilowatts. In October it yielded 75 to 80 per cent of its rated capacity.

The present reservoir level is at almost the exact spot called for on the TVA engineers' curves for the level at this period.

Holds Flood Season Waters.

Theoretically Norris holds back water in flood season and releases it in dry season. Every year the level is pulled down before the winter rains, and when storage starts the power plant closes down, no water going thru the dam. The reservoir can go to a possible low level of 880 feet above sea level, the engineers assert. Normally Norris should be down to its minimum point between Dec. 15 and Dec. 30, ready to store water from the rainy and flood season.

Twelve dams, including Hales Bar recently bought from the Tennessee Electric Power company, are in the original TVA project. Eight of these are on the Tennessee river, of which five, including Hales Bar, are completed. All the dams now are shy on kilowatt production.

Pickwick, which cost $21,837,000, indicates the deficiency. It has an installed capacity of 72,000 kilowatts. In October it produced 4½ million kilowatt hours, which engineers say is the equivalent of 56,000 kilowatts at 24 hours a day operation.

Wilson Cost 34 Million.

Wilson dam, which is on the books for $34,989,790, has a power installation of 184,000 kilowatts, greatest of the river. Today nature is allowing it less than a 50 per cent crop of kilowatts. In October Wilson's output was 65½ million kilowatt hours, equivalent to 88,000 kilowatt performance.

Wheeler dam, which cost $31,586,564 and has an installed capacity of 64,800 kilowatts, last month produced the equivalent of 42,000 kilowatts at 24 hours a day operation.

Other dams which also are showing underproduction are Guntersville, whose capacity is 48,600 kilowatts and whose October output was equal to 33,000; Hales Bar, capacity 50,483, October output 22,500; Blue Ridge, capacity 20,000, output 3,000; Ocoee No. 1 and No. 2, capacity 18,000, output 14,000.

Chickamauga dam is expected to be opened in January. Hiwassee is a storage and power dam on the river by the name. Work is in progress on dams at Gilbertsville and Watts Bar, and dams are proposed a Coulter Shoals and Fontana, on the Little Tennessee.

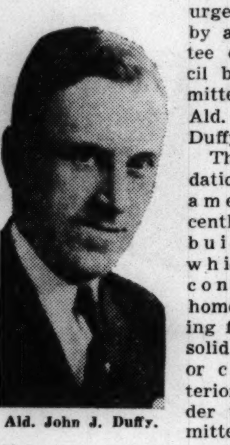
COUNCIL GROUP URGES EASING BUILDING CODE BAN ON BRICK VENEER

Construction of brick veneer dwellings in certain areas in Chicago was urged yesterday by a subcommittee of the council building committee, headed by Ald. John J. Duffy [19th].



Ald. John J. Duffy.

The recommendation would amend the recently completed building code which prohibits construction of homes not having fireproof or solid brick, tile, or concrete exterior walls. Under the subcommittee's proposal brick veneer homes or single family dwellings, not more than two stories or 30 feet high, could be constructed in a block 51 per cent or more of which now is composed of frame dwellings.

A second building committee subcommittee, headed by Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], took under advisement a proposal that the city limit the height of commercial, apartment, and hote' buildings.

NIGHT CLUB GIRL SENT TO JAIL AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Miss Ginger Faye, 22 years old, 3847 Huron street, was sentenced yesterday to five days in the county jail for reckless driving by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Safety court. Her driver's license was suspended for 90 days. Miss Faye, a night club entertainer, struck a parked car in the 4100 block of South Sacramento avenue on the morning of Aug. 17. She said she had been working all night and did not know how the accident occurred.

Leroy Cousins, 4101 Wabash avenue, was sentenced to 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated on Oct. 11. His license was suspended for six months.

1,619,627 Illinois Autos Registered in 10 Months

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes reported today that Illinois passenger car registration for the first 10 months this year totaled 1,619,627 or 57,515 more than in the corresponding months of 1939, and 51,852 more than for all of last year. Hughes said collections as of Oct. 31 totaled $23,665,357 or $2,700,189 more than on the same date a year ago. The number of truck, trailer, motorcycle, dealers, and chauffeurs' licenses also increased, Hughes said. The secretary said 2,518,338 drivers' licenses had been issued along with 16,500 duplicate driving permits.

RAILROAD SUES STREET CAR LINE OVER COLLISION

When a railroad train and a street car collide, you'd expect the street car to get the worst of it. But that's not what happened last Jan. 30, according to a suit filed in Circuit court yesterday by the Grand Trunk Western railroad against the receivers for the Chicago Surface lines. In this collision in the village of Mount Greenwood, the street car was moving at excessive speed and crashed into the locomotive, shaking up the train crew while no one in the street car was hurt, the bill said. The railroad asks $3,000 damages.

Police Will Start Drive Today on Angle Parking

Police will begin a drive today against angle parking in State street between Archer avenue and Cermak road. Acting Captain Bernard Corcoran of the Central station said he had received a number of complaints of angle parking.

WAUKEGAN AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES; 6TH IN 1939

George Guzauski, 32 years old, 633 8th street, Waukegan, died in the Victory Memorial hospital in the suburb yesterday of injuries incurred Oct. 20 when he ran against the side of an automobile driven by Daryl Owens, 21, 1306 Clarkson street, Waukegan. The accident happened on Sheridan road, near Washington street, Waukegan.

Guzauski's death was the 6th automobile fatality in Waukegan this year. Last year Waukegan won national honors among cities of its size with only one death. The fatality record was set in 1935 with seven.

A pedestrian identified thru papers in his pockets as William Aten, 50 years old, 730 West 61st street, was injured fatally when he was struck by an automobile last night at 108th street and Cicero avenue in Oak Lawn. He died on the way to the Little Company of Mary hospital. The driver was C. J. Weiser, 3245 Euclid avenue, Berwyn.

Charles William Molter, 22 years old, 1409 Lincoln street, Evanston, died in St. Francis' hospital of injuries received Sunday in an automobile accident in Touhy avenue near Central Park avenue, Evanston. His automobile and one driven by Walter Wissert, 5908 North Campbell avenue, collided.

Marian Jadwin, 62 years old, 818 Altgeld street, died last night in the county hospital of injuries he suffered earlier in the day when he was struck by a truck in front of 931 North Sangamon street. The driver was Amato Kelly, 21, of 539 West 16th street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 727 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 557 were killed in Chicago where 18,925 were injured in the same period.

Three Killed in Auto Crash Near Norris City

Eldorado, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Three Springerton, Ill., men were killed and a fourth was injured tonight in a collision between their automobile and a coal truck on highway 45 south of Norris City. Fred Smith, 37 years old, and Herschel Rockett were killed instantly, and John Tucker, about 25, died a short time later in a hospital here. Fred Lichtenberger suffered a fractured skull. The driver of the truck was not injured.

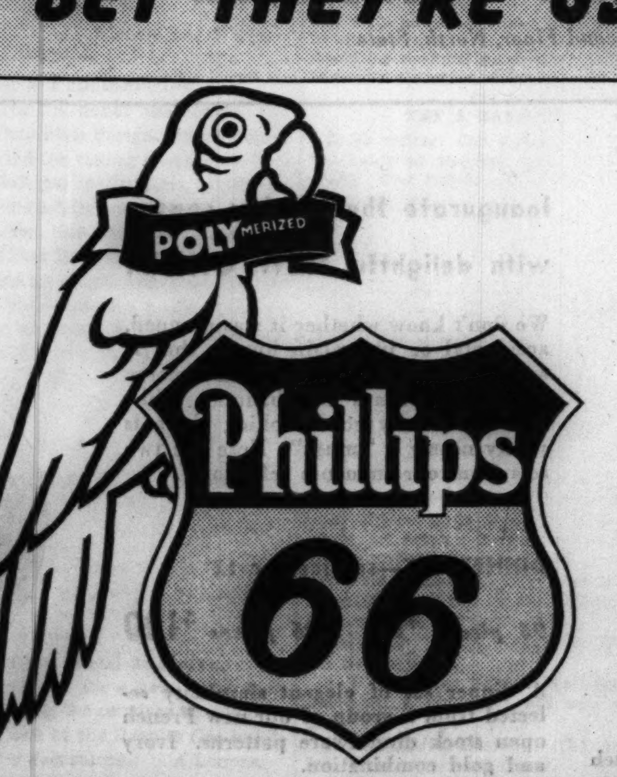
"NOBODY'S HOME YET!

"MOTOR WOULDN'T START

"BET THEY'RE USING LOW-TEST GAS AGAIN"



The kid's right! It's a safe bet that the gasoline in the tank is not "hot" enough when any engine—in good mechanical condition—begins giving starting trouble as the weather gets colder.

It's an even safer bet that Phillips 66 Poly Gas will give you extra fast starting even on coldest days . . . because this sensational gasoline is extra high test!

More, no other gasoline will so consistently give you such rapid starts, because no other gasoline so consistently leads all others in high test quality.

Best of all, Phillips 66 Poly Gas costs nothing extra, since Phillips is the World's Largest Producer of natural high test gasoline.

Why not get a demonstration in your own car of the difference this lively motor fuel will make? Check how it does away with starting trouble. Note the faster warm-up. The improvement in power and pick-up. The gain in smoother running. Besides, mileage is increased by the sharp reduction in the need for wasteful choking.

Yes sir, the way to find out how to run your car for less this winter is to stop for a trial tankful of self-demonstrating Phillips 66 Poly Gas, at any Orange and Black 66 Shield.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments.

Don't let Denture Breath and stains shout "False Teeth"

DENTISTS SAY···USE POLIDENT

Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, a powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor.

Polident makes breath sweeter—plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene.

BELIEVE INSANE WOMAN KEY TO CRATER MYSTERY

Ex-Showgirl's Mind Gone Since Judge Vanished.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—Hidden in the clouded memory of a former Broadway showgirl, now a patient in the Pilgrim State hospital, Brentwood, N. Y., may lie the answer to the nine year riddle of the disappearance of State Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater, a New York lawyer believed today.

Emil K. Ellis, counsel for the widow of the long missing judge, said he would seek a court order tomorrow for permission to interview the patient, whom he identified as June Brice, whose whereabouts, too, had been something of a mystery to investigators for the last eight years.

"I believe she can tell us what happened to Justice Crater," said Ellis. "This discovery foreshadows dramatic developments."

Has Picture of Judge.

He hoped to clear the woman's memory—if only momentarily—by showing her pictures of herself as a showgirl eight years ago, and of Crater, taken about the same time.

Ellis made it clear he did not believe Miss Brice had any connection with Crater's actual disappearance, but he explained, "Our investigation over a period of nine years shows that Justice Crater visited Miss Brice's apartment the night he disappeared."

He is representing Crater's widow, Mrs. Stella Crater Kunz, in an action seeking to collect double indemnity of $60,000 on four insurance policies, on the grounds that Crater was slain.

Crater Legally Dead.

Ellis said one of the theories upon which he was working was that Crater, after leaving the woman's apartment the night of Aug. 6, 1930, was taken for a ride by gangsters attempting to extort $50,000 from him.

Crater was recently declared legally dead, only after long controversy in the courts.

Dr. Harry J. Worthing, superintendent of the hospital, refused to permit Ellis to talk to the woman registered there as Jean Covell. He told Ellis he doubted whether the patient would be of much help, since her mind was badly damaged.

Woman Is Incoherent.

Ellis said Dr. Worthing talked with the woman last night and that she was incoherent and rambling.

Meanwhile, Miss Brice's mother, Mrs. M. E. Holstein, 71 years old, in her home in Columbus, O., said her daughter repeatedly had refused to discuss Crater's disappearance.

She dated Miss Brice's mental difficulties from the time of Crater's disappearance, and pleaded that they stop bothering her.

COLORED LEADER SLAIN; 2D DEATH IN FEUD POLITICS

Mound Bayou, Miss., Nov. 7 (AP).—Eugene P. Booze, Negro Republican leader who was shot from ambush here last night as he was leaving his office, died today in a Greenville hospital.

Booze, before he died, attributed the shooting to political jealousy in a local feud in this town comprised wholly of Negroes. His chauffeur, Andrew Polk, 29, was wounded.

Several weeks ago a sister-in-law of Booze, Stella Montgomery, was shot and killed by police in Booze's home. Officers declared the woman threatened them with a butcher knife when they tried to arrest her for violating a court order to stay out of the Booze home.

Youth Admits Raising Denomination of Money

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Clayton J. Heisel, 22 years old, of Doylestown, Wis., pleaded guilty in federal court to an indictment charging him with altering federal obligations with intent to defraud. Judge Charles E. Woodward deferred sentence until Dec. 4. Heisel is said to have raised several one dollar bills to appear as bills of larger denomination and passed them in taverns in Rockford. He told the court he was trying to obtain money to continue his education.

Hijackers Seize Truck, Steal Butter and Eggs

Two hijackers stopped a butter company truck last night at 61st street and Stony Island avenue. They took $20 from the driver, William Kareiva, and put him out. An hour later the truck was found at 64th and Morgan street, minus its cargo of two cases of eggs and 60 pounds of butter.

LEGAL BOOKIES IN LOOP URGED BY CRIME BOARD

The Chicago Crime commission yesterday recommended legislation to permit legalized handbooks in the loop. The commission said public opinion on horse race gambling can be summarized in the words of the foreman of the jury that recently acquitted four men accused of operating a handbook.

The jury foreman said it was deemed unfair to permit the wealthy to make bets legally at race tracks while those who cater to bettors of lesser means are declared law violators.

The crime commisison urged a statutory amendment that would permit racing corporations to open branches in the loop. Such a provision, said the commission, would remove the discriminatory features of the present law and at the same time eliminate the most effective argument that the gamblers' defense counsel have today. While waiting for passage of such legislation, the commission suggested, the police should go back to the old system of arresting every patron of a horse parlor.

QUIZ 4 SUSPECTS IN $350,000 N. Y. GEM THEFT RING

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—New York police, climaxing a years' search for a jewel theft ring, questioned three men and a woman tonight and announced their efforts might solve every large gem theft in New York City in recent years. The value of the loot was estimated to be at least $350,000.

Representatives of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and detectives said they took the three men and the woman to a secret hideout for questioning. A fourth man, arrested at his sickbed, was taken to Fordham hospital and placed under guard in the prison ward. He was booked as George Stern of New York City and charged with receiving stolen goods.

Co-Defendant of McGarry Is Jailed to Await Trial

Sam Brin, a saloonkeeper, was lodged in the county jail yesterday to await trial Monday before Judge Joseph A. Graber. Brin was unable to supply bail of $30,000. He was indicted with Judge Eugene L. McGarry of the Municipal court on charges of conspiracy growing out of alleged irregularities in the scheduling of bail bonds. Brin was returned Monday from Cincinnati, O., where he was arrested Saturday.

End of a Gang

Two years ago last Aug. 25, Detective Timothy O'Connell made a single-handed capture of three armed robbers. The arrests led to the discovery and conviction of the gang led by Sarah [Wild Cat] Caccavallo, 19 years old. Only one suspected member of the gang, Andrew Turek, escaped.

Last night O'Connell and his squad became suspicious of the two occupants of an automobile at Morgan and Taylor streets, and after a short chase arrested them. One gave the name of Andrew Burke, 501 South Ashland avenue. O'Connell found no Burkes at that address, but did find a Mrs. Andrew Turek and her two small children.

O'Connell went back to the Maxwell street station, where the suspects were being held. Still with no thought of the Wild Cat gang, the detective said to Burke: "Your name's Turek, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the prisoner, "and you're O'Connell. You've been looking for me for two years."

Orion, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—The Rev. D. S. McCown, 91 years old, retired minister and former Orion resident, died yesterday in Quincy. He was born in Ohio June 13, 1848, and came to Orion with his parents when 6 years old.

PENDERGAST AID QUITS JOB; FREED OF FRAUD CHARGE

Kansas City, Nov. 7 (AP).—David E. Long, presiding judge to the Jackson county court and key lieutenant of the Tom Pendergast machine at the courthouse, resigned today. The county court is an administrative body similar to a board of supervisors. Long was indicted on charges of misappropriating county funds to improve a building owned by his sons. He has been tried three times, one jury acquitting him, the others being unable to agree. Another trial was pending. Boss Pendergast now is in the federal penitentiary serving 15 months for income tax evasion.

State Attorney General Roy McKittrick announced the Long resignation in court and moved for dismissal of charges against the judge. "The disposal of this case is not prompted by my conviction that the defendant is innocent," McKittrick told the court. "I am fully convinced that he is guilty as charged. It is my conviction that under the circumstances that public interests be best served by elimination of Long as presiding judge of the County court and dismissal of these cases."

Note Threatens Kidnaping; Police Suspect Schoolboy

Mrs. Alvin Perkins, 6117½ South Racine avenue, yesterday found under her door a note demanding that she leave $2,000 near the corner mail box. Otherwise, the note threatened, her son, George, 4 years old, would be kidnaped, and both she and the child killed. Police said the note was couched in such extravagant language as to suggest that a schoolboy had written it. Mrs. Perkins' husband is unemployed.

Grocery Owner Is Found Beaten to Death, Robbed

Belleville, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Herman Kirchhoefer, owner of a grocery, was found beaten to death today in his truck, parked near his store. His skull was fractured. Police expressed the opinion robbery was the motive for the attack. Kirchhoefer, 53, was said to be in the habit of carrying large sums of money with him. His two wallets were missing.

DENIES DEFENSE PLEAS TO QUASH FIX PLOT CASE

Federal Judge Patrick D. Stone yesterday overruled two motions made by five defendants charged with conspiracy to fix alcohol tax cases. The defendants are Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, former assistant United States District attorneys; Attorney Alfred E. Roth, Anthony Horton, colored, a bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, described as a peddler of illicit alcohol.

One defense motion was to quash the indictments on the ground that the federal grand jury which returned them was improperly drawn because there were no women on it. Judge Stone, who came here from Madison, Wis., to hear the case, refused the motion because it was not shown that the exclusion of women prejudiced the defendants' rights.

The other motion was to grant the defense the right to interview witnesses who had testified before the grand jury. The court ruled that these witnesses had not yet been released from their secrecy oaths. The hearing was continued to Nov. 14, when the defendants will file demurrers to the indictments.

EYE CIVIL SERVICE STATUS OF STAFF AT ST. CHARLES

State's Attorney Charles A. O'Connor's investigation of the St. Charles School for Boys turned yesterday to the civil service status of the 200 employés running the unwalled institution, from which 13 inmates escaped a week ago.

The Kane county official said this angle may yield important clews to the wholesale leave-taking of last Wednesday and 63 previous escapes this year. Supt. William T. Harmon has not yet complied with a request for a list of all employés, but O'Connor said he would have this information when he needs it.

BIGGER CROWDS ATTEND BIGGER AUTO EXHIBIT

Credit Acquisitive Interest for Increase of Visitors.

BY HAL FOUST.

More persons are going to the 40th annual Chicago Automobile show than ever attended any of the previous yearly exhibitions. Last night the four day total was announced as 151,000, and the event will continue five more days, from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m., thru next Sunday. The total for the eight day show of 1938 was 310,000.

Michael J. Lanahan, chairman of the Chicago Automobile Trade association's show committee, yesterday attributed the swollen attendance to an acquisitive interest in the 1940 motor cars. He said that sales were running 25 per cent over a year ago.

More to See This Year.

There is also more to see this year. A stage presentation, at 3:30 and 9 p. m. each day is a song and dance act with a cast of a hundred.

Exhibition booths, in addition to the new models, have vivid, moving demonstrations of engineering advancements. Knowledge of transmissions and engines seems to be as common today as was knowledge of horse flesh among the slave owners of the prewar south.

The motor show offers a rudimentary mechanical education for easy and pleasant assimilation. A bare recitation of the mechanical exhibits is impressive, and might serve as a guide to the 189,000 persons who are expected to attend the show during the next five days.

Mechanical Exhibits.

They are:

CADILLAC-LA SALLE—Stripped chassis.

CROSLEY—Midget vehicles.

DE SOTO—Walkup to a drive wheel, instruments, and controls complete, without climbing into a car; a cutaway chassis.

FISHER BODY—The 1940 and older types of auto glass.

GRAHAM—A supercharger.

HUDSON—A tipped and opened sedan.

MERCURY—Same as for the Lincoln-Zephyr.

PACKARD—An engine rated at 180 horse power. Professional models pose for candid cameras.

PLYMOUTH—Cutaway chassis; coil springs; gears for customers to shift with finger tips.

WILLYS—Flashing signs recite a sales talk.

Only a fraction of the show patrons are potential 1940 car owners. The others go for the entertainment and to learn about automobiles generally and the new models in particular.

Auto Show Notes

Women are showing more interest in the new models than ever before, said G. I. Smith, Great Lakes regional manager for Chevrolet. "I never have seen so many women getting in and out of the cars," he said. "They examine the upholstery, poke the seats to feel how soft they are, and try the gear shift lever." Smith said women visitors have been intrigued by an elaborate electrically lighted display in which amber colored mirrors fold back and colorful winter and spring scenes appear in rotation in their stead. The display is a background for one of the 1940 model cars.

Crowds at the show appear to be in more of a buying mood than in many years, L. D. Cosart, general sales manager for Plymouth, said yesterday. "People go from one exhibit to another and one can hear them compare the features they have seen," he said. "Buying is on a highly competitive basis. This year there seems to be more real buyers instead of merely the curious."

One of the attractions at the show is a working display of Oldsmobile's new hydra-matic power transmission and automatic gear shifting. The device does away with the clutch and the clutch pedal. All the driver has to do is operate the accelerator.

"We are greatly pleased with the way sales are going at the show," said Henry Levy, president of the Studebaker Sales company of Chicago. "Sales currently are about double the volume at this time last year."

CHANNEL ROAD GIVEN COUNTY BY SANITARY BOARD

The county yesterday took over jurisdiction of the 4.9 mile stretch of north shore channel road from Devon avenue to Railroad avenue in Evanston. Deeds for a hundred foot right of way including the highway were transferred to the county board by the sanitary district, which will continue to furnish lighting on the road.

The sanitary district also turned over to the county 26½ acres of ground and buildings which constitute the abandoned Maywood sewage works. The buildings will be leased to the forest preserve at nominal figures for storage warehouses.

Oak Park Obeys Ordinance Prohibiting Night Parking

Oak Park residents are observing the new ordinance which forbids automobile parking in streets between 2:30 a. m. and 6:30 a. m., Police Chief Benjamin Barsema announced yesterday. When the new law became effective on Nov. 1, a total of 170 tickets was left on automobiles that morning. Since then the number has declined steadily until only 13 were issued yesterday, a total of 337 for the first seven days.

SEEKS REASON FOR DELAY ON PAPER BOTTLES

Health Board Member to Make Inquiries.

Dr. Francis A. Dulak, one of the members of the board of health who voted for the resolution approving paper milk containers for Chicago, said yesterday that when the board meets tomorrow morning he will ask why no definite action has been taken.

"Three weeks ago we passed two resolutions," Dr. Dulak said yesterday. "The first recommended to the city council that the words 'single service containers' be included in the milk ordinance where provisions are now made for glass bottle containers.

"Council action on that resolution would make paper containers legal provided they met standards of the United States public health service.

"The second resolution referred the first to the corporation counsel so his office could put our first resolution in proper form and advise us as to its legality."

Then, referring the statement by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes that altho he received the resolution, he had not been asked for an opinion by the board of health, Dr. Dulak said, "I'm going to find out about that at Thursday's meeting."

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, has said the board merely voted to refer the recommendation to the corporation counsel and that he acted in accordance with the request.

The approval of paper containers was in accordance with a recent ruling of the United States public health service which lifted its previous disapproval of the containers.

The city has three suits against it in the federal court filed by Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., users of paper containers, and the American Can company and the Ex-Cell-O corporation, manufacturers of the containers. All suits seek to force the city to permit the use of the containers.

STORY OF HUSBAND'S CRUELTY BY PROXY WINS WIFE A DIVORCE

Mrs. Charlotte Mattis.

A story of cruelty by proxy won a divorce yesterday for Mrs. Charlotte Mattis, 44 years old, from Charles Mattis, 49, a mechanic. Mrs. Mattis, questioned by her attorney, Harry X. Cole, told Judge Rudolph Desort that her husband brought a man to their home last May 7.

"He told the man he would give him $5 to hit me," she said. "He handed over the money and the man swung at me, knocking me against the kitchen window, smashing it. My husband was so delighted that he offered to pay the man for slamming me thru three more windows. But I ran out."

Capital of Haiti Shaken by Quake; Property Damaged

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Nov. 7 (AP).—An earthquake of fairly severe intensity shook Port-au-Prince at 10:45 a. m. today. Only minor property damage was reported but a few persons were injured in the excitement following the tremor.

SCHICK TRADE-IN OFFER ENDS NOV. 15th

DON'T DELAY! ACT TODAY!

YOUR LAST CHANCE to get $2.75 for your Old Razor

Cash-in the old "Jalopy" scraper and START SAVING up to $10.00 A YEAR! No Blades, Brushes, Soap, Creams, Lotions

YOUR dad may once have laughed at the automobile and radio as "expensive toys". But how would you like to be without them?

You, yourself, may not believe yet, that any "new-fangled machine" can give you better, quicker shaves, for less money, than your old razor. You may not realize that more than two million modern-minded men today are shaving with Schick Dry Shavers.

Don't deny yourself this economical luxury any longer! Read how you can get this new Schick "CAPTAIN" on our liberal trade-in plan.

HURRY! OFFER ENDS MIDNIGHT NOV. 15th

To introduce this great new precision instrument—the World's Fastest Dry Shaver—Schick dealers are authorized to take in your old razor of any type and give you $2.75 credit on the $12.50, 1940 "CAPTAIN." That makes the price to you only $9.75—less than most well-groomed men spend each year on blades, soap, and other costly accessories for "wet" shaving! Inside of two years, your "CAPTAIN" will pay for itself—then it starts paying you dividends every year, in better, quicker, FREE shaves; in more comfortable skin; and in better looks.

Money-Back Guarantee

Take your old razor—any type, whether safety, straight-edge or electric—to your nearest dealer listed here. He will give you $2.75 credit for it, on a new Schick "CAPTAIN." Use the "CAPTAIN" faithfully for 30 days. If your face doesn't feel better, and look better; if your shaves are not better and quicker—just return the "CAPTAIN" to your dealer and get your money back.

THE SCHICK DRY SHAVER is powered by a real universal motor — not merely a vibrating mechanism

The shearing heads of cheap vibrator-type shavers constantly vary in operation. They cause rough uneven shaves due to fluctuations in movement of the cutter. The Schick hi-speed "frictionless" AC-DC motor delivers smooth steady power—assures a controlled cutting stroke that never varies. Result . . . a cleaner shave—no jerks—no pull.

THE MOST ADVANCED MODERN IMPROVEMENTS OF ANY DRY SHAVER

FASTER SHAVES — New hi-speed "frictionless" motor, 50% faster, more powerful than the former Schick "Standard" — operates special "Speed King" shearing head, which permits quicker yet more efficient strokes; slices whiskers at base, with absolutely no "pull," no matter how fast the stroke. If you're still a "blade-shaver" also count saving the time of lather, rub-in, lotions, etc.

CLEANER SHAVES — Exclusive design of "Speed King" Schick shearing head whisks off beard clean and close, without skin irritation. "Wedge" slots, wide at top, "feed" hairs firmly into the scissor-action; so each hair is sliced closely with no possible way to nick or cut skin as it "flows" in and out of protective slots. Clean line at "sideburns" thanks to straight-edge shearing. Trims off shaggy hairs on ears, neck.

SAFER SHAVES — You cannot nick or cut your skin with a Schick "Speed King" shearing head. So your face is never irritated even on days when you shave twice. Mechanically also, Schick "CAPTAIN" is absolutely safe; passed by Board of Underwriters. Double-insulated; "shock-proof." An ingenious oiling system practically eliminates internal friction; an exclusive feature "coil-cools" the motor, permits no "hot spots."

SAVE $5.00 TO $10.00 A YEAR —on blades, soap, lotions, etc.! Pays for itself inside of 2 years—then you shave FREE! Costs practically nothing to run. No brush—no blades—no lather—no lotions—nothing to buy! Just plug in and begin. Built for years of service, the Schick "CAPTAIN" never gets dull, actually improves with use.

Schick service stations are conveniently located everywhere. Instruction on best "shaver technique" gladly given to any Schick user.

Don't Wait to RELIEVE HEADACHE

Take Genuine Bayer Aspirin to Ease Suffering Quickly

If pain persists, see your doctor.

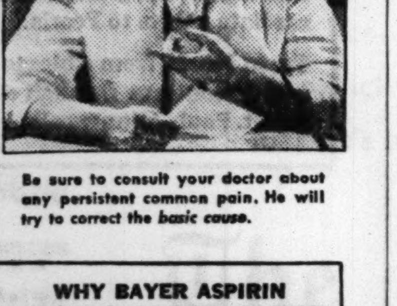
For quick relief, take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a glass of water. Repeat if necessary.



Be sure to consult your doctor about any persistent common pain. He will try to correct the basic cause.

Start following the simple directions above . . . Fast-acting BAYER Aspirin costs but 1c a tablet

There's no point now in being a martyr to headaches and the exhausting pains of rheumatism, neuritis, or neuralgia. Don't wait. Ease your suffering fast by a simple, inexpensive method that has brought wonderful relief to thousands.

The moment you feel one of these pains coming on, take 2 Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. Relief should come very quickly. Repeat according to directions on the Bayer box.

People everywhere know that the speed of Bayer Aspirin is amazing, but equally important, you can take it with confidence. When you see your own physician to treat the cause of your pain, (don't put this off!) ask him especially about this.

Thousands of normal persons have found that nothing brings more effective and dependable relief than Bayer Aspirin. Remember this, and when you buy, always ask for it by its full name, Bayer Aspirin, not for "aspirin" alone. At only 1c a tablet now, anyone can afford the fast-acting Bayer product. If you suffer from headache or rheumatic or neuritic pain, follow these suggestions and you may save many dollars.

WHY BAYER ASPIRIN "TAKES HOLD" SO QUICKLY

Drop a genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablet in water and almost instantly it touches moisture, it starts to disintegrate, and is ready to go to work. See for yourself by this test why Bayer Aspirin acts so fast!

AMERICA AWAITS DISCOVERY BY A LOT OF TOURISTS

Resorts Expect Best Year Since Depression.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

America is to be rediscovered this winter—not by a Genoese navigator, but by Americans. The uncertainty of travel in the old world, combined with the attractiveness of travel in the new, promises to result in the heaviest "See America First" movement since the depression set in 10 years ago.

Thus the war will reroute, rather than rout, the sightseers and the vacationists.

"American tourists may be diverted," Douglas Malcolm, travel expert, said yesterday, "but they can't be stopped."

All Americas to Benefit.

Mr. Malcolm predicted that all three Americas—North, South, and Central—would benefit.

"The Caribbean and the Spanish Main will be the goal of many whose vacation time is limited," he said, "while longer voyages along the east and west coasts of South America will attract the more seasoned globetrotters. Cuba, Guatemala, and Hawaii expect to hang up new records as tourist centers. Porto Rico and other West Indies islands will have an active season. Business in Bermuda is picking up."

Mexico Trebles "Industry."

With travel confined to this side of the Atlantic, Mexico hopes to treble its tourist industry within the coming year. The National Railways and the national tourist bureau are combining forces to bring about a 36 hour schedule from St. Louis to Mexico City. Additional air conditioned trains are to be placed in service between the Mexican capital and the American border.

Meanwhile, travel in the Pacific is returning to normalcy. Bookings for passage between the west coast and Honolulu have been especially strong.

In this country the centers of interest will be Florida, the gulf coast, and the southwest. De luxe trains headed for Florida are to start running out of Chicago Jan. 1.

Fêtes and Fiestas Galore.

Fairs and fiestas designed to be of interest to the vacationist will dot the scenery in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and southern California.

But, while the main trend will be southward, winter sports in the north are likely to show an increasing importance in the travel industry. The ski and skate places in Canada, New England, upper New York state, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the northwest are expanding their programs in anticipation of big crowds of persons who would rather slide down a hillside in America than be blown up by a torpedo off the coast of Europe.

NEW ZEALAND'S CENTENNIAL TO START TODAY

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 7 [Special].—Far removed from the European war zone, New Zealand will hold a centennial exposition, starting tomorrow and continuing until April. The dates correspond roughly to the antipodes' summer.

The 55 acre site of the exposition is near this city. There are to be models of the geysers and thermal springs at Rotorua and of the Waitomo caves, along with exhibits by the governments of Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the Fiji Islands.

Railroad Will Conduct Winter Tours to West

Following a 24 per cent increase in its summer escorted tour business over that of a year ago, the Burlington railroad has decided to hold a series of two weeks' tours to the Pacific coast this winter. The first one will leave Chicago on Christmas day.

Travel Queries Answered

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I am interested in seeing the so-called Shasta Cascade wonderland out west. What are some of the scenic attractions there? L. M.

The Crater Lake and Lassen Volcanic National parks are the main attractions. In addition, there are millions of acres of national forests, Mount Shasta, the Trinity Alps, Lava Beds National monument, and Castle Craigs State park.

Will Nassau be open to visitors this winter? C. K. G.

Yes. Reports from the Bahamas say that the war so far has had little effect on conditions there.

Near Lake Wales, Fla. It is 205 feet high and weighs 5,500 tons. Its carillon, one of the largest and finest ever cast, has 71 bells, with 53 notes, or 4½ octaves. The tenor bell weighs 11 tons. The music is best heard from about 200 yards away. The tower reflects the atmosphere of that part of Florida. It was built of native materials, such as coquina rock, and the state's flora and fauna are pictured in carvings on the walls.

Tourist accommodations are to be had in privately run camps adjoining the lake and in hotels in nearby towns.

It is true that a clock presented to some town in North Carolina by King George III. still is on display? If so, where is it? R. J. R.

Yes. It still is keeping time in the courthouse at Hillsboro. It was presented in 1766.

How much should it cost me to make an auto tour of Texas? E. N.

It can be done quite cheaply. There are hotel and tourist camp accommodations at $1.50 a day and good meals may be obtained at between 35 and 50 cents each.

MARK OFF SIDEWALK TRAFFIC LANES TO LET GENTRY TALK IN PEACE

Louisberg, N. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—This tobacco market town has gone to bat for those citizens and country people who like to stop on the street and talk about war, politics, and hunting.

Along two of the streets the sidewalks are now marked off in three lanes. The center lane is strictly for walking purposes; the two outside ones are for the idling which is part of the pleasure of living in a southern town. A few benches have been placed in the loafing zone.

Under the new system a farmer who has come to Louisberg to sell his tobacco is in no danger of being pushed around by hurrying Saturday afternoon crowds. When he meets his friends from the next county they step over into the outer lane and there, protected by law and manners, they follow the pursuits of leisure.

The scheme works both ways. Such bustling as townspeople undertake in getting to their work may be done in the streamlined aisle. Loafers infringe on this aisle at their own risk.

MEXICO WARNS AGAINST TOURIST PRICE GOUGING

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7 [Special].—A move to prevent the gouging of Americans visiting in Mexico this winter is being made by the federal tourist department.

The department has sent warnings to all hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, and other tourist places reminding them they must not raise prices without submitting reasons and getting official consent.

Prices were ordered to be posted conspicuously in English and Spanish in all lodging houses and cafés.

Tobacco Town Is Planning Homecoming for Kay Kyser

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—This tobacco town is planning a homecoming for Kay Kyser, its most famous citizen. The orchestra leader will bring his bandsmen back to his old home town Nov. 15 for a concert.

Chicago-California Bus Line Service Is Increased

Additional bus service between Chicago and California was announced this week by R. J. O'Connor, traffic manager of the Union Pacific stages and Interstate Transit lines. Four departures are to be made daily.

HOME BOCCACCIO HATED BECOMES WRITER'S SHRINE

CERTALDO, Italy, Nov. 7 [Special].—The almost forgotten house in which Giovanni Boccaccio lived and died—and which he hated—has been restored as a memorial to his genius.

Perhaps the most misunderstood figure in the history of Italian literature, Boccaccio died in 1375, unrecognized as one of the early masters of prose and the art of dramatic story telling. Today his "Decameron" is world famous. Critics say his style and his closely woven plots influenced Chaucer and Shakespeare.

His simple home, with its red walls rising sheer from the narrow street in Certaldo, near Florence, is to become a landmark in the Tuscan hills. He was buried in the little churchyard nearby, and his tomb remained undisturbed for more than 400 years. It was destroyed in 1785 on the plea that this writer of spicy tales was unfit to lie in holy ground.

Boccaccio's hatred of his own home was shown in these lines:

"Here one laughs but seldom. The dark, silent, melancholy house takes and retains me much against my will, for here the sour and horrible aspect of an old man, frozen, uncouth, and avaricious, adds continual affliction to my saddened soul."

CANADA'S AT WAR BUT THE WELCOME SIGN'S STILL OUT

American Sportsmen Will Find No Restrictions.

BY BOB BECKER.

A number of American sportsmen who were planning trips to Canada this fall have been in doubt as to whether the war had caused any changes in the regulations governing tourists entering or leaving that country.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian travel bureau at Ottawa, this week assured citizens of the United States and of other neutral countries that they would have no difficulty whatsoever. No new regulations have been imposed or are likely to be, he said. Citizens of enemy lands will be subject to restrictions, but this will not affect the movement across the border from this country.

No Bans on Hunters' Guns.

Sportsmen may still take into and out of the dominion their rifles, shotguns, automobiles, fishing tackle, camp equipment, cameras, golf clubs, portable boats, and outboard motors, free of duty or deposit, under the same conditions as in previous years. Game or fish taken under license may be exported in the regular way.

Furthermore, an American may carry into or out of Canada an amount not exceeding $100 in Canadian, United States, or foreign currency or exchange, in any one month without permit or license. If he takes in more than $100 he must obtain at the time of his entry a certificate setting forth the amount. This certificate, obtained without charge from the customs official at the port of entry, must be produced when the tourist leaves. It will permit him to bring back an equivalent amount.

Passports Aren't Required.

Residents of this country do not require a passport to enter Canada, but they are advised to carry a copy of their birth certificate, or voter's permit, or similar evidence of citizenship. This will serve as a positive means of identification and avoid trouble when returning.

Reports from the Ontario woods east of the Soo, and especially that section around Metagama, tell of excellent bear, deer, moose, and partridge shooting. The moose and deer season in that district does not close until Nov. 25, but the last open season on partridges [ruffed grouse] closes Nov. 11.

Mike Bates, Metagama hunter, says several midwestern sportsmen this year have bagged deer weighing more than 250 pounds apiece when dressed.

NEW SPANISH CUSTOM SWEEPS PORTO RICO—IT'S DUDE RANCHING

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 7 [Special].—Dude ranches, originating in the American west, started spreading eastward several years ago. Now the vogue has come to this semi-tropical island.

Such a ranch has been established at El Semil, in the mountains near the eastern end of Porto Rico, with good views of both the Atlantic and the Caribbean. Others are projected. Under a plan fostered by ex-Gov. Blanton Winship, bridle paths for the use of the "tropical dudes" will be built to connect the various resorts.

Horseback riding has long been a favorite sport here. The mounts, produced by centuries of careful breeding, are a cross between Andalusian mares and Spanish war horses brought to the new world by the conquistadores.

Bermuda's Coral Houses Withstand Tropical Storm

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 7 [Special].—Proof that Bermuda's houses of coral stone are as sturdy as they are picturesque was seen by island residents after the recent tropical storm here. Altho the gale blew at the rate of more than 100 miles an hour, not a building was demolished or seriously damaged.

why is The Sun like a sedan?

... because it's planned for FAMILY use!

To SERVE the needs of an average, energetic family an automobile must have family capacity, must hold all the members. The Sun is planned with the same need in mind. It's a family newspaper and consequently it holds the man, the woman and the others as well.

The Sun has attracted and held a large, valuable readership throughout New York's good homes because it is an all-around, balanced newspaper. The Sun gives a full measure of attention to such serious subjects as finance and business, politics and world developments, but it also has departments and features for the family group covering the whole range of lighter interests. Wherever there's an up-to-date, worth while residential area in New York city or the suburbs—there you'll find an important group of Sun homes and families.

In selling many a product today it's essential to win over all members of the family group. That's why The Sun is such a powerful, result-getting force for advertisers. It does a complete sales job by reaching entire families—individually and as a group. And the homes in which The Sun wields influence are the New York market's high spots of volume buying.

A Witty and Zestful Account of Five Year Sojourn in Borneo Is Delight for Jaded Readers

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Agnes Newton Keith's first book is one of those delights for jaded readers, a book about a life and a place most of us know nothing about, told with the zest of honest enthusiasm and with a never-failing sense of humor. It is the record of five years she spent in Borneo, where her husband was the conservator of forests. There she found the fabled "wild man from Borneo," almost a typographical error for "mild man," but, says Mrs. Keith in explanation, "I grew up in southern California and this may be one of the reasons why the actions of the natives of other continents have neither surprised nor alarmed me."

Agnes Newton Keith.

That observation gives a taste of the author's wit, as does her only reference to her newspaper days in San Francisco when, she says, after describing a beautiful blonde in the office, nicknamed Kissy-Wissy, "Her body was molded in beautiful curves and mine was not, and we were known in the city room as Spareribs and Gravy!"

To Mrs. Keith the flora and the larger fauna of North Borneo were a never-failing source of wonder and delight. The more minute creatures that bite, burrow, and suck are imprecated roundly as she describes the assorted itches with which human flesh finds itself tortured in the jungle, for she was no Agnes-sit-by-the-fire when her husband went on expeditions into the interior. But few have written more delightedly about God's lesser works than she writes about the apes and tiny lemurlike monkeys and the creatures "created in the image of otters" in the chapter "Their Private Lives."

The otters were named, she says, jointly by herself and her English husband, Niagara Falls and Saint Niagara Falls, "in tribute to my country, and pronounced Niffles and Sniffles in tribute to his"—a characteristic and very nice touch which will be appreciated by any one who has ever heard the English pronounce Magdelene "Mawdlin" and Cholmondeley "Chumley."

The Borneo natives live in these pages sometimes deliciously, touchingly mad, but gentle rather than wild. Their oddities are no more amusingly noted by Mrs. Keith than are the caloric stiff-bosomed shirts and the stifling dinner clothes of the empire builders in the tropics.

"Land Below the Wind" is much more informative than most books of information, altho it has the quality of a book of wonders rather than of a book of facts. That is because Mrs. Keith sees not only with two eyes, but with her heart, and doesn't seem to write at all, but to speak these alluring pages. The book is as delightful as an engaging woman's feminine talk. It is illustrated by the author.

Glamor Girl of the '80s

And speaking of feminine talk! Here in this diary of Maud Rittenhouse of Cairo, Ill., is the delicious chitter chatter of a glamor girl of the 1880s who said of herself: "I'm 19, rather ugly and cute for my size, and I have more fun than any other girl in Cairo."

It is another rare find. It is a source book of Americana and of a human being. Here are the novelties and excitements which have either become commonplaces in our daily lives or exotically "antique." Here are the customs and codes which have suffered the same time change. Here, minutely pictured, are the clothes of yesteryear [but no more fantastic than today's]. Here is a life as full of fun and mischief, as exciting and as thrilling to its participants as today's is to any girl.

But however much Maud differs from today's young women, what must strike all readers of her joys and sorrows is that Maud was alive to her fingertips and that she had a supremely good time, a relation of cause and effect as evident in the 1880s at it is today and will be in the 1980s.

Maud was a flirt and an ardent member of the Women's Christian Temperance union. She had more beaux than any other girl in town, but [she chronicles] "If it takes him 15 days to answer my letter it takes me 30 to answer his. So there, Mr. Robert." The proposition that "lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine" was sternly adhered to. Beer was seldom mentioned and never imbibed in her vicinity. Indeed, Maud seems to have been one of the middle west's most effective as well as most charming reformers, and she records her spiritual triumphs as she records her social ones as belle of Cairo, simply and unaffectedly and deliciously.

"Maud" is a museum piece, in the sense that it catches the essence of its period, and yet in itself it is individually fascinating. Those who remember the '80s will chuckle with reminiscent joy over its pages, and, incidentally, "Maud" may well be the perfect Christmas present for them. The rest of us may not chuckle in the same places, but we will chuckle just as often and just as delightedly.

The journals were kept obviously without any thought of their being published. But Maud herself, 50 years after they were written, turned them over to Richard Lee Strout, her son-in-law, to be arranged and edited.

Among Current Mysteries

Many Ingredients in This.

"A Coffin for Dimitrios," by Eric Ambler. [Knopf, $2.]

Readers of Eric Ambler's "Cause for Alarm" who found it a good tale will not be disappointed if they try the latest story by this young English writer. Ambler's books are not so much murder mysteries as they are hard, crisp, intelligent novels of completely plausible yet utterly despicable persons. "A Coffin for Dimitrios" combines homicide in the near east, dope peddling in Paris, blackmail, and a gory conclusion that lacks nothing of reality. It's no book to be read at midnight when you're alone in the house. P. W.

S. S. Van Dine's Last Story.

"The Winter Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine. [Scribners, $1.75.]

This last story by Willard Huntington Wright was written just before his death. It represents the second draft of a mystery, but it's complete to the last comma. The final draft would simply have amplified and embroidered it. Philo Vance goes to Rexon Manor to prevent the owner's fabulous collection of emeralds from being stolen during a house party at which the son is host. Instead of a robbery a murder is committed, and before the plot has been unraveled another occurs, and several precious jewels disappear. Of course, Mr. Vance solves the mystery. E. W.

Wily Killer Unmasked.

"The Double Shadow Murders," by Allan McRoyd. [Greystone, $2.]

A boarding school miss is strangled on New York's 52d street. A suicide is taken as a confession of guilt until Inspector Franklin Brady of the homicide bureau discovers the means by which the time of the victim's death was set forward. He then captures the wily killer. E. T.

What They Are About

FICTION.

Blanche Fury, by Joseph Shearing [Harrison Hilton, $2.50], based on an actual crime still remembered in Norwich, portrays a morbid young English governess of the 1850s with a thirst for vengeance, position, and wealth. Joseph Shearing is a pseudonym of a well known writer.

The Dark Horse, by Will James [Scribners, $2.50], tells a story, to rival "Black Beauty," of two thorobred horses. They are thrown together by fate when still only colts and escape to roam in the wild mesa and mountainland of the west. The book is generously illustrated by the author.

Axel, by Freda Lingstrom [Little Brown, $2.50], concerns a well-to-do English bachelor of 45 who, after a wandering life, settles down and adopts a ready made family—a 10 year old girl, a slightly older boy, and a 14 year old Norwegian lad.

NONFICTION.

England's Money Lords, by Simon Haxey [Harrison-Hilton, $2.50], surveys the business interests of the men who rule England, both in the house of lords and among the members of parliament.

What's Funny and Why, by Milton Wright [Whittlesey House, $2.50], takes humor apart to reveal its psychological sources and puts it together again to show how jokes are made—and made over.

SHORT STORIES.

Dark Patrick, by Seumas MacManus [Macmillan, $2], tells of a valiant and ever victorious Irishman in fourteen brief short stories filled with folklore.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The Great O'Neill, by E. Boyd Barrett [Hale, Cushman & Flint, $2.50], lauds the Irish hero, Shane O'Neill, who inspired Ireland's policy of freedom.

With Packs and Rifles, by A. B. Callaway [Meador, $2], recounts the author's experiences as a private and a noncommissioned officer during the world war.

DRAMA.

The Best Plays of 1938-1939, edited by Burns Mantle [Dodd Mead, $3], contains the ten plays selected by Mr. Mantle as most representative and his excellent year book of the drama in America.

Havelock Ellis' Autobiography a Vivid Record

"My Life: The Autobiography of Havelock Ellis." [Houghton-Mifflin, 647 pages, $3.75.] Published a week ago yesterday.

"My Love" and not "My Life," this long, vivid autobiography might have been called, for Havelock Ellis' love lives in these pages more vividly, more intimately seen, more minutely recorded than does the biographer's life. In all of modern literature there is no more honest, no stranger chronicle of married love, in fiction or in recorded fact.

Many readers may be shocked at the chronicle, but their shock, they probably will find, will be more at the enduring quality of that love [after the first shock of finding him able to write about it at all] than that Havelock Ellis has written so fully of his married life. For the conclusion to which the best known writer on sex comes after a life of emotional turbulence with a wife who was strangely unstable emotionally, and who died practically insane, is this: "The greatest of all the revelations which my life with Edith brought me was this discovery that not only affection but the deepest passion of love can exist and develop continuously even when the relationship of sex in the narrow sense has ceased to exist . . . that passionate love . . . may continue forever in its absence and stir the heart long years after the woman who inspired it is dead."

They are both dead now, Havelock Ellis and his Edith. They had no children to resent the publication of intimate letters and details of their quarrels or emotions. Here Dr. Ellis writes almost a Greek tragedy of love, and he is at the same time coldly, scientifically intellectual and warmly, passionately emotional.

As for Havelock Ellis' own judgment of this book, he says: "I . . . chose my finest moments to write, for . . . I had from the first taken this record seriously as the most perdurable piece of work I was likely to leave behind."

To the student of the psychology of marriage this book will offer an intensely interesting, if puzzling, "case"; to fervid readers of modern novels of emotional misunderstandings between husband and wife it will be as strange as any fiction they have met; to the sentimental it will have something of an epic tang, but to the prurient it will be a flat and complete disappointment.

Writes Memoirs

Author's Mind at Work

"Personal Record, 1928-1939," by Julian Green. [Harpers, 342 pages, $3.] Published Friday.

Julian Green's journal is at the exact opposite pole from Havelock Ellis' autobiography. Julian Green's has not one purely emotional record in it, for even his apparently emotional reactions to music, religion, the theater, books, and conversation are all really intellectual. The journals are unusually intimate intellectual records, however, especially concerning the author's methods of work, his despair and rare elation in writing, the subtle intellectual urges which have produced his strange novels—like "The Dark Journey," "The Closed Garden," "Avarice House," and other novels and short stories which deal with the subtleties of the darker emotions of hatred, avarice, envy, and the fear of death.

Julian Green, who apparently goes everywhere and sees every one, rarely misses the opening of an important art exhibit or of a play, always attends the concerts every one in Paris discusses, and talks with the literary great, makes plain in these pages that he is the world's shyest human being, a passionately interested onlooker, but an unwilling actor in life's drama.

In speaking of "an appointment with two foreigners whom I was seeing for conscience's sake, as they were championing my books in their own country," he says, "I became almost dizzy with boredom." Until I finished the paragraph I thought it was about me he was writing, for my own journal [if I had kept one at the time] would have recorded the same thing about just such a meeting with him in Paris, altho at the time I thought the boredom shyness. I remember returning that day with a rather tender pity that any human being should be so painfully shy of any other human being.

"Personal Record" is interesting less as the revelation of a character than as the revelation of an artist. Here the power of the characters in a novel to make their own decisions, to become at times more real to their creator than the breathing humans about him, is told with such conviction that the reader understands the source of that sense of inevitableness which his strange tales all possess.

Julian Green writes, as you know, in French which he learned as a child in Paris, where he was born. His parents were Americans and he went to the University of Virginia and he speaks English, but he says: "I cannot write that language without feeling as tho I were trying on a garment which has not been made for me." F. B.

Authors and Their Work

Louis Bromfield was in the city for a few hours last Saturday on his way to Hollywood, where he will do a scenario "about the Salvation Army," he said, concerning the life of Gen. Booth. He lives in Ohio now on "the farm" that he wrote about so tenderly in the book of that title, and he said: "I wish you could have seen me shutting up a farm for the winter. I'm not taking any of the live stock to California with me, but I have taken two dogs as companions." "What about Senlis?" I asked. In Senlis, near Paris, is their enchanting little château and as its owners the Bromfields are the envy not only of all their American friends but even of the French. "That is rented for three years," he said, "but I hope to spend next summer there." "If there is another summer there," said I, cynically. But he answered assuringly: "There will be." He had been autographing hundreds of copies of "It Takes All Kinds" with "L. Bromfield."

Duncan Hines whose "Adventures in Good Eating" and "Lodging for a Night" [Hines, $1.50 each] are absolute necessities for motoring gourmets and those who care where they lay their heads of a night, is now doing a cook book of recipes of "distinguished dishes" which he has himself eaten. "Adventures in Good Cooking" [Hines, $1.50] it is called—and rightly.

Ogden Nash originally planned to write a foreword for "Party Menus and Recipes" [Holt, $1.50], by Margaret Hewett, whose married name is Bramble. The preface never materialized, but here is Mr. Nash's comment on the advance copy which he received.

Don't let your party be a shambles,
Read this book of Mrs. Bramble's—
As one who's battened at her board,
I loosen my belt and praise the Lord.

The Living Thoughts Library Series Adds Three New Volumes

Three new volumes have been added recently to the Living Thoughts Library series [Longmans, $1 each]. They are "Voltaire," edited by Andre Maurois; "Spinoza," edited by Arnold Zweig, and "Karl Marx," edited by Leon Trotsky. Each of these small, compact, and easy to read books is a sort of capsule condensation of the thoughts, ideas, and philosophy of the man concerned.

Maurois has selected excerpts from "Candide," "The World as It Is," "Micromegas," "Lord Chesterfield's Ear," and "Philosophical Dictionary" as representative of the works of Voltaire, and has written, as an introduction, an account of Voltaire's life. Zweig has extracted the essence of Spinoza's thought from "The Improvement of Understanding" and "Ethics." Trotsky has compiled essential passages from Marx's "Capital."

Three Worthy Novels Laid in Colonial Times

"Strife Before Dawn," by Mary Schumann. [Dial, $2.50.]

BY PERCY WOOD.

Much of what probably was the authentic American colonial spirit seems to have been recaptured in these three better-than-average novels.

"The Delectable Country" was the sort of promised land the colonial missionaries talked about and by which they meant an exalted state of mind and body. It was a queer symbolical picture which did not come clear to a troubled young river man named David Braddee for a good many years, while he was brawling and roistering on Ohio keelboats during the late 1700s.

A Pittsburgh lawyer named Brackenridge sensed something a little out of the ordinary in Braddee, but it took a pathetic little ex-barmaid to bring it out. However, by that time she was married herself and the early Pennsylvanians looked upon wedlock with a great deal of Puritan sternness. As she and Braddee work out their problems the novel grows in interest, despite some rather involved psychological reasoning on Braddee's part. Expansion of the postrevolutionary territory proceeds in tune with developments of the romance.

"Strife Before Dawn" is also laid in Fort Pitt, before and during the war. Minutely linked with the life of the times, it is first a chronicle of the Indian wars, and later of the colonists' uprising. One notes that Miss Schumann makes a special effort to stay neutral in the controversy between Indian and white brutality and achieves whatever victory may be scored for a 50-50 portrayal; half and half in the sense that both sides are deeply censored.

This novel presents a dramatic situation. A white woman is captured by the Indians in the belief that her husband has been killed and scalped. She falls in love with the chief's son, marries him, and bears his child. Then, when the white prisoners are exchanged during a lull in the warfare, her white husband appears, leading the rescuers. Something considerably above hack writing was needed to carry this theme above the believable, and whatever it took, Miss Schumann displays it.

"Blossom Like the Rose" is the work of an Englishwoman who knows a great deal of the American colonial period. Her leading character is the lame son of a brittle Scottish knight who cannot endure the scorn in his own home and emigrates to America. There he passes thru the same sort of trials, bloodshed, and cruelty that have so large a place in the Baldwin and Schumann books. Altho an unusual love affair has its place, it will likely be the photographic descriptions of both Indian and settler cruelty that will stand forth from the novel when the dramatic conclusion is reached.

Meetings and Lectures

Owen Lattimore, author of "The Mongols of Manchuria," will give a series of illustrated lectures on "Inner Asian Frontiers of China" at Harris hall, Evanston, under the auspices of Northwestern university, tonight and tomorrow, Friday, Monday, and Tuesday nights at 8:15 o'clock.

The Question.

In your reading do you prefer books of detective and adventure stories or more serious literature?

Where Answered.

The Answers.

W. B. Harrison, 1456 Fargo avenue, salesman—I prefer heavier novels to detective and adventure stories. For the latter I read magazines. When a person goes to the expense of buying a book I feel he should get something really worth reading.

Miss Jane Berman, 4356 Washington boulevard, home girl—I like detective novels and read lots of them. They are exciting and keep my mind off my troubles. It's good relaxation. Lots of important people read them for that purpose.

Kenneth McDaniel, 1304 Eddy street, solicitor—My hobby is the study of physics, and most of the books I read pertain to this subject. I developed a liking for it in high school. I can't be bothered reading light stuff or even some of the "serious" novels.

Miss Alvina Allworth, 809 Rush street, private secretary—I devote most of my spare time to the more serious type of novel. They interest me more because they come so close to life itself. A person can learn a lot about living from them.

G. P. Rock, 908 Webster avenue, salesman—I don't like detective stories. Usually they are far from being true to life, with all of their murders and superhuman sleuths. I like to read the more serious novels because they are true to life.

If You Are Thinking of Adopting a Child, This Will Be Helpful

Married couples who are thinking of adopting a child, and thousands of them are, will be interested in a book called "Adventuring in Adoption," by Lee M. Brooks and Evelyn C. Brooks [University of North Carolina Press, $2]. It answers many harassing questions.

For years the authors have kept in close touch with adopters, as well as with child placing agencies, social workers, and all those interested in the various aspects of adoption. Their findings are presented with scientific care and in simple, readable language. Mr. Brooks is professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina.

Brief Reviews of Important Recent Books

"Home from the sea," by Richard A. Bermann. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.75.]

The last years of Robert Louis Stevenson's life on the Island of Samoa in the South Seas forms the basis of this novel, translated by Elizabeth Reynolds Hapgood. Mr. Bermann says in his introduction that altho he has been faithful to biographical data he hopes this book will be read not as a biography, but as an "exotic tale whose hero is the man Robert Louis Stevenson rather than the famous author."

The whole background against which the writer moved—Vailima, the large tropical house on the side of a mountain commanding a view of the sea, and all its residents from Fanny, Stevenson's wife, and her two children, Lloyd Osbourne and Isobel Strong, to Talolo, the nut-brown native cook—are sketched on a large and vibrant canvas. Stevenson's passionate love of life and devotion to writing, his almost daily struggle against the malady that was slowly killing him, and his sincere interest in the natives and their welfare are the moving factors that make this an appealing, human story. E. W.

"Back of Beyond," by Harold Noice. [Putnam's, $3.50.]

Here is one explorer who confesses how he pays his way. He is a cameraman and his product is out-of-the-ordinary travelogs. Prints from his films complement some pretty friendly writing.

The narrative is stimulating, however, particularly when Mr. Noice expounds upon his culinary version of the good neighbor policy. He believes, and has proved to his own satisfaction, that eating as natives eat, and with them, is the best way of winning their admiration and confidence. As a result, before our eyes he cheerfully becomes bipedal aard-vark, dining upon Saubian ants. W. D.

"South of Joplin," by L. S. Davidson. [Norton, $2.75.]

The tri-state corner of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri gives the traveler practically nothing in the way of scenery. This is lead mining country, almost covered with hills of chat, intensely dusty most of the time, and not a very fine place for people to live. People do live there, tho, for the mines must be worked.

Miss Davidson, without resorting to fiction, here attempts a "Grapes of Wrath" of the area. She does a thoro job of showing that Mr. Steinbeck did not uncover the worst area in the United States.

Miss Davidson spent much time in the lead mining area gathering material for this book. She doesn't settle anything—just tells about it.

Miss Susie Slagle's

by Augusta Tucker

HERE is a story that will warm the cockles of your heart—the story of four boys who came to Johns Hopkins Medical School because they wanted to serve humanity.

And because it is their story—their hopes and aspirations, their classroom experiences, their love affairs, their skylarking and hell-raising, their troubles and their triumphs—it is the story of Miss Susie Slagle. For it was Miss Susie who kept the boarding house where they lived, whose comfort and counsel supported them in the difficult role they had chosen to play in life.

Miss Tucker has captured the color and atmosphere of Baltimore and Johns Hopkins with remarkable fidelity. Her story will linger affectionately in a bright corner of your memory.

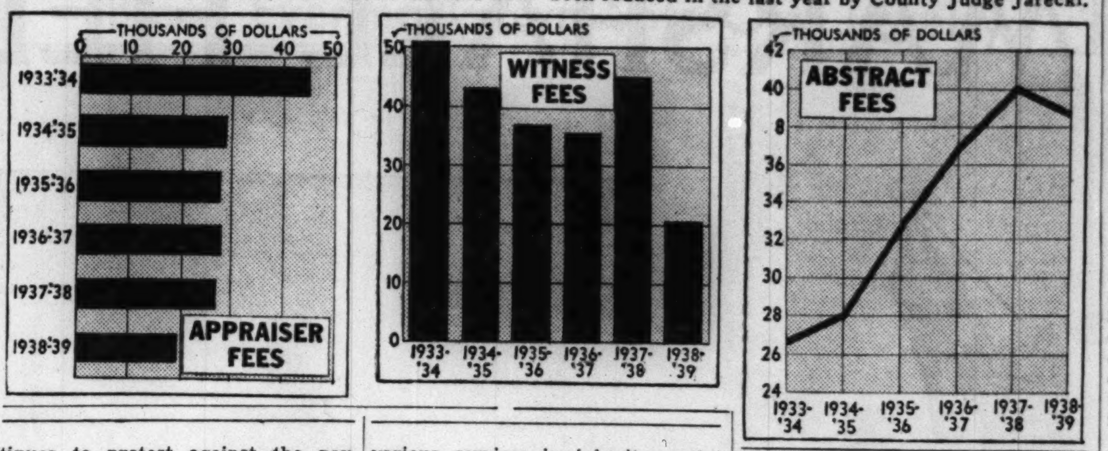
JARECKI SCALES DOWN FEES PAID TO APPRAISERS

Follows Protests by Bar and Women's Council.

How Inheritance Tax Fees Have Been Reduced

These charts show how inheritance tax fees have been reduced in the last year by County Judge Jarecki.



Fees in inheritance tax cases have been scaled down sharply by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. The reductions were shown yesterday in a survey by Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, who hailed them as a victory for the investigation of fee practices which the council initiated a year ago. Last March the Chicago Bar association took up the inquiry and censured Judge Jarecki.

Much of the work for which the appraisers were paid was performed by the Inheritance Abstracting company, for which there is no express provision in law, the bar association reported.

"The Women's Civic council continues to protest against the payments for unnecessary appraisers even tho a reduction has been achieved," Mrs. Robertson said. "However, the practice of certifying fees to appraisers on small estates where a minimum tax has been assessed seems to have been discontinued.

"Also, our investigation shows records are now in better condition and missing information has been supplied."

1934-'35	29,043	43,152	28,283
1935-'36	28,897	37,633	33,343
1936-'37	28,902	36,307	37,129
1937-'38	28,555	45,989	40,329
1938-'39	19,822	20,965	38,790

Total fees paid in March, April, and May of this year were $14,977, compared with $26,855 for July, August, and December, 1938, although 430 fewer cases were handled in the latter period. September, October, and November were not used for comparison because a legal battle was being fought over fees in those months.

The civic council recommended that the fee system be abolished in favor of a staff of salaried persons competent to evaluate real estate, securities, and other personal property.

Judge Jarecki said recently that all administrative costs for inheritance tax cases now average below 3 per cent of the value of the properties. There are now only three appraisers and the compensation will be less than $3,000 a year each, he said. The law does not permit him to employ salaried workers for the tasks, he said.

HEAR DIVORCED WIFE'S SUIT FOR EX-HUBBY'S PAY

Judge Joseph E. Daily of Peoria, sitting in the Circuit court, yesterday began hearing testimony in the suit of Mrs. Alice Drake Miller to recover $16,465 from her former husband, Carle Miller, an executive of an oil company. Mrs. Miller, who is 65 years old, lives at 126 DeWindt road, Winnetka, and Miller resides at 1602 Hinman avenue, Evanston.

The Millers were divorced on June 13, 1929. Previously they had made an agreement under which Miller was to pay 30 per cent of his salary to Mrs. Miller, who was to receive at least $3,600 a year. It was also provided that from time to time they would discuss their relative financial affairs frankly.

FREED ON LICENSE CHARGE.

Herman A. Nickel, 65 years old, 4719 South Loomis street, was freed of a charge of practicing medicine without a license by a jury in County court yesterday. The charge was brought by the state department of registration and education.

Stage Thriller Makes Lively Movie Fare

"THE CAT AND THE CANARY."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Elliott Nugent.
Based on stage play by John Willard.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Wally Campbell	Bob Hope
Joyce Norman	Paulette Goddard
Fred Blythe	John Beal
Charlie Wilder	Douglass Montgomery
Miss Lu	Gale Sondergaard
Aunt Susan	Elizabeth Patterson
Cicily	Nydia Westman
Lawyer Crosby	George Zucco
Hendricks	John Wray
Indian Guide	George Regas

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

For considerably over three-fourths of its running time "The Cat and the Canary"—adapted from the grand old mystery thriller play—is whopping good entertainment. But the finale—I thought—lets you down. Leaves you asking questions—why this?—why that? . . . Just the same, the film is fun.

Responsible for a large part of your enjoyment is Bob Hope, one of the most ingratiating romantic comedians on the screen. He has a light touch and an intuitive "feel" for lines and situations.

As you will perhaps remember, most of the action takes place in a weird old isolated house, 10 years after the death of a gentleman whose will is to be read at midnight to an assemblage of relatives, ONE of whom is a KILLER. . . .

Circumstance compels all to spend the night in the house, and it is with the bloodcurdling events of this period that the plot is concerned.

Paulette Goddard is tops as the pretty girl in the case. Gale Sondergaard is ominous as the strange woman who had been the dead man's housekeeper. Elizabeth Patterson, George Zucco, and all others give telling account of themselves.

Dialog is consistently interesting and direction by Elliott Nugent—who acted in the stage play, a great hit at the time—is most adroit, till, as I said, along toward the end. . . .

The audience of which I was one loved the piece—judging from their laughs, squeals, and groans.

Find Business Optimism Helping Community Fund

Optimism of business men over improved conditions and a brighter outlook for the winter season have resulted in new contributors and larger subscriptions to the Community Fund's campaign. Mark A. Brown, chairman of the industrial division, announced yesterday that a general increase has been experienced in the amount of money contributed by employed persons toward the 1939 goal of $3,611,000.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 7.—Judging from the mail that arrives, people who never have seen this town are laboring under acres of misconceptions. . . . The letter writers believe, so help me: That every one in Hollywood eats in the Brown Derby. . . . That comedians, off screen, keep you screaming with laughter. . . . That California consists of orange groves, movie studios, oil wells, and swimming pools.

That Vine and Sunset is something like Chicago's loop. . . . That Ann Sheridan slinks around town, rolling her orbs sexily. . . . That Connie Bennett is shrewder in business than J. P. Morgan. . . . That the stars arrive at N. B. C. and C. B. S. for their broadcasts in ermine-lined limousines. . . . That in private life William Powell is a better detective than the original Pinkerton. . . . That Dorothy Lamour wears a sarong when she goes shopping.

That Melvyn Douglas makes love to his frau, off screen, in the same manner he employs on screen. . . . That Al Jolson always sings songs while reclining on his knees. . . . That Don Ameche laughs all the time because he is a gay and cheery person. . . . That slow-burn Kennedy has a terrific temper. . . . That Frank Capra knew a Mr. Smith who went to Washington.

That Jack Benny is really jealous of "Rochester" and pays him a salary as a butler. . . . That Charlie McCarthy actually is a midget.

That a girl in the stock company at Paramount posed for those original shots of Claudette Colbert's legs. . . . That Edward G. Robinson is a reformed gangster. . . . That John Barrymore married Elaine Barrie because she hypnotized him. . . . That Madeleine Carroll wears a blonde wig. . . . That Paulette Goddard writes all of Charlie Chaplin's moving pictures. . . . That A. C. Blumenthal really is a midget. . . . That Jimmy Stewart is as shy as he appears to be on the screen.

That Clark Gable ogles the girls and that the girls ogle Clark Gable. . . . That Norma Shearer is worth $563,000,000 and can have her choice of any story property in town. . . . That Darryl Zanuck bought "Grapes of Wrath" to hush it up and only went thru with it because the country would have torn him limb from limb. . . . That Harpo Marx is a deaf-mute and has red hair.

That Charles Laughton, off screen, is meaner than Capt. Bligh. . . . That Bing Crosby can run faster than his horses. . . . That Junior Laemmle really is a midget. . . . That Sonja Henie isn't much shucks as a skater but that the movies do it with mirrors. . . . That performers smoke the cigarets they indorse.

That Spencer Tracy plays priest rôles because he once studied for the priesthood. . . . That Hedy Lamarr actually isn't pretty, but that the makeup men and the cameramen engage in focus-hocus-pocus to make her screen that way. . . . That the Ritz brothers aren't brothers, but three hoofers who met one day at the Friars' club and decided to incorporate.

That Marlene Dietrich doesn't sing, but that another girl does all of her warbling. . . . That Garbo stays out of the public gaze as much as possible because she has warts. . . . That Sam Goldwyn talks with a heavy accent. . . . That Alexander Woolcott is one of the great literary geniuses of this generation. . . . That Irving Berlin has a little colored boy who pens all of his hits. . . . That Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins are so mad at each other they don't speak.

That Robert Taylor and Tyrone Power are jealous of each other. . . That Cæsar Romero is a former Austrian nobleman. . . . That Fibber McGee and Molly talk that way even when they're off the air. . . . That Amos 'n' Andy lived in Harlem for years to get that southern accent. . . . That Mickey Rooney is a midget.

That California papers play up news of bad weather in other sections of the country, and that California is intensely jealous of Florida. . . . That John Montague always used a shovel. . . . That Hollywood delights in humiliating former stars who now are extras and bit players. . . . That Bonita Granville is a fresh brat off the screen, too. . . . That Shirley Temple, off the record, is a midget. . . . That movie stars accept their dough reluctantly, but would much rather play small parts in Broadway legitimate shows.

That nine out of ten Hollywood actors and actresses get their scripts direct from Russia and are plotting the overthrow of the government. . . . That most Hollywood executives sign their names on checks with an X because they can't spell or read. . . . That Carole Lombard goes out in the kitchen and cooks for Gable. . . . That Phil Harris secretly is quite a guy with the glamor girls.

Emma Boynet Is Master of French Music

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Emma Boynet, a French pianist new to Chicago, played the opening recital in the new musical arts series at Orchestra hall last night and revealed an astonishing combination of musical virtues and vices.

The music of France—Faure, Ravel, Debussy, Ibert, Chabrier—Mme. Boynet played as one to the manner born. The little pieces sparkled and glittered, they moved with a lovely perverse stride, they became a perfect evocation of the world of delicate lights and dainty perfumes and imaginative joys in which their composers lived. The pianist's tone changed and glowed with a new kind of fire at every change in the music's surface. Her line was as flexible as cloud lines—as receptive to every vagrant impulse.

In the Mozart B flat major sonata and in Brahms' G minor rhapsody Mme. Boynet introduced an excessive amount of rubato, an excessive amount of unsuitable coloring, and a general air of preciousness quite foreign to the music. The former piece, instead of purity of outline and cleanness of texture, had a melting, languishing quality. The latter was changed from a thing of relentless, granitelike lines into a series of curious episodes which had no discernible connection with one another. The piece would stop for what seemed like five minutes and was really five seconds to become fainting and dainty.

In short Mme. Boynet is sympathetic to the music of her compatriots and plays it idiomatically. With music based on a different esthetic, things are quite otherwise. The Chopin B flat minor scherzo, a borderline case, profited by the pianist's richness of imagination and beauty of tone. It did not suffer especially from the faults which marred the evening's more contained, more austere music.

BY CECIL SMITH.

In this generation we are not likely to see another performance of "Hamlet" to match the undeleted version Maurice Evans has brought to the Grand Opera house. My own experience with "Hamlet" goes back only as far as Sothern and Marlowe, and this in dim adolescent recollection.

But it is not necessary to evoke patriarchal memories of Forbes-Robertson or Booth in order to affirm that Mr. Evans' present performance provides the fullest revelation of Shakespeare's power and vitality the contemporary theater has afforded.

Not that time flies during the four hours between 7:30 and 11:30. Even the many ingenious devices for quick changes of scene and the constant flow of pictorial movement Margaret Webster has devised in her direction cannot make "Hamlet" seem either concise or brisk. Yet precisely in this absence of all forcing, of all compulsion to bring the final curtain down, lies, I think, the unique value of the production.

The uncut text gives the plot a continuity it has never had before. Hamlet does not find himself spotlighted in sudden, unexplained soliloquies. Instead the soliloquies become merely the psychological expansion of an unbroken thread of reasonable incidents. It is for once possible fully to understand the story of the play.

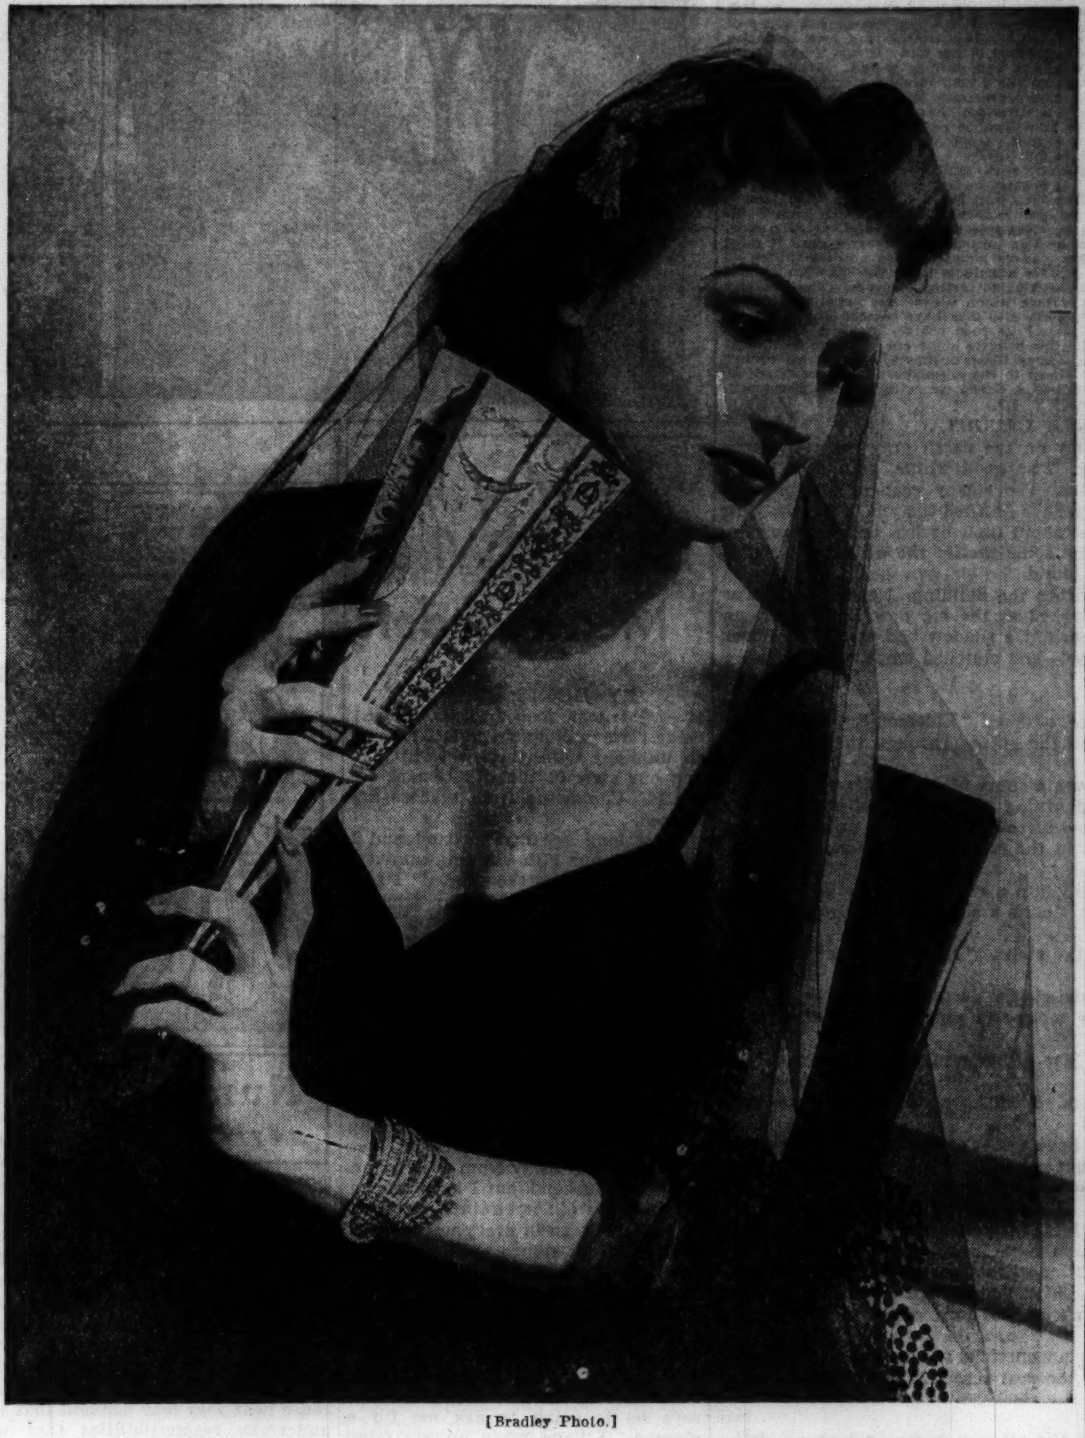
Several characters are wonderfully transformed by the restoration of lines and scenes. The king is no cold-blooded murderer, no heartless wretch, but a pitiable human being who has tricked himself into a vile deed in order to possess a throne and a woman he cannot enjoy after he gets them. And what a passionate, womanly creature the queen becomes when her whole character is laid bare.

For once it is possible, thanks to Mr. Evans, to believe fully in the tortured emotions of Hamlet. With Mr. Evans, magnificent oratory and inspired invention alike are brought into complete subservience to a consistent, intense, manly characterization. Carmen Mathews, only a fortnight old in the part of Ophelia, brings to her part a warm voice and a rare simplicity that still show more promise than ultimate command.

Henry Edwards' king illumines richly the human side of the character. In the scene with Hamlet in her closet Mady Christians, as the queen, gives a stirring emotional performance. George Graham's bumbling, boring Polonius and John Barclay's sonorous ghost are other strong points in a vigorous, intelligent, and well directed cast.

David Ffolkes' settings avoid monotony by mixing together tastefully a variety of styles, and his soft colored costumes escape the lush extravagance of the Leslie Howard production. Perhaps the most remarkable achievement of all is that the visual aspect of this long "Hamlet" remains constantly interesting and refreshing.

Black Evening Gown Sets Off Jewelry



[Bradley Photo.]

New Black Hats to Go with Fur Coats Arrive

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Off-the-face black hats have arrived. Dozens of dashing affairs with a brigandish up-swoop to the wide brim; a shallow back brim that will fit fur collars and a smooth fitting crown. Sounds rather the usual, but see them and you will note the difference.

Upturned brims are crossed with glittering bands of jet black sequins. Some twinkle with dozens of multicolored small simulated jewels while others have lamé or metallic bows and still others boast perky knots or bows of fur. Severely simple models of unrelieved black have just the fine felt and perfect outline to make you want to wear them.

If you crave fire truck red accessories, you couldn't do better than the new gargantuan red felt handbag with the companion "chamberlain" with a handle of matching red felt and a slip cover.

Enchanting new evening bags are made of luxurious ostrich feathers. They are the real old fashioned dancing slipper bag variety, pulled together with drawstrings of wide satin ribbon. Flame red, shell pink, turquoise blue, black and white are contrast possibilities.

Clever dull black coats trimmed with ocelot fur are featured during November. Each coat is excitingly designed . . . one has half of the front section of the skirt of this fur; a second has a wide circular band around the hemline; others boast lavish trim in unusual shapes. . . prices are easy on the budget and they are good looking alternatives for the more expensive black with leopard models.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The woman who quite sensibly feels that romantic perfumes should not be worn during the business day but who still wants some fresh scent about her person should look up a lemony friction lotion. It's not new, but it's awfully nice. We, at least, grow more fond of it from year to year.

For one thing it's not expensive. You can splash it in the bath water if you like, but you'll be particularly enchanted with it when you use it as a body lotion. It is an amber colored liquid, with a bubbly champagnish quality. It is slightly stimulating and a rub down with it is wonderfully bracing.

The scent is, at least in our opinion, perfectly lovely. It is distinctly close to the scent of fresh sun baked lemons—and that's one of the cleanest scents you can fine. Not lacking in beauty, either.

The scent is remarkably lasting. We've known it to cling to the skin for a whole day. Because it's delicate, however, it doesn't overwhelm you or the people around you.

This has been a summer favorite of ours for some years, but recently we've decided that it's a peach of a lotion for cold weather. For one thing, the rub down with it tones the skin up nicely. For another, in overheated offices, when you're wearing a wool dress, there's something extremely pleasant about the consciousness of a cool, crisp, and pretty fragrance.

You'll find this in several shops—and can buy it by the quart if you want to.

Visitors Get Attention in Party Plans

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGO is the logical place in which to break a transcontinental trip, so during the course of a year many former Chicagoans and many residents of other places who have Chicago affiliations are here for brief visits.

Before long Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Richards of Honolulu will be here but their stay will be brief, indeed, for they will stop only for a few hours. They now are in San Francisco. They are going to New York the middle of this month and will be here on the 14th. They will spend a longer time in Chicago on their way west. Mrs. Richards is the former Helen Hughes Dulany of Chicago.

Marquise d'Ivanrey, the former Italia Blair of Chicago, will be here on Nov. 29 or 30 to spend a week seeing old friends and relatives. The marquise, whose home is in Biarritz, is on her way to Hollywood to spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair. Probably while the marquise is here she will be with her brother, Chauncey B. Blair, and Mrs. Blair, at the Whitehall hotel.

Mrs. Dudley Root, the former Ellen Dudley of Chicago, is at the Whitehall for an indefinite stay. When she will return to her home in France depends upon conditions in that country. Mrs. Root and the Marquise d'Ivanrey returned to this country on the same ship.

Mrs. Paget Cady, Miss Sarah Hinde, Mrs. John C. Murphy, and Arthur Meeker Jr. are giving a cocktail party for Mrs. Root on Saturday at the Cady home in East Division street.

A former Chicagoan, Sanford S. Clark, and his wife, known professionally as Gretta Palmer, spent yesterday here on their way home to New York from a three months' trip to Japan and China. Mrs. Clark is a cousin of Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham Jr. of Winnetka and of Mrs. James Conger of Libertyville.

Mary Seymour Pynchon Will Visit Her Father.

A young visitor who will be going to all of the debutante parties because many of this season's buds are her old friends, is Miss Mary Seymour Pynchon, who arrives on Friday. She will be with her father, Harold Pynchon, and Mrs. Pynchon, at their Cedar street apartment until after the Christmas season. Mary Seymour, who used to live here, now lives with her mother in the east. She just has returned from two years of study in Berlin, so, undoubtedly, will have many interesting things to tell about her experiences.

Another young woman who has been living abroad, but who is here now and taking part in the debutante festivities, is Miss Gladys Kirk. She is the guest of her uncle, Walter R. Kirk, and Mrs. Kirk, who are entertaining at dinner and the theater for her on Monday, Nov. 20. The Kirks' young guests will see "Leave It to Me," which opens that night at the Auditorium.

The Herbert Bradleys also are planning a party for the opening. They will take their guests to the Casino for dinner.

Mrs. Asaph Churchill Jr. Badly Injured in Fall.

Mrs. Asaph Churchill Jr., who has been living in India for the last few years, was not bound for Chicago this

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is engaged to Tom's brother, Derek. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. Reaching the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek, rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Chenerys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the dead body of Glover. Official verdict is that Glover was killed by a shot from a passing car. Kingsclere, Derek and Maj. Fitts all drove that way. Inspector Headcorn from Scotland Yard finds the murder weapon. It belongs to Maj. Fitts, but was stolen the afternoon of the day Glover was shot—after Kingsclere and Derek had called. Dr. Blount, who'd attended Tom, admits he gave Tom an anti-tetanus injection—which caused his death, as he had not been desensitized after a previous injection. The first injection must have been given Tom after his first fall when he was unconscious—whoever gave it must have murdered Glover because he was a witness. Derek admits having anti-tetanus serum which was taken from his room. Derek goes out for a walk in the night—that same night Mrs. Glover is beaten up by some one evidently seeking to destroy evidence. The inspector finds Wynn battling with Mrs. Glover over a syringe which Glover had apparently found. Derek is arrested. Wynn and Alison figure some one else may have reached Tom after his first accident before Derek. Wynn finds out Maj. Fitts rode behind Tom. A fire breaks out in Wynn's room at Chenerys in the night. She believes some one is trying to murder her and Alison. The inspector investigates a James Elderson-Brown, who'd tried to buy Chenerys. Maj. Fitts accompanies Wynn and Alison to the chemist's. Inspector Headcorn and Colin find the two girls locked in a garage in a closed car with the motor running.

INSTALMENT LI.

THE MURDERER CAUGHT.

Now the two, Alison and Wynn, lay on the harsh gray concrete, faces strangely akin in their ghastly pallor. Two good whiffs, both men knew, would have rendered them unconscious. The steady gush of carbon monoxide in their nostrils must minutes ago have finished the job. Fiercely, with dead hearts, Colin and the inspector set about their useless task of resuscitation. Outside, gray tissue of rain. From some shelter the whining of a dog.

"What's that?" Headcorn spun around.

The faint cling had come from within the building. Nothing whatever in this clean, dim space. Headcorn looked at the big new Bentley drawn back in the opposite corner. For an instant a shadow had seemed to hover between it and the far wall. He lunged—and clutched emptiness. Whoever it was had eluded him.

And then . . .

"Hi!" shouted Reginald Hardmore, outside. "Elderson-Brown!"

In the open a fugitive scurried for the gates. Through them sloshed a stable lad, barring the way.

The trapped fox turned. There was a spurt of bright flame, the splintering of the Rover's windscreen. Lightning swift a second bullet struck the top of the wall, plowing a blood red furrow. But now an automatic spat viciously. New smoke clouds swirled in the rain fourteen stone of officialdom hurled on its snarling prey.

"A faint one." The inspector came slowly down.

The younger man moved to the table and poured two stiff pegs of whisky.

"Damned clever!" he gritted. "The swine would have taken the lot of us in."

"Quite likely. You hurried back, I suppose, to avert some such tragedy?"

Kingsclere looked surprised. "To have a shot at it, yes. It was Horrocks put me on, by telephone. I meant to get medical help. In case the poor girl had gone clean off her rocker, you know. I quite expected she had. Laying a false scent with that fire——"

"I see," grimly. "Anything else Maj. Fitts was suggesting?"

"God, yes! He'd seen her pulling the tacks out of the floor matting. That settled it. We all knew the condition of that gear box. Now, of course, it's perfectly clear what did happen. Fitts loosened the matting himself. Laid a whole train of evidence, didn't he, to have ready in case it was wanted?"

"Just so. And he made Gregg an unconscious ally in his plans. Gregg, poor devil, never remotely suspected the real reason those girls had to be watched."

"It had to be Miss Young, too?"

"Obviously. What one found out the other was bound to hear. They caught Fitts out in his rather unnecessary lie. His state of funk is shown by his trying then and there to burn them both in their beds. When that attempt failed he had to hunt other means of wiping them out in an equally misleading way if such a course was forced on him."

"About that chap Elderson-Brown," said Kingsclere, hesitatingly, "I wasn't hedging, you know. If I seemed to be——"

"You needn't explain," answered the detective, with an understanding grin. "Now I'm going to have a little talk with Gregg if he's sufficiently recovered." He strode into the wet garden.

Alone, Kingsclere lit a gasper and puffed unsteadily. Fred Fitts, that addle pated little ass? The thing took some swallowing, yet in the very paradox, it appeared, lay the almost incredible explanation. . . .

In borrowed Wellingtons, Headcorn stepped from Gregg's door and made his way to the weltering marsh near the brook.

"And now," asked the inspector gently, "what had you found out?"

Alison glanced at her fellow victim, like herself shaky and white faced in an armchair close to a crackling wood fire. Wynn's eyes held seraphic peace. She decided to speak for the two of them.

"Tom's snapshot." Her throat was horribly rasped. She clung more tightly to Colin's hand. "You've got it, I suppose?"

"You mean this one of Fitts, taken beside the horse?" Headcorn handed her the small print found in the prisoner's pocket.

"Of course. We didn't know, you see, that there'd been a film in Tom's camera. That Gregg, saying nothing except to the major, had taken it to be developed. I, as it happened, had shown rather too violent an interest in snapshots. Even so, I saw no reason why the major should notice. Will you pass me over that big album?"

"See? It's what I turned up directly I'd posted you my letter. Unluckily it was the only one of the kind I could dig up. I found pictures of mounted huntsmen, O, plenty! But not measured like this in relation to the horse. Well, the whole point is that what I saw here and what I had in my mind didn't quite match. I wasn't sure, naturally. So I didn't dare breathe a word of this to Wynn for fear of raising a false hope."

"After I'd caught Gregg reading my letter I tried to fit him into my mental picture. It just wouldn't work. Why? Because"—triumphantly—"he was the same height to an inch as Derek, and what details could have carried over all that big stretch of country except height, color, and maybe general outline?"

"Well argued," approved the inspector. "And so——?"

"I hunted through every darned snapshot in the major's collection, still not finding what I wanted. Which is how I must have dropped my candy. Though, I repeat, why should I suspect the major at all? No reason—none. It didn't even strike me as funny that since the day of that hunt I'd not once seen him with a horse. I know now he simply didn't mean me to get a chance of comparing him with the man I believed I had seen. By the way, both the major's hunters are dark brown—like Derek's. That's vital. You see why?"

"Perfectly. Go on."

"Well, now for the new snapshot. They'd taken ages to develop it. It was due back any day, as the major knew, having inquired for it—and George Burt, bless him, let the cat nicely out of the bag. It popped the major, ready to snaffle the thing, knowing, of course, that the first glimpse of it would blow him to atoms, only Wynn heard, too, and managed some neat footwork.

Wife May Be Guilty When Man Wanders

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

First we will quote a letter from an unhappy wife, then we will give you our view of the situation as we see it. Comments from readers are invited.

"Not long ago my husband and I celebrated our 17th wedding anniversary. When I say 'celebrated' I feel like crying, for it was far from a happy celebration. My husband dutifully brought me flowers and took me to the theater, but I know his heart and thoughts were with a young girl with whom he's been going for the last year.

"He won't tell me her name. From the little he's told me of her she sounds like a nice girl who has tried to do the right thing by not seeing him. But they're so much in love they can't stay away from each other. I love my husband, but I have known for years he did not return my love. He is a fine man in every way. Knowing he did not return my love I have tried to win it by being a good mother to our two children, a girl of 8, and a boy of 13. My husband and I have agreed to try to make a 'go' of our marriage for another year, for our children's sake. If, after that time, we can't be happy, then he says he is going to ask me for a divorce. I have made up my mind I will not give him a divorce. I'd rather die first. Mrs. C."

The first thing you must do, Mrs. C., is to ask yourself what your husband sees in this girl. She must give him companionship he craves. She must be a girl who grooms herself as attractively as possible. She must know instinctively what pleases him. She must make him proud of her.

Do you try to help him in business by encouraging him to bring his business associates home for dinner occasionally? You can hold him and regain his love if you try hard enough, for you've the double advantage of being the mother of his children, and knowing his weaknesses as well as his strong points. He fell in love with you once. Make him do it again!

Now that we can buy skinless frankfurters and frankfurters with ppers, the wiener or "hot dog," as we colloquially speak of it, is more popular than ever.

A favorite dish in several homes, I know, is franks stuffed with cheese and broiled until the cheese has melted. Try this quick specialty for a hurry-up meal some evening. It's certain to make a hit wherever frankfurters and cheese are liked separately.

CHEESE STUFFED FRANKFURTER SUPPER

Broiled Cheese Stuffed Frankfurters
Broiled Canned Sweet Potatoes
Celery
Peas in Cream [Canned or Frozen]
Avocado Halves with French Dressing
Spoon Bread
Chilled Fruit Cup [Fresh Pear,
Chilled Fruit Cup [Fresh Pear, rapes,
Grapes, Apple, Bananas, Orange Juice,
Mint Leaf Garnish]
Coffee

Split the frankfurters on one side and insert a long, thin slice of cheese into each. American cheese, Herkimer, brick, or Swiss may be used. Broil in a moderate oven for 10 or 15 minutes, until meat has cooked and cheese has melted and browned slightly.

The potatoes may be arranged on the rack or platter with the franks. Brush them with butter and sprinkle lightly with salt. Or brush them all over with maple sirup, corn sirup, or a sirup made by boiling sugar and fruit juice together for 5 minutes. Then let them broil until they are brown and hot.

Chill the avocados until they are very cold. Cut lengthwise in halves, remove pit, and peel off skin. Serve on lettuce, endive, chicory, or watercress with a rather lemony French dressing.

Spoon Bread.

[Serves six.]

2 cups cornmeal
2¼ cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons baking powder
3 eggs, separated
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Add boiling water slowly to cornmeal, stirring constantly. Let stand until cool. Mix salt, sugar, and baking powder into beaten egg yolks. Add milk. Add this milk mixture to the cooled cornmeal and beat vigorously until smooth. Add melted shortening, and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well greased baking dish or casserole and bake in a 400 degree oven about 40 minutes. Spoon the bread from the baking dish and eat it hot with butter.

No One Method for Making a Youngster Eat

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-]

"Doctor, I am frantic about Jean. She doesn't seem to have any desire for food."

These are the plaints that doctors, especially pediatricians, hear again and again from the mothers of their little patients. And from many of these mothers I hear the advice of many of their doctors. It is: "Put the child's food before her. If she hasn't finished eating it in twenty minutes, take it away. If you keep this up, she'll eventually eat properly and well."

And, reply these mothers, I've done exactly that, but my little girl doesn't seem to care. She's not interested in food and she doesn't get enough to eat under that system.

I admit there may be children who will respond to that treatment. But I know there are a great many who will not respond to that simple treatment. When they will not, it's up to their parents to try some other measure.

Now, to prescribe for each child in a family it would be necessary for me to know a great many facts about each one. After all, each situation is individual and I have not a magic carpet nor an invisible cloak. On the other hand, there are a good many general reasons why children don't eat, or develop undesirable habits at meals.

A full discussion of the subject will be found in our leaflet, "Mealtime Troubles." Send a large, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

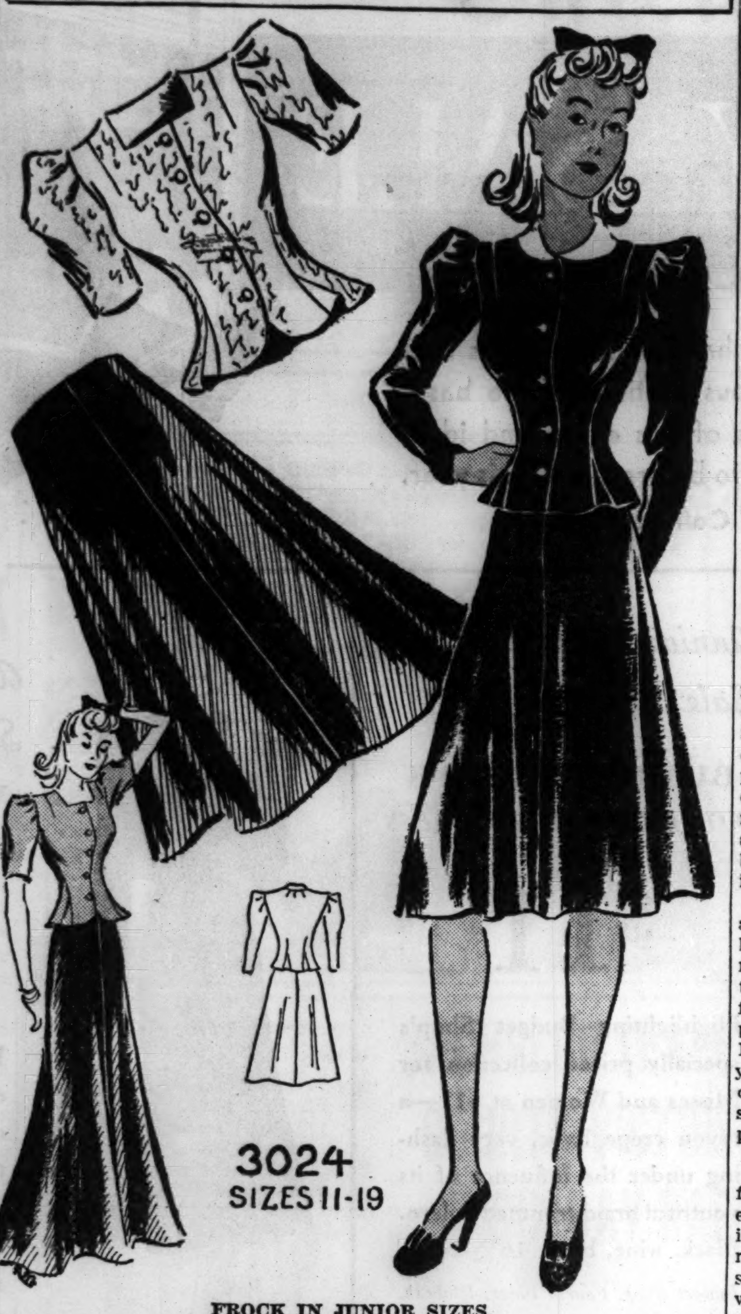
Pane-Gasser Made Knight of Holy Sepulchre

Pane-Gasser, tenor of the Chicago City Opera company, has been made a Knight Commander of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre, one of the oldest orders in the Catholic church. He received the appointment yesterday from the secretary of state at the Vatican.

Smart Blouse and Skirt



FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

This pattern creates either a two piece dress or a separate jacket or skirt. The sketch illustrates some of the ways this design may be put to advantage for your winter wardrobe. Shown at the right is a street dress consisting of peplum blouse and moderately flared skirt. Around the high neckline is a contrasting collar, which should be made detachable for laundering. Sketched left are a blouse and skirt for evening wear. The skirt may be worn with other blouses and sweaters, and the blouse with suits or other skirts. The principle of this pattern, which makes up well in silk, woolen, and velvet, is "mix and match."

Style No. 3024 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19. Size 15 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, ¼ yard of contrasting, for street length dress.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Perhaps erratic bidders retain their faults because of the interesting situations into which their trespasses lead them. To play a dangerous, perhaps totally unsound, contract may not always be pleasant, but it is exciting. In today's hand, South and West vied with each other for the doubtful pleasure of playing a bad contract. South was the winner in this curious contest, and it required exceedingly good play for him to emerge unscathed.

East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
1 spade	2 diamonds	Double	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	6 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's rebid of one spade, while technically incorrect, would be made by most good players. While it often is best to rebid a six card suit before mentioning a four-carder, the opportunity should not be overlooked of showing a major suit at the lowest possible level, with the intention of rebidding the longer suit later on, if necessary. West's overcall of two diamonds was a major crime. Such a vulnerable overcall should indicate the ability to win six tricks; West hardly could hope for more than four. North's prompt double would have been just punishment of West's presumption, and South should have been delighted to let the double stand. But South, loathe to give up the thrills of declarer's play, rescued his opponent by bidding four clubs. North naturally gave his partner credit for a better hand, and was perfectly justified in jumping to six clubs, and redoubling East's somewhat pointless double.

Fortunately for South, the opening lead, the spade ten, was the most favorable he could have received. [A heart or high diamond lead by West would have led to the contract's defeat.] Dummy played the spade queen, East the king, and South won with the ace. Declarer led a heart toward dummy, hoping that West held the ace and would fail to play it. In that case, South would hastily discard his remaining heart on one of dummy's high diamonds, and then could easily fulfill his contract.

But South was not to have so easy a time of it. Dummy's heart king was slaughtered by East's ace, and the return of the heart jack forced out dummy's queen. Now South had to depend on a successful trump finesse and also had to dispose of his two low spades. One of the spades could be discarded on a high diamond; the other, South thought, would have to be ruffed in dummy.

To begin the trump finessing, South led from the dummy the seven of clubs. This held the trick, but South was dismayed to discover that West could not follow suit. This meant that all three of dummy's trumps would be needed to pick up East's club king, and that South would have to find some other way to avoid the loss of a spade. Dummy next led the nine of clubs, which also held.

Another club was led from dummy for a third finesse, and then South laid down the ace of clubs and continued with the rest of his trumps. When the last trump was led, West had to reduce to four cards. He could not hold stoppers in both spades and diamonds and was, therefore, obliged to let South make his twelfth trick, either with a long spade in his own hand, or with a long diamond in dummy.

Braque Exhibit Is a Full Story of Abstraction

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Arts club has succeeded in bringing together the most comprehensive showing of works by Georges Braque which has ever been offered. This was possible only because the club planned for the exhibit long enough ahead to permit the sending of many of the canvases from Paris last August.

A number of the works are the property of the painter and were sent from his studio and another important group came from his Paris dealer. A third group of representative canvases are in the exhibit thru the generosity of American collectors who have lent them for the occasion.

Braque is one of the foremost French moderns. He, Picasso and Matisse have influenced the present generation of young artists more than any other three men one can mention. Of the three at the present moment Braque perhaps wields the strongest influence. His denial of form and substance and his accent on design and color are found repeated in the painting being turned out by American moderns. To the minds of those who enjoy a more academic type of picture Braque's has been and continues to be a pernicious influence.

No one, however, can deny Braque an important place among those who have changed the trend of art from normal to the abnormal, sometimes the subnormal. This exhibition runs from 1910 thru 1938 and illustrates perfectly the evolution of abstraction. Braque's color has cleared thru the years; his design has acquired definite characteristics. He has remained consistent in manufacturing weird compositions.

His scanty regard for the human figure has not increased with experience. People to him are still mechanical devices; he has never achieved more than a robot in his figure studies and in all probability this was as far as he chose to go. He shuffles colors like a poker player does cards.

The paintings are, in some cases, decorative; a shaft of color here and there is amazingly beautiful; a certain arc or plane is delightful. For the modern enthusiast this exhibit should prove a paradise; the nonmodern will be interested to discover again the proof that American abstract art is of French origin.

French madness is a great deal easier to bear with than American and commands a much higher price. No one should miss the Braque exhibit!

Feathered Hats Are Popular at Arts Club Tea

The tea at the Arts club yesterday that opened a show of Georges Braque's works attracted a large number of guests, all of whom had a gay and chatty time. There was an unexpected guest whose voice was a delight to hear. It will be heard this week and next in the Grand Opera house, for its owner is Mady Christians, the Queen Gertrude in Maurice Evans' "Hamlet." Miss Christians attended the tea with Mrs. Charles H. Swift.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. arranged the usual tea table. It was set with a pair of plaster figures of a colored man and woman in Tahitian costumes that Mrs. Dewey ordered in Paris two years ago, but which just recently arrived. The chocolate-black of the faces and torsos was offset by the delicate pinkish coloring of the figures' clothing. Each held two black candles on upraised arms.

These rococoish figures suit the rococo decor of the dining room so well that one hopes Mrs. Dewey will lend them often. Between them was a centerpiece of black grapes and full blown pink rosebuds in a low black bowl.

Mrs. William B. Hale, who poured, was smart in a little feathered hat of blue and a gray gown appliquéd with a pastel corsage of flowers at one shoulder. Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II. wore gray tweeds and a pale yellow turban. Mrs. Edward B. Smith's hat was a charming black one with white bird's wings swooping up from its forward tilted brim. Mrs. Homer Hargrave's was a huge puff of brown feathers tied to her forehead.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed wore a bird hat, too. It was in red. The black of her smart dress was relieved with a bib necklace that tied on with a thick gold cord. Mrs. Potter Palmer's chic little black chapeau was trimmed with a row of soft white feather daisies and tied with a veil. Mrs. Jacob Baur's hat boasted several crimson birds in flight.

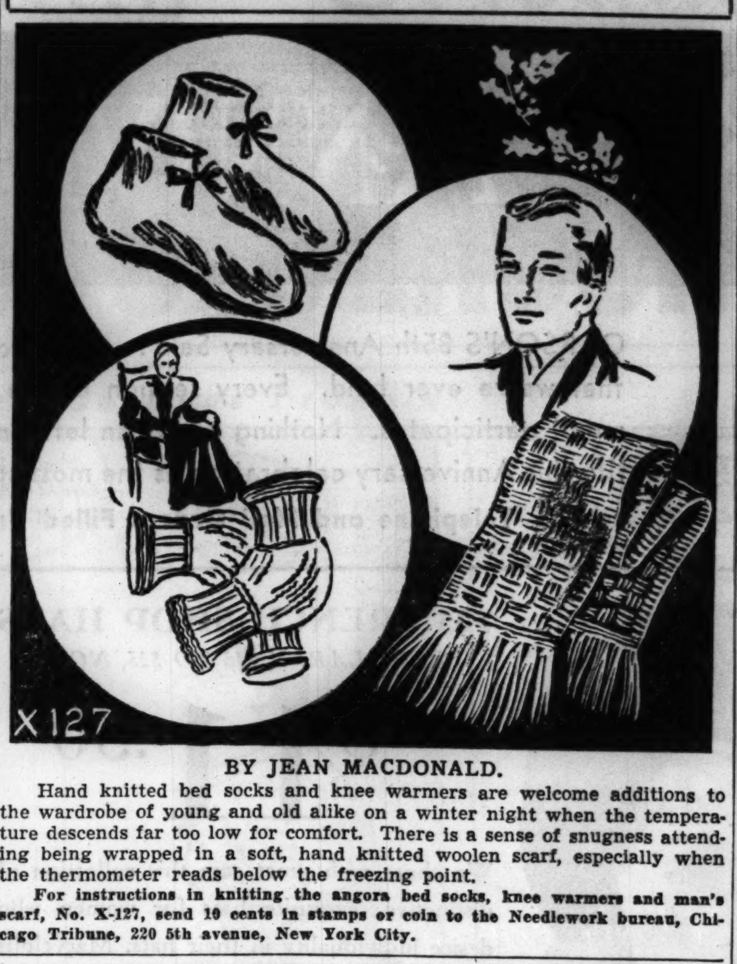
It's surprisingly easy and economical to use. Ideal for feminine hygiene. Follow the simple directions and enjoy proved hygienic protection that you may never have known before.

Knitted Items for Winter



BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Hand knitted bed socks and knee warmers are welcome additions to the wardrobe of young and old alike on a winter night when the temperature descends far too low for comfort. There is a sense of snugness attending being wrapped in a soft, hand knitted woolen scarf, especially when the thermometer reads below the freezing point.

For instructions in knitting the angora bed socks, knee warmers and man's scarf, No. X-127, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Mr. Olivier to Miss Gillmore.

Miss Margalo Gillmore of No Time for Comedy, who is as much a favorite off stage as she is on, sat at a friend's apartment after the opening of the play in a feminine, scarlet, laced bodice gown with a round corsage of lilies at her waist, chatting in her gay and charming fashion. One of her tales: The witty comment made by Laurence Olivier in a letter he wrote her from Hollywood, where he is doing the Max de Winter rôle in Rebecca. He was enlisting for war service, he wrote, and added:

"It would be nice if actors could be to a war what soldiers are to a play—extras who stand in the background and look pretty."

Sahara Desert Fox.

That strange pet you might have seen with Mr. and Mrs. Linton Wells, who departed for the coast last night after a few days' stay in Chicago, where Mr. Wells was lecturing, was a Sahara desert fox—more correctly, a feenec. A tiny creature with the big ears, small nose, and bushy tail of his species, he weighs approximately a pound. The Wells brought him with them from Egypt. A nervous little animal with a tiny bark, he accompanied them to the station in his traveling case, spends his time with the Wellses like a pet dog.

Geographical Parlance.

Now that college activities are once more under way, the current crop of fraternity jewelry undoubtedly will be changing hands shortly. While Anne C. Wilkerson was at a sorority convention this summer she learned the nomenclature for this exchange process:

In the far west fraternity pins are planted.

In middle western schools they are hung.

Use Judgment in Selecting Your New Hat

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Unless a hat—no matter how beautiful and chic it may be—looks as if it were born to flatter the wearer, it must be laid firmly aside, is the knowing advice of Margaretta Byers, author of the clever book, "Designing Women," and an outstanding style authority.

"I never buy a hat," she says, "unless it suits me in four ways.

"First and foremost, the lines of a hat must idealize the lines of the face. It must complement the face and give it the balance that indifferent nature may have overlooked. For example, if yours is a round face, it never will do to wear hats which call attention to the roundness. On the contrary, your hats should be tall, to lengthen the lines.

"Second, the color of a hat must flatter the skin, eyes, and hair. The lines of the skin, eyes and hair bear some relation to each other. Play up to your best feature. If your hair is a wonderful shade of red or gold, or black, play up to that. If your eyes are the most noticeable thing about you, play up to them. And if you are so perfectly balanced that no one feature dominates the other, take your cue from your skin.

"Third, the size of the hat must be in good proportion to the figure. If you're very short, your hat should not be broad and flat, no matter how becoming it may be to your face itself. If you're lean and long, a tall hat will seem to extend you indefinitely upward. Take the long view in buying a hat. Stand up and study the full length effect.

"And last, but not least, it will never do, if you are the gay gamine type, to wear the daring, dramatic hat that would suit the exotic lady, or the conservative hat that is charming on the patrician."

fall, having paid a visit here earlier. However, she is back, but under trying circumstances. While at her mother's, Mrs. Hirst Moorehead's, summer home in Camden, Me., Mrs. Churchill fell and injured herself so badly that she was brought back to Chicago. She is convalescing at the Whitehall.

The Churchill children are with their mother and grandmother, but Mr. Churchill has left for India, where his family will join him after the first of the year, as soon as Mrs. Churchill is able to travel.

Dr. Allan V. Heely, headmaster of the Lawrenceville school, is arriving today to spend three days with the Rawleigh Warners in Winnetka. His wife was unable to accompany him, to the disappointment of those invited to a tea Mr. and Mrs. Warner are giving for Dr. Heely this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. McCreary of Lake Forest are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Robert Ward McCreary, on Friday at the Evanston hospital. They have a daughter, Martha, 2 years old. Mr. McCreary also has two older children, Adelaide and Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Blunt III. are giving a dinner on Saturday night and taking their guests to the final performance of the Evanston Junior League Follies in the Glencoe school auditorium. The Follies opens tomorrow night. Following the Saturday performance there will be a cabaret dance at the Shawnee Country club.

"Enchanted Vagabonds" is the thrilling title of an illustrated lecture to be given by Dana and Ginger Lamb tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club. A dinner will precede the lecture.

Leaders of Needlework Guild to Meet Today.

Sectional leaders of the Needlework guild, which every year supplies thousands of new garments to Chicago's hospitals and other charity institutions, will meet at the home of Mrs. William S. Monroe, president, this afternoon to plan winter activities. The collection headquarters of the guild will be in the Pure Oil building this year. Garments made by members will be taken there for distribution.

The Needlework guild was formed in England in 1882 and is an international organization. Its membership is nonsectarian, and the only requirement is the pledge to donate, each year, two new garments or articles of household linen.

ENGAGEMENTS

At a tea at home in San Marino, Cal., Mrs. Earl E. Spencer, formerly of Evanston, announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Charles Ruggles, Westbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Westbrook of Santa Monica, Cal., also formerly of Evanston. Miss Spencer is a graduate of the Roycemore school in Evanston and attended the Ogontz school in Ogontz, Pa. She is a member of the Pasadena auxiliary to the Assistance league. Mr. Westbrook is a graduate of the Shattuck Military academy.

From Omaha comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Louise Jeanne Ziegler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Ziegler, to Leon Rossman Gross, son of Mrs. Benjamin Gross of Selma, Ala. Miss Ziegler, a granddaughter of Mrs. Julius Kiper of the Belmont hotel, is a graduate of Wellesley college. She did postgraduate work in the school of social service administration at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Gross attended Vanderbilt university in Nashville, Tenn., and is a graduate of the University of Chicago law school. The wedding will take place in December.

Declares Jews Hope Defeat of Hitler Will Bring New Liberalism

Judaism and Christianity have a common task in meeting the menace of Nazi-communism paganism, Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York declared last night before the Agudas Achim North Shore congregation.

Dr. Goldstein, president of the Jewish National fund of America, said the Jews hope that the defeat of Hitler will mark the defeat of Nazi ideology, and a resurgence of liberalism. They hope also that the war's end will bring the guarantee of a free Jewish commonwealth in Palestine.

"There should be at least one place in the world," he said, "where Jews who want to come might feel that they are at liberty to come as of right."

HARTNETT TO OPEN 1940 SEASON WITH CUBS

VOTE 2 TO 1 FOR PARI-MUTUELS IN NEW YORK

Amendment Passes by 500,000.

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—Voters and racing fans of New York state in today's election approved the constitutional amendment legalizing parimutuel betting at horse race tracks.

Unexpectedly heavy voting in urban centers gave the proposed amendment such a commanding lead in the returns that it appeared the bitterly fought battle to pave the way for the machines may have been won by a margin as heavy as two to one—which has been considered long odds in New York bookmaking charts.

With returns from more than one-third of the state's election districts reported, it appeared the amendment had won by considerably more than a majority of 500,000.

City Plurality 425,000.

Voters in the larger cities plumped heavily in favor of the mutuels, leading the way. Returns from 3,868 of the 3,912 election district in New York City gave advocates of the legislation of track gambling a vote of 585,903 to 160,996 in the negative. This gave an indicated plurality of 425,000 for the proposition in the city alone. Upstate cities followed the trend.

With 8,156 election districts out of 9,885 reported, the vote was: For, 1,158,818; against, 529,508.

Saratoga county, in which the Saratoga track is located, went against the amendment, probably because of the feeling there that passage would mean the opening of other tracks thruout the state at a time normally reserved for the Saratoga track and the decline of that community as a racing resort.

Await Rural Returns.

On the basis of the strong favorable vote rolled up in New York and large upstate cities it appeared that the amendment might be put over by as much as 900,000 votes. However, very few of the strongly Republican and anti-gambling rural districts were included in the areas reported before midnight, and it appeared likely the margin of victory would be considerably less than that figure.

The large mutuel majority came after an actively conducted, last minute campaign against the amendment by church organizations thruout the state and by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York.

Approval of the amendment, however, while a marked victory for the pari-mutuel proponents, still does not mean the machines will be moved into the state's race tracks immediately. The next legislature will be called upon to enact a law fixing the amount of the state's revenue from the betting in the pari-mutuel machines, plus methods of determining the number of tracks to be operated in the state, and other details.

Culminates Long Fight.

Voting on the amendment and its approval at the polls culminated a long legislative fight in the state extended over a period of years. Under the state constitution any change in the state's basic law must be adopted by two successive legislatures after a legislative election has been held between the first and second passages of the proposal.

Pari-mutuels were adopted by one legislature a number of years ago, allowed to lapse when a second legislature refused to ratify, and then adopted again at the legislative session of 1938. The matter was brought to a vote again in the 1939 legislative session and adopted.

The constitutional provision on gambling was written into the state's basic law during a reform wave, when Charles Evans Hughes was governor. For a time it put the race tracks in the state out of business until a few years afterward a loophole in the law was discovered under which oral betting became the practice.

It was found impossible to convict a bookmaker operating at the race track without evidence of cash passing hands. Race track gambling operated in this state under that basis until the passage of the Crawford act two years ago. This act repealed the criminal penalty for race track bookmaking, leaving, however, the right, seldom exercised, of civil redress on the part of those who lost to bet.

NOW BREADON PROPOSES 6 DAY BASEBALL WEEK

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP)—Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, and the man who started the practice of postponing midweek games in order to schedule synthetic Sunday double headers, suggested today putting baseball officially on a 6-day week.

Breadon said he would propose at the major league meetings in Cincinnati next month that the schedule-makers plan open dates on Mondays and double headers on Sundays for all clubs which want such an arrangement.

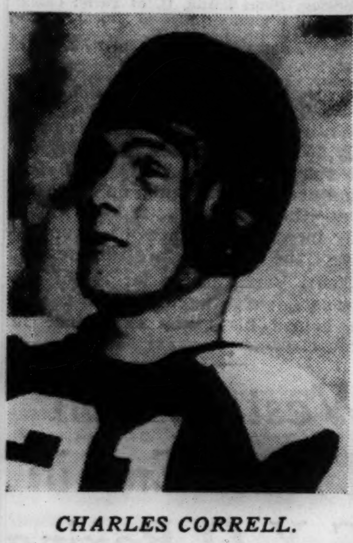
Culver Worry



CHARLES CORRELL.

Morgan Park, Culver to Risk Clear Records

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

They're making preparations for one of the biggest events of the season on Chicago's far south side Saturday afternoon.

Morgan Park Military academy's football team has won the Midwest Prep conference championship. It will be homecoming day and Armistice day. And the visitors will be the unbeaten Cadets of Culver Military academy, renewing one of the oldest prep rivalries in the nation on Abells field, 111th street and Hoyne avenue.

And at Bargain Rates.

The thrills and color of an Army-Navy game will be seen in the contest between the two undefeated elevens. Cadet corps of both schools will parade with their bands between the halves. The Culver corps of 600 will leave Culver, Ind., Saturday morning on a special train and will arrive in time for a pre-game review at 1:45 o'clock. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

Morgan Park, coached by Capt. George A. Mahon and Lieut. Henry C. Bollman, has scored 129 points in seven games this season, to its opponents' 18. Culver has played six games and has scored 88 points to its opponents' 19. One of the games was a 6 to 6 tie with Shortridge High of Indianapolis. Ind. Culver's coaching staff includes Russ Oliver, former University of Michigan athlete; Maj. Jerry Whitney, and Lieut. Col. Benny Hoge.

Stingy to Opponents.

Morgan Park captured the Midwest Prep conference title last Saturday when it defeated Elgin academy, 33 to 6. The only other squads to score on the Chicago Cadets were Pullman Tech, which was beaten 28 to 6, and Lake Forest academy, which lost, 19 to 6.

Leading players in the Morgan Park cast have been Charles Correll, half back; Bob Waggoner, full back, and Co-Captains Bill Richards, quarter back, and Irwin Martin, guard. Correll and Waggoner are two of the leading ball carriers in the conference.

Culver's touchdown specialist is Jim Kresl, right half back, whose home is in Hinsdale, Ill. Kresl scored Culver's two touchdowns on runs of 94 and 7 yards as the Hoosier Cadets defeated St. Bede's academy, 15 to 0, last Saturday. The team is captained by J. B. Thomas, rangy right end.

Chile Lengthens Lead in Military Jumping Contest

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—For the second straight time, the Chilean army team took highest honors in the military jumping contest tonight, featured event of the fifty-fourth annual national horse show, winning the international low score trophy. Maj. Eduardo Yanez on Chilena and Capt. Hernan Vigil on Andino scored only eight faults to nine for the American team of Lieut. F. S. Wing on Billy the Kid and Capt. R. A. Drake on Dinger. Mexico had nine and a half faults for third place. The competition ends tomorrow night. For the two nights, Chile has only 12 faults to 25 for the United States.

Leader—Rodman.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Six day bike racers, like more rational humans, love applause. So, when the lads in Chicago's 42d international race found the largest crowd of the meeting in Stadium seats last night, they pedaled with new ardor. So great was the zeal that only three laps separated the pace-setters and the rear guards.

After the night's heaviest jamming, Cecil Yates and Jerry Rodman, the Chicago bachelor team, were leading the race, in a mileage tie with another Chicago rider, Mickey Rodak, and his Belgian partner, Archie Bollaert. Early this morning, however, the veterans Al Letourner and Tino Reboli replaced Rodak-Bollaert, but still were possessed of an anemic sprint point total.

The Leaders Are Shuffled.

When the evening's bearing down started, around 8 o'clock, the team of Gerard Debaets and Bobby Thomas was leading, but three hours later they were tenth, in a mileage tie with another veteran pair, Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley. These gents, being only two laps behind the leaders, were in no danger of immediate severe embarrassment before cycling enthusiasts, and later improved their positions.

At one point in mid-evening Bollaert and Rodak headed the pack by themselves, a state of affairs which was rather startling to the form followers as well as some of the old riders in the race. Several of the veterans admitted that Bollaert, who had been in something of a slump during two of three races, had been doing the best pedaling in the field. While it is not expected that Archie and Mickey will win the race, their newly found skill added much to put zip into the competition.

The kid team of Jakie Gruber and William Anderson, 11 laps back, withdrew during the day, leaving 11 teams in the field. All the remaining 22 riders were riding into fine physical shape and, barring injuries, no more withdrawals within the next two days were anticipated.

Debaets Pulls a Trick.

Except for a gentle fall by Harold Nauwens, due to a blown tire, there were no spills. The riders seem in a fair way to set a record. There have only been three spills in the race and Debaets has been in two of them. He fell Sunday night 10 minutes after the race started and also went sprawling early Tuesday.

Debaets was out for 10 minutes each time. The last mishap occurred when a tire blew out, but after he had been patched up Debaets came out on the track. Instead of accepting the sympathies of the other riders the crafty veteran jumped on his bike and gained a lap.

Tonight will be American night. Gifts will be presented to each American boy in the race.

Even a Biker Has to Relax

The grand old man of the bike, Reggie McNamara, counsels Caesar Moretti, youthful Italian.

Point of View.

A little lady on market today
Buying some late autumn blooms,
Bearing them off with a smile on her face
To brighten up what cheerless rooms?
Two neighbors chatting over a fence—
Idling the bright morning hours;
"Isn't she foolish," one of them said,
"To be spending her money on flowers?"
"Foolish" to lay out some coin of the realm
On summer's farewell to some field?
I couldn't but smile as I thought to myself
Of the pleasure those blossoms would yield
To that little old lady sitting alone—
Perhaps in some furnished room,
While the critical two mayhap were sitting
Seeking thrills in some cinema's gloom!

The First Flapjacks.

There's a time along in autumn
When the sluggish days are gone,
And the frost upon the housetops
Glistens in the sun at dawn.
Then the appetitle grows keener
And the summer's meager fare
Is the merest aggravation
Of the craving that is there—
Craving that we cannot fathom
Till from out the kitchen door
Steals a most entrancing odor
That we've smelled, Ah, yes, before.
Then we know that mother's busy
Frying flapjacks by the score
For the handicap she's needing
When we start to holler "more."
There's a jug of golden sirup,
Sausage sizzling in the pan;
O, 'twas flapjacks I was craving!
"Flapjacks," says the inner man.

MAROON ALUMNI CALL MEETING TO TALK FOOTBALL

Coach Denies the Players Dictate Strategy.

The Alumni Club of the University of Chicago, whose football team has scored only 12 points against 201 by five opponents this season, yesterday called a meeting to discuss the situation. "This is to be a session for alumni only," said cards sent to the alumni.

"As this will be one of the most important luncheons that has been held in many years, you cannot afford to miss it."

Schommer Heads Club.

The meeting will be held tomorrow noon in the La Salle hotel, according to John J. Schommer, club president and Western conference gridiron official and an old time Maroon star.

The announcement was signed by Schommer and several other Maroon alumni, including Harry R. Swanson, listed as "head coach of the La Salle street coaching staff." Schommer described this organization as "a number of we Chicago alumni who enjoy getting together occasionally to do a little football second guessing and razzing."

Coach Denies Uprising.

Meanwhile on the Midway Coach Clark Shaughnessy branded as false reports his players have been dictating game strategy on diagramming plays.

"There has not been one play for which any player or players have been responsible," he said. "Rumors that this has been done are lies. The boys asked me to work them harder in practice, and this was done last week, but coaching has been performed by the coaches."

Three Out with Injuries.

The Maroons are scheduled to indulge in a brief scrimmage today, most of the practice being set aside for signal drill in preparation for the game with Ohio State, Western conference leaders, Saturday.

Loss of three regular players will further cripple the team. Wallace Ottomeyer, second string full back, is in a Washington, D. C., hospital, suffering from influenza. Bob Howard, regular full back and the Maroons' sole line bucker, will be out with an injured leg. Dave Wiedemann, veteran tackle, whose leg injury has kept him out of the lineup in the last three games, is out for the season.

OHIO DRILLS SOPHS.

Columbus, O., Nov. 7 [Special].—Ohio State sophomores will see plenty of action against Chicago in the Midway Saturday, it was indicated today as the Buckeyes drilled thru a cold rain.

The freshman eleven demonstrated Chicago's plays and a short scrimmage session was held late in the evening.

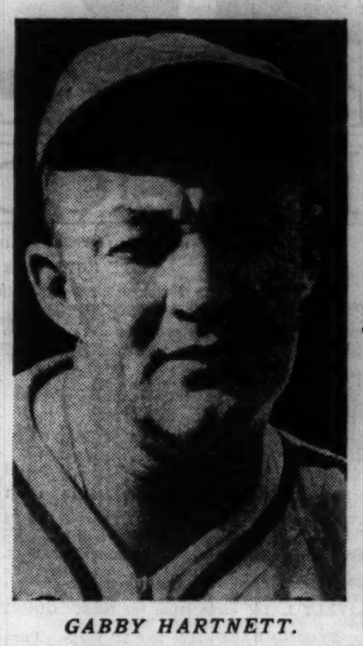
LEADING TEAMS IN PREP SOCCER TO PLAY TODAY

The race in the Chicago Public High School Soccer league goes into its seventh round today with four matches scheduled. The first five teams in the standings, including the defending co-champions, are scheduled. Lane Tech, heading the circuit by a point, faces Amundsen at Winnemac park. Lane has won three and tied three. Amundsen has one victory and five defeats.

The Crane Tech-Schurz match at Kilbourn park is expected to be the hardest fought of the day. Crane has won four and lost one, while Schurz has a record of two victories, one loss and two ties.

In the other games Kelly opposes Manley at Sparta stadium and, Tilden, the fifth team with a chance for the championship, meets Von Steuben at Sherman park. All games start at 4 p. m.

He'll Start—at Least



GABBY HARTNETT.

N. U.'s Happy; Soper Returns to Back Field

Altho several key linemen's effectiveness will be lessened by injuries in Saturday's game against Purdue in Dyche stadium, Northwestern's football team will be strengthened today by the return of Paul Soper, chunky left half back, who was unable to play against Minnesota because of an attack of influenza.

Soper is Northwestern's leading ground gainer with 256 yards in 36 attempts. He was the outstanding ball carrier in both the Wisconsin and Illinois games. In the latter contest he ran 74 yards for the Wildcats' first touchdown. He also has been effective as a kicker and passer.

With Soper back in action the Wildcats will have four left half backs ready. The others are Red Hahnenstein, Bill De Correvont, and Erwin Madsen. The latter has been used only sparingly, but is expected to break into the lineup more frequently from now on.

Floyd Chambers, sophomore who has been working overtime at right half, is expected to have more help Saturday with the return of Ike Kepford, another sophomore who has been out of the lineup since the Ohio State game. Kepford has been running well in practice this week.

Don Clawson, husky sophomore full back, has become a fixture in the starting lineup on the strength of his running in the last two games. The Kankakee youngster is the second leading ground gainer on the squad with a total of 197 yards in 47 attempts. He also leads the team in scoring with 27 points in four games.

PURDUE PLANS LINE CHANGE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—Well pleased with the squad's reaction to the first real scrimmage in nearly three weeks yesterday afternoon, Coach Mal Elward sent the Purdue squad thru another contact session today in preparation for the clash with Northwestern in Evanston on Saturday. While emphasizing development of the aerial attack time was devoted to providing adequate protection for the punters, whose kicks have been blocked in the last two games.

Altho Felix Mackiewicz, veteran right end who has been inactive for two weeks, is expected to play, it is feared that Carl Verplank, veteran right guard, may not be in condition as his injury has not responded to treatment. Jim Miller and Jack Winchell are adequate substitutes. Tom Melton has been shifted to left guard to provide support for Frank Bykowski, one of the iron men of the line. He has played the full sixty minutes in three of the five games.

Fencer Dies of Injuries Received in School Match

North Bergen, N. J., Nov. 7 [Special].—Vincent Cartier, 19, died in Weehawken hospital tonight of injuries received in a fencing match last night in Jefferson public school here. Cartier was matched against Joseph Cerutti, 19. Cerutti's foil penetrated the screen of Cartier's mask and administered a deep cut over the right eye. Cartier fainted and fell on the concrete floor, striking his head.

MANAGER MUST CO-OPERATE, IS WRIGLEY ORDER

Owner Again Says 'No' on Medwick.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Charles Leo Gabby Hartnett will continue as manager of the Cubs who during the 1939 pennant race suffered such a severe attack of feebleness that they finished in fourth place.

Just how long the Hartnett dynasty will remain in power is a different matter. But he'll be signed eventually for 1940 and remain at the helm at least until after the season has opened.

The above was announced yesterday by P. K. Wrigley, Cubs' president-owner, who innocently touched off the "Fire Hartnett" idea the day after his athletes had been trimmed in the city series with the White Sox. At that time the disappointed magnate made no attempt to conceal his irritation over the team's nose dive, but admitted he didn't want to act until he had cooled off. The cooling took place gradually and the process was completed yesterday when he handed down a reprieve.

Must Come Out of Shell.

Gabby has got to quit being a lone wolf. Those are his employers' own words. During the 1939 season the one time blustery athlete crawled into a shell so far as Wrigley was concerned. The manager, even when it was obvious that his team was sorely pressed for talent, refused to seek out his employer for a huddle on the subject of reinforcements. And Wrigley by way of showing he too could remain aloof let more than half the season elapse before he showed up in his own ball park to see his own team play ball.

"Hartnett's attitude that he was working separately instead of with the organization was my big grievance," said Wrigley in explaining that all had been forgiven for the time being. "Naturally I thought the team should have done better in the race, but maybe I wouldn't have had such thoughts if Gabby had come to me from time to time and expressed his views. After all I was stuck with the team, so was entitled to know what was going on. I could have sent for him, but then there'd been the usual interference stories."

Promises to Coöperate.

Gabby has promised to be a nice, amiable fellow so far as periodical conferences with his boss are concerned. They have already had several talks and Wrigley didn't hesitate to point out that No. 1 complaint was Hartnett's lone wolfing. After hearing from the plaintiff on this point Gabby is supposed to have conceded that he had viewed his job from the wrong angle. The manager merely wanted to get along on his own devices if possible.

"He's willing to go along now on my basis," declared Wrigley, "and I am willing to wait long enough to determine if a little close coöperation can get results."

Not After Medwick.

After his post-city series interview in which Hartnett's job didn't seem to have the value of a thin dime, Wrigley gave his first indication of relenting by announcing that he had asked the manager for a 1940 program. The idea of this was to find out just how well Gabby could analyze the team's requirements. If the program didn't sound good to the boss, Hartnett was to get the ax.

But, even tho Gabby is safe for the time being, the program hasn't been completed. At least Wrigley hasn't heard it in its entirety, principally because of other pressing business. In the near future he expects to sit down with the manager, listen to the whole story, and then proceed with an attempt to remedy some of the team's prevailing defects.

"All I know about players now," said Wrigley, "is that we are not trying or going to try to buy Joe Medwick from the Cardinals. We haven't had much luck in such transactions so will concentrate on the development of our own player prospects."

Fordham Defeats N. Y. U. in Freshman Game, 27-6

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—For more than three periods the New York university freshmen stayed close enough to demand a recount in their annual election day football struggle with the Fordham Yearlings today. From a slight plurality, however, the Rams soared to an overwhelming majority and when the ballots were counted it was Fordham, 27; N. Y. U., 6.

Win or Lose, the Geiges Family Say It's Their Day

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—The football game that Northeast High won today from Frankford, 7 to 6, was a Geiges family encounter. Harold E. Geiges is coach at Northeast. His brother, Elwood, coaches Frankford. Another brother, Carl, was the referee. Watching from the stands were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geiges.

SALUDA SCORES IN HUNTS MEET STEEPLECHASE

Beats Good Chance by a Nose at Belmont.

New York, Nov. 7 [Special.]—In a finish that would have called for a camera, if there had been one in operation, Saluda from the Croton stable of Mrs. Robert L. Winthrop today won the Temple Gwathmey Memorial steeplechase handicap. He gave the fashionable crowd of 10,000 at Belmont Park the thrill of the day as he bobbed heads with the Rokeby stable's Good Chance to gain the decision by a nose.

Long Shot Is Third.

This two and a half mile test over brush featured one of the best meetings the United Hunts Racing association has held in years, and brought the New York racing season to close.

As Saludo bobbed down to the wire a nose in front of Good Chance, George H. [Pete] Bostwick's Long Shot, a recent winner in the Hunts meets was third, 20 lengths back of the leaders. Saluda was a 5 to 1 shot while Good Chance closed a 4 to 5 favorite on the strength of his recent victory in the Battleship steeplechase at Pimlico.

Rioter Makes Pace.

Rioter went to the front at the start and made the pace for the first turn of the field. Taking the water jump, Good Chance headed him for a quarter of a mile but the Hitchcock entry once more took the lead. The field was well bunched.

Going to the turn out of the backstretch Saluda and Good Chance moved out from the others and Good Chance drew into a lead of two lengths. But on the last turn Saluda took the inside, saved ground and came up to the leader on even terms at the last fence. Once over the jump it was a hard fought run for the wire.

War Magic Wins Cherry Malotte.

The Cherry Malotte, a steeplechase at about two miles went to J. C. Brady's War Magic, which scored an easy victory, winning by six lengths from Knight Heran with Spinach third. War Magic was an 11 to 5 choice.

The sporting plate, a six furlong dash for two year olds on the main course brought out some of the top juveniles despite scratches. Withdrawn were Calory and Small World, which were among the favorites. This left the race an easy victory for Mrs. W. T. Anderson's Charlie Infeld, which was made a 2 to 5 favorite in a field of seven.

Hunters Open Fire Friday on Pheasants

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois' field and marsh infantry, made up of sportsmen armed with shotguns of different gauges, will move into the country Friday morning for a noisy day. It's going to mean trouble for the gaudy ring necked pheasants, rabbits, and quail.

The open season on all three of these species of upland game starts at sunrise Friday. It's an opening day that will put thousands of shooters into the marshes, corn fields, and weed thickets. With the second and third day of the 1939 open season coming on a Saturday and Sunday, wardens anticipate an even larger outpouring of hunters over the week-end.

Quail Are Scarce.

With few quail in northern Illinois, hunters in this part of the state will concentrate on pheasants and rabbits. Down state, where the bobwhites are much more abundant, shooters will turn out their setters and pointers to find quail, considered by most sportsmen as the king of all upland game birds.

The pheasant season has been lengthened this season. In former years it was from Nov. 10 to Nov. 15 inclusive. This year the season again will open on the 10th, but it continues for 10 days. The limit is two cock pheasants a day, and only four may be in possession.

Many northern Illinois hunters who have gone after pheasants year after year, and have seen the way the weed thickets, marshes, and cornfields are combed by the big army of hunters, are against the lengthened season. They feel that no stretch of country which is hunted hard [as is most of northern Illinois] can hold a pheasant population large enough to withstand two successive week-ends of pounding. They reason that the longer season doubtless will result in many hen pheasants being killed and a consequent injury to the entire ringneck population.

Shooting Grounds Limited.

Hunters who haven't made arrangements for shooting privileges during the first days of the pheasant season may see more than the usual number of "no trespassing" signs this year. With a heavy demand for pheasant grounds, many farmers are leasing their land to groups of hunters. This acreage is posted and in many cases being patroled.

The rabbit season which opens Friday continues until Jan. 15. The bag limit is 10 and the possession limit is 20. All the rabbit shooters are being warned against lazy, slow-running rabbits which do not sprint from a hunter at a fast pace. These animals may be infected with tularemia or rabbit fever, a disease which may be transmitted to humans.

Reid Beats Friedkin in 8 Round New York Fight

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—Al Reid of the Bronx won the verdict over Bernie Friedkin of Brownsville in the eight round feature bout in the Broadway arena tonight. There were no knockdowns. Reid, at 129¾, spotted Friedkin 4½ pounds.

NEW YORK PICKS RUGBY LINEUP FOR CHICAGOANS

Ivy League, International Stars on Squad.

The lineup of the New York rugby football club, which faces the Chicago 15 in Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon, was announced last night. It contains the names of 16 former college football stars and international rugby veterans, topped by Larry Kelley, giant Yale end and all-American of 1935.

Larry Kelley.

George Jack, Henri Bertie, George Mulcahy, and Paul White comprise a quartet of international ruggers, while the remainder of the eastern squad consists of Ivy league stars from Princeton, Yale, and Dartmouth.

BACKS—Bill Pasley, Princeton; Ben Jesser, Princeton, Woolsey Wheeler, Colgate; Bob Wheeler, Yale; Ed Lee, Princeton; George Jack, Manchester, Eng.; Joe Smith, Dartmouth.

While there are 16 in the squad, only 15 will get in the game. Since the starting lineup also is the finishing lineup—there being no substitutions—the extra player will start only in case of sickness or injury to one of the others before the game.

West Section Trials End in C. Y. O. Boxing

Preliminary bouts involving west side contestants in the annual C. Y. O. boxing tournament ended last night in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street, with two boys—one Polish and the other Italian—emerging as the outstanding boxers in their section.

Further preliminary matches will be fought tomorrow and Friday nights in Marigold Gardens, where north side entrants will seek to qualify for the tournament quarter finals, Nov. 13, 14, 15, in the C. Y. O. Center gymnasium.

The two boys who impressed spectators last night were a bantamweight from Sacred Heart parish, George Selsky, and a featherweight from Our Lady of Pompeii parish, Cuneo Sammarco. Selsky, a southpaw, scored a three round decision over James Ramey, Holy Trinity parish, while Sammarco won over Tony Domatelli, Sacred Heart parish, also in three rounds.

HALAS LAUNCHES CRUSADE AGAINST ILLEGAL PLAYS

Accuses Lions, Packers in Games with Bears.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

George Halas, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears, launched a one-man crusade against illegal plays in the National Football league last night, after a jury of reporters and coaches had studied motion pictures of the Detroit and Green Bay games and concurred in Halas' opinion that the two teams were guilty of unfair practices.

Halas' charges involved three pass plays, two by the Lions and one by the Packers. In the case of the Lions, the infractions appeared premeditated. Green Bay was indicted more or less on circumstantial evidence, the jury admitting the possibility that a mistake in assignments may have led to the infraction.

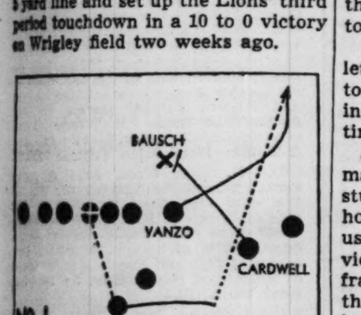
Threat to Pro Game.

"Permitting the use of illegal plays is the most positive method of destroying professional football," Halas said in announcing he would fortify officials in Sunday's game in Detroit between the Bears and the Lions with all the evidence of previous rules violations by the Lions.

"The other eight coaches in the National league are just as smart as the two who are deliberately seeking ways of beating the rules," Halas continued. "If these two guilty parties are allowed to continue, the other eight will feel privileged to follow suit and before long professional football will be a dead sport. Officials are at fault to some extent for permitting the plays, but they are not to be censured as severely as the men who premeditatedly fashion plays beyond the limits of the code. Such methods not only are a reprehensible practice from a business standpoint, they are a flagrant disregard for all the tenets of sportsmanship."

Here's Violation No. 1.

The play which caused Halas the greatest concern was a twenty-seven yard pass from Dwight Sloan to Fred Vanzo, which placed the ball on the 5 yard line and set up the Lions' third period touchdown in a 10 to 0 victory on Wrigley field two weeks ago.

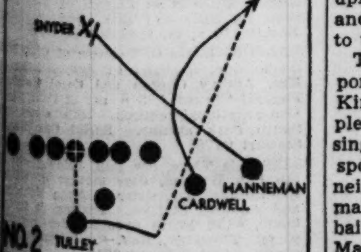


Lloyd Cardwell, Detroit right half back, quite obviously was assigned to block out Pete Bausch, the Bears' center, who was backing up on the left side of the line. This is known as "picking off" a man. Bausch was assigned to cover Vanzo. Vanzo held up long enough to let Cardwell come over from his back field position on a spread formation to take Bausch out of the play, then slipped out into the open to take the pass.

The rules specify a fifteen yard penalty and loss of down from the spot of the previous down for any interference by the passing team beyond the line of scrimmage. Interference by the passing team is prohibited from the time the ball is snapped. In the case of the defensive team, interference is prohibited from the time the ball leaves the passer's hand. Enforcement of this rule in the case of the Lions' pass would have set Detroit back to the Bears' 47 yard line with a loss of a down. As it turned out, the Lions were given first down on the 15 yard line. They scored two plays later.

Violation No. 2.

Movies revealed the second infraction to be even more flagrant, altho the pass was not completed. It occurred in the first half.



Chuck Hanneman, the Lions' right end, raced nearly thirty yards up the field from his position on the extreme right flank of another spread formation and threw a block at Bob Snyder, the Bears' safety man, going down in a heap with Snyder. It was clearly a case of "picking off." Like Cardwell, Hanneman made no attempt to get by the defensive man, eliminating the possibility that it might have been an accidental collision. Had Cardwell caught Darrell Tully's pass on this play, the Lions again would have been within leaping distance of a touchdown.

The Packers' Infraction.

The Green Bay play, which netted twenty-seven yards, was a question of the eligibility of Carl Mulleneaux, the receiver, if he and Don Hutson were on the line of scrimmage or of not having seven men on the line if they were back a yard. Hutson left his left end position on the play and lined up beside Mulleneaux, the right end. A doubt was raised in the minds of the jury when the pictures revealed a very ragged line, which fell away sharply to the right of the center. It is obvious that Hutson was not on the line, but Mulleneaux also appears to be a yard back. The fact that no back field man went up into the line to replace Hutson made the play illegal on one of two counts. Halas and Assistant Coach Luke Johnsos protested the play at the time and also at the half.

Smith Is Only a Sophomore, But He Acts Like a Veteran

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Fate sought to conceal him by naming him Smith. But it gave up after Illinois' stunning upset of Michigan last Saturday.

"Who's that fellow?" echoed in the press box as Jimmy ran, passed, handled dangerous punts courageously and deftly, and tackled in deadly style.

Once he ran thirty-seven yards from scrimmage to Michigan's 8 yard line. He would have scored had his blockers been a trifle more efficient. The run was canceled because another Illinois player was charged with clipping, but the feat revealed the possibilities of the boy from Murphysboro.

He Has the Heart.

Jimmy's net gain was thirty-seven yards, an average of 3.1 per attempt. Had the thirty-seven yard sprint been allowed, he would have gained more than Harmon, whose net gain was seventy-two yards with an average of four.

It was Jimmy who threw over Harmon's head to George Rettinger on the motheaten "sleeper play" which brought Illinois' first touchdown. It was also Jimmy who plunged thru the the Wolverine line for the second touchdown of the Illini.

It takes a stout heart for any one, let alone an inexperienced sophomore, to catch punts with opponents pouring down on him, but Jimmy did it time and time again.

Jimmy is a reserved, modest young man, who spends most of his time studying. He is carrying 17 academic hours, a larger responsibility than usual. He rooms with Paul Milosevich, sophomore end, in the Chi Phi fraternity house and both are so quiet that Capt. Mel Brewer, also in the house, is offering a prize for any one hearing either utter more than ten words at a time.

Played Against Brewer.

Off season, Jimmy plays intramural baseball and basketball, ice skates, plays tennis, and fishes occasionally in the summer. Once in a while he goes to a movie. He seldom reads the sports pages and doesn't enjoy watching athletic contests. He isn't exactly socially inclined either, doing very well without dancing and dates.

Harmon? No, Smith!

JIMMY SMITH.

The sophomore's 170 pounds are compactly carried on a 5 feet 9 inch frame. He is dark and he has straight black hair.

In high school Smith played football, basketball, and baseball. He was a top-notch kicker and passer in the Big Eleven conference and fans in Egypt still talk about the rainy day he punted a soggy football 80 yards, one of the several kicks he made to help beat Harrisburg, 13 to 0. Jimmy could assume the Illini's kicking responsibility with fair success if needed.

Jimmy was an all-conference back for two seasons and was picked on a second all-state team his senior year. He came to Illinois largely because of his friendship for Brewer, against whom he played in high school. He attended the state interscholastic track and basketball meets and says, "I liked Illinois then and I still do."

Works on Roads.

He won his freshman numeral as a half back and at the start of the season was considered the most versatile sophomore back. He is of English-Dutch descent. His father is in the independent trucking business. In the summer he helps his father on highway contracts.

HARMON, HURSH, KINNICK RETAIN LEADS IN BIG TEN

Tom Harmon of Michigan, Hal Hursh of Indiana, and Nile Kinnick of Iowa remained at the top of the Big Ten individual standings last week, but not without strong pressure from their challengers.

Harmon held his scoring lead in easy fashion, taking a pass for a touchdown against Illinois to run his conference total to 51 points, still far ahead of Northwestern's Don Clawson, who moved into second place by virtue of a touchdown and two conversions against Minnesota.

Harmon also maintained his ground gaining lead, with 311 yards in 43 attempts, but his average per play was cut from almost 10 yards to 7.25 by Illinois. Paul Soper of Northwestern closely follows Harmon's average with 7 yards a try and a total of 235 yards while George Paskvan of Wisconsin, idle last Saturday, remained in second place with a 237 yard total.

Clawson was the 4th man in the conference to hit the 200 yard total with 210 yards while Kinnick and Harold Van Every of Minnesota approached it with 198 yards each.

Hursh and Kinnick, the passing leaders, could not keep up their remarkable pace of last week and dropped. Against Ohio Hursh completed only 1 pass for a 2 yard net loss while Kinnick had 1 completion for 12 yards against Purdue. Meanwhile Scott of Ohio moved up on their respective totals of 392 and 367 yards with a 3 game total of 213 yards. Scoring leaders:

Illinois Seeks Defense for Badgers' Star

Ike Niedzelski and Myron Pfeiffer, freshman backs, alternated in Paskvan's rôle. Scouts have warned that the Badger full back is one of the best on end sweeps and line plunges the Illini will see this year.

They also report Wisconsin was a vastly improved team in its last start against Iowa and that Illinois will be outweighed approximately 15 pounds per man.

The Illini were encouraged by news that Cliff Peterson, junior full back, would participate tomorrow in his first scrimmage since he was injured in the Southern California game. Coach Bob Zuppke believes Peterson will be ready to play against the Badgers.

WISCONSIN SPIRIT HIGH.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7 [Special].—Wisconsin's revised varsity eleven, which includes sophomores at left guard and quarter back, was sent thru an offensive and defensive scrimmage with the freshmen this afternoon, concluding heavy work for the game with Illinois in Champaign Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced tonight that Tony Gradisnik, senior left half back from Milwaukee, will not be able to play against Illinois and that Jim Riordan, junior tackle from Rhinelander, has quit football to devote all of his time to his studies. Gradisnik received a leg injury in the Iowa game that has been slow to respond to treatment. Riordan won a letter as an end in 1937.

ADDED MICHIGAN NEEDS: BLOCKING, A REAL DEFENSE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special].—Michigan's regulars returned to hard work today in the rain as Coach Fritz Crisler sought to accomplish two objectives: namely, to correct the slip-shod blocking which was apparent at Illinois, and to construct a defense for the Minnesota power plays.

With third-stringers Jim Grissen and Walter Kitti working at quarter back in place of injured Forest Evashevski, the Wolverines ran thru a long offensive drill which was followed by practice at stopping the Gopher attack as presented by a reserve squad.

DRILL TO STOP HARMON.

Bierman selected one of the reserves to play the rôle of Tom Harmon tonight and ran against the varsity from every one of Harmon's pet formations. On occasions, the reserves fooled the regulars enough so that practice was halted for some detailed instruction from the head coach.

JITTERS MAKE 1ST APPEARANCE IN IOWA CAMP

Freshmen Upset Varsity with Irish Plays.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 7 [Special].—University of Iowa practices, happy sessions all season, even thru the loss by injury of such men as Henry Luebcke, Jim Walker, and Bill Diehl, suddenly turned serious today as the Hawkeye defense was riddled by passes thrown by reserves using the Notre Dame running attack.

Led by Bill Hofer, freshman coach and regular quarter back on Notre Dame's 1938 eleven, the reserves gave a demonstration of the Irish offense in a dummy scrimmage. They experienced little difficulty in completely fooling the Hawkeyes.

Coach Eddie Anderson stressed defensive formations with more vigor than any time this season, and as Iowa's game of the year Saturday against Notre Dame approached, the Hawkeyes experienced their first case of jitters.

MARQUETTE LOSES BRADEN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7 [Special.]—Injuries to two first string linemen and news of the permanent loss of another worried Coach Paddy Driscoll today as he tuned up the Marquette offense for next Saturday's Parents day game with Iowa State here.

Any hope for the return of Dave Braden, senior guard who was hurt in the second game of the season with Iowa State, was dissipated today when the team trainer said Braden would not be ready for either the Iowa State or Texas Tech contests.

HOOSIER BACKS CHANGED.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—Coach Bo McMillin's threatened shakeup materialized today as he shifted Indiana's first string backs into three different combinations and reiterated that the best blockers and tacklers will receive the starting call Saturday when the Hoosiers meet Fordham in New York.

One back field consisted of Tipmore, quarter back; Brooks and Bringle, half backs, and Dumke, full back. In another combination he shifted Dumke to half back along with McGuire, and had Herbert and Tofil in their regular positions at quarter back and full back, respectively.

Dodgers and Artillery Play Indoor Football Tonight

The Maywood Dodgers and the 124th Field Artillery football team will clash tonight in the Armory at 5200 Cottage Grove avenue. The Artillery Middleweights and the Jack Walsh Boosters will play a preliminary game, starting at 7 o'clock.

THE BOYS GET THE GOAL POSTS, AND POLICE GET BOYS

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—After Brooklyn college had beaten the college of the City of New York last Saturday for the first time in eight years, the Kingsmen failed in an effort to take the goal posts from Lewisohn stadium—because there were too many City college boys around.

But there wasn't anybody on the field in the darkness early today when a brave band of Brooklynites returned to the stadium to claim their victors' spoils. While more than 100 students waited outside the walls, about two dozen scaled the high gates, uprooted the defenseless goal posts, and boosted them back over the walls to their comrades.

The posts were quickly broken into portable portions for souvenirs. The Kingsmen, considering the raid completed, were celebrating with much singing and yelling, when police responded to calls from the disturbed neighborhood. Eleven who did not make their getaway were held in $500 bail each until this morning, when Magistrate Richard F. McKiniry dismissed malicious mischief charges on condition the boys pay damages of $35.

Milwaukee School May Forfeit Football Title

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7 [Special].—St. Johns' Catholic High school, which won the Catholic conference football championship by defeating Messmer High last Saturday, will forfeit its claim to the title, it was reported today. A protest against two of the players used by the Cathedral team is said to have been made. The two players were eligible, it was said, but thru an error their names were not included on the list.

The Winkler A. C. will oppose Lawndale in a Greater Chicago league football game in Weber Park, Wellington and Ashland, at 8:15 tonight.

Yale Will Retain Coach Pond and His Staff for '40

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP).—Malcolm Farmer, Yale athletic director, disclosed tonight that Head Football Coach Raymond W. [Ducky] Pond and his staff will be retained next season. The statement was the principal repercussion to Pond's stinging lashing of the varsity team yesterday.

Pond took over the job in 1934, along with Earle [Greasy] Neale, his first lieutenant. Other members assured of their posts are Ivan Williamson, Bill Renner, Emerson Nelson and Gerry Ford.

News that the entire group of coaches will return in 1940 came as the student body mulled over Pond's angry criticism of the football team which he yesterday described as "the worst I've coached at any time at Yale," and his action demoting nine regulars.

While the retention of Pond and his assistants hardly could be termed as a distinct shock to those familiar with the Yale setup, the disclosure had a surprise element mainly because a statement of this sort usually has been delayed until long after the football season ends.

Yale defeated by Pennsylvania, Michigan and Dartmouth, and victorious over Columbia and Army, has games with Brown, Princeton and Harvard.

HAWKS RETURN; COACH EXPLAINS THAT 8-2 DEFEAT

The Blackhawks returned from Montreal yesterday, where they absorbed an 8 to 2 trouncing from the Canadiens Sunday.

"There is no use crying over that game," said Coach Paul Thompson. "We tried a system that worked in our four exhibition games and our opener against the Red Wings, and which scored 22 goals for us. We played a brand of open hockey which sometimes gives a decided advantage to the team that scores first. That was the way it happened in Montreal and we were unable to overcome the Canadiens' early lead.

The brace Rookie Phil Hergesheimer has been wearing for three weeks, since he was injured during the training season will be removed for tomorrow's workout. The club's physician, Dr. H. F. Meacham, will determine whether the right wing star will be in the lineup against New York Sunday in the Stadium.

FRAUD IS CHARGED IN CHICAGO HTS. ANNULMENT CASE

Bride Seeks to Set Aside Quick, Easy Ruling.

An investigation was ordered yesterday into charges that a young Chicagoan went to the Chicago Heights city court last October and obtained, fraudulently, an annulment of his marriage. The annulment was made possible by a recent state law which provides that any resident of a county in which there is a city court may get a divorce or annulment without undue delay or publicity in the city court.

The fraud accusation was made by Mrs. Lucille Parsons Dry, 27 years old, against Henry Dry, 28, 3800 Lake Shore drive, a son of Morris Dry, an official of the American Sanitary Rag company, 1001 North avenue.

Never Agreed, She Says.

In a petition to the Chicago Heights court last Saturday Mrs. Dry charged, thru Attorneys Marvin Nelson and Ernest C. Reniff, that she never consented to the separation, that her husband tricked her into signing an appearance notice, and that several of the grounds on which Dry had secured the annulment were untrue.

On the basis of the charges, Judge Robert Meier, who had granted the annulment, ordered the case records impounded and yesterday appointed former Judge Lee Carrier to conduct a thoro inquiry into the allegations.

Denies Meeting Father.

Dry obtained an order on Oct. 17 dissolving the marriage. In the proceedings, he was represented by Attorney Samuel Schlocker. Both Dry and his father testified that the reason for the annulment was that Mrs. Dry had refused, after a civil marriage in Davenport, Ia., last June, to go thru with an orthodox Jewish ceremony. Mrs. Dry is not of Jewish faith. The elder Dry testified that she had told him this several days after the Davenport marriage.

In her petition, Mrs. Dry denies ever having met her husband's father. She admits the marriage in Davenport and states that she and Dry lived in a hotel in that city for three days after the wedding.

Tells of Going to Tavern.

Last July, according to the bill, Dry took his wife to Attorney Schlocker's offices at 176 West Adams street. There, Mrs. Dry charges, her husband and Schlocker urged her to agree to an annulment. She said she refused.

A few weeks later, the petition alleges, Dry took her to a tavern where each had several drinks. Then he shoved a sheet of paper before her and told her to sign it. He told her, the bill states, that it was for arranging an apartment. She signed the paper.

Mrs. Dry's petition also denies that she was opposed to being married according to strict Jewish orthodox rites.

ALIMONY IS WON BY GIRL HE SAVED FROM NAZILAND

Mrs. Rose Volke.

Despite his plea that his wife married him only so she would not have to return to Austria [now part of Germany], Henry F. Volke, a chauffeur, was ordered yesterday to pay $8 a week temporary alimony to Mrs. Rose Volke of 315 Armitage avenue. Volke, in an annulment suit, charged that his wife, who was in this country on a six months visitor's visa, married him last May 31 with no intention of living with him.

Mrs. Volke, through her attorney, Benjamin H. Ehrlich, has filed a cross-bill for separate maintenance on a desertion charge.

"What if she did marry him to stay in this country?" asked Judge Oscar Nelson. "That's no ground for annulment."

Blood Transfusion Helps Midget After Suicide Try

Herbert Kinsel, 19 year old midget who attempted to commit suicide last week, was reported to be improving last night in the Danish American hospital after a blood transfusion. He was placed in an oxygen tent. The youth was a student at Elmhurst college. That fate had made him a midget was his plaint when he shot himself in his home at 4954 Altgeld street.

35 City Draftsmen Strike to Get 9 Others in Union

Thirty-five draftsmen in the city's water works designing division went on strike yesterday in an effort to force nine other workers in the same office to become members of the technical engineers and draftsmen's union. The strike halted work on plans for remodeling of pumping stations and other improvements, but city officials said no serious consequences would ensue at once.

BUNDESEN SEEKS MEMBERSHIP IN MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, who resigned from the Chicago Medical society in 1929, has reapplied for membership in that organization, it was learned last night. Dr. Bundesen verified the information but said he had no comment to make on his reapplication.

Dr. Bundesen resigned from the society as a protest against the ouster of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt from its membership. Dr. Schmidt, nationally known surgeon, was expelled because he was president of the Illinois Social Hygiene league, a philanthropic organization which treats venereal disease and engages in campaigns to interest the public.

Shot by Bailiff on Hunt; Awarded $1,000 Damages

A jury of five women and seven men before Judge John C. Lewe in Superior court returned a verdict of $1,000 yesterday for Harold W. Tribolet, 5053 Drummond place, in his $10,000 personal injury suit against Henry C. Sullivan, a Municipal court bailiff. Tribolet testified that on Oct. 6, 1934, while he was in a rowboat on Fox lake, he was injured by shots fired by Sullivan, who was aiming at ducks.

WOMAN, 61, SHOOTS HERSELF.

Mrs. Katherine Siegler, 61 years old, shot and seriously wounded herself yesterday in her home at 2049 North Lawndale avenue. She apparently was despondent over poor health. She was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

AFFIRMS VOIDING OF ICE CREAM MONOPOLY SUITS

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday entered a formal order affirming his opinion of Oct. 11 in which he dismissed monopoly indictments against 20 ice cream corporations and 20 individuals. They were accused of conspiring to restrain trade.

Judge Sullivan held that the charges were not made "with sufficient certainty" to meet constitutional requirements and did not show that the action was brought in the proper district.

Leo F. Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general, said his superiors in Washington would determine the matter of an appeal. A similar defeat in the government's anti-trust case against 14 milk corporations and 43 individuals has been appealed to the United States Supreme court.

FEW WPA JOBS OPEN; MAYOR'S PLAN DELAYED

Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, said yesterday there are only 6,700 Work Projects administration jobs open in Chicago. Mayor Kelly had announced that 29,000 reliefers were to have been given WPA jobs by last Wednesday thru the use of relief funds. None of these assignments have been made.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which certifies that needy persons are eligible for jobs, last night had sent WPA the names of 7,700 eligible persons from the relief rolls. State law provides that relief money can be given to the city or other sponsors to be used as the sponsor's contribution toward making jobs for those on the relief rolls.

Miner said he can not make distinctions between those certified to his organization from the relief rolls and those certified as eligible for WPA jobs who are not on the relief rolls. He must assign the best men available, he said. This may mean that some time will pass before even part of the Kelly plan can be put into operation, Miner added.

OBITUARIES

Louis J. Stolle.

Louis J. Stolle, a plastering contractor and father of former City Attorney Erwin F. Stolle of Evanston, died yesterday in his home, 807 Lincoln street, Evanston, after a long illness. He was 70 years old. Mr. Stolle resided in Evanston 50 years. In October he and his wife, Jennie, observed their golden wedding anniversary. He was a charter member of Evanston lodge of the Elks, and a member of the Odd Fellows. Another son, Henry, and a daughter, Lucy, also survive.

Mrs. Jessica Fergus Hanson.

Mrs. Jessica Fergus Hanson, 80 years old, died Monday in a Pasadena, Cal., hospital. Mrs. Hanson, whose Chicago home was the Pearson hotel, was the widow of Frederic Perry Hanson and the daughter of the late Robert Fergus, pioneer Chicago publisher. She was born on the site now occupied by the Palmer house. She was for 20 years a teacher in the public schools. A time for funeral services is to be set later. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

Richard T. Stross.

Funeral services for Richard T. Stross, former cornet soloist with John Philip Sousa and later Col. Armin Hand and his band, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 2449 Lincoln avenue. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Stross, who was 58 years old, died Saturday in Veterans' hospital at Indianapolis. Surviving are his widow, Gabrielle; a son, Richard T. Stross Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. Antoinette Ehinger and Mrs. Joseph Bauers.

Michael J. Whelan.

Funeral services for Michael J. Whelan, pioneer real estate man associated with Barrett Brothers, will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in St. Columbanus church. Mr. Whelan died suddenly Monday in his home, 7041 Prairie avenue. He was 62 years old, and was born in County Limerick, Ireland. Surviving are his wife, Catherine Bourke Whelan, four sons and three daughters. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Juda Katz.

Juda Katz, 73 years old, a former Chicagoan whose three sons are connected with the Katz millinery stores, died yesterday in Los Angeles. Surviving are the sons, Samuel, Morris, and Philip Katz; the widow, Esther, and two daughters, Mrs. Rose Pakula and Mrs. Jennie Rightman. Funeral services will be held Friday at 11 a. m. at the chapel at 1300 Devon avenue. Burial will be in Rosemont Park cemetery.

Mrs. Edna Dickens Hector.

Mrs. Edna Dickens Hector, wife of Dr. William S. Hector, chief of the surgical staff of St. Bernard's hospital and professor of surgery at Loyola university school of medicine, died yesterday in her home, 7321 South Shore drive. She was trained as a nurse and married Dr. Hector in 1914. Two children, Mary Jane and William D. Hector, also survive. Mrs. Hector was 58 years old.

Floyd K. Richtmyer.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer, 58 years old, noted physicist and head of Cornell university's graduate school, died tonight. A graduate of Cornell, Dean Richtmyer was an instructor, then professor of physics from 1906 to 1931, when he was named dean of the graduate school.

Fred McGauley.

Funeral services for Fred McGauley, 54 years old, member of a pioneer west side merchant family, will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in St. Patrick's church. Mr. McGauley died Sunday in the Swedish Covenant hospital. He is survived by a brother, Thomas.

L. A. EPPENSTEIN WILL DISPOSES OF A $225,000 ESTATE

The will of Louis A. Eppenstein, disposing of an estate in excess of $225,000, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Harry C. Daniels at Geneva, Kane county. Eppenstein, who died Oct. 24 at the age of 59, was president and principal owner of the Illinois Watch Case company, one of Elgin's oldest and largest industrial concerns.

The entire estate, with the exception of shares in the company, was left to the widow, Annetta, who was appointed executrix. The shares were left in trust, with Mrs. Eppenstein as trustee, half of the income to be paid to her, and the other half divided among three daughters, Mrs. Maxine Lawton, Chicago, and Mrs. Clarice Kochis and Miss Geraldine Eppenstein, Elgin. Mrs. Eppenstein is vice president of the watch case company. The family home is at 940 Douglas avenue, Elgin.

STUDENTS FIND WIRELESS HELPS IN SOCIAL LIVES

W. W. K. SPARROW, MILWAUKEE ROAD OFFICIAL, IS DEAD

William W. K. Sparrow, officer in charge of finance, accounting, and real estate for the Milwaukee Road, died last night in Washington Boulevard hospital. He was 59 years old. He was born in Ireland and came to this country in 1908, becoming associated with the railroad ten years later. He was elected a vice president in 1923, and had been finance officer for the last three years. He was a director of the Mercantile National bank. Surviving are his widow, Mary, 1214 Forest avenue, Evanston; a son, Joseph K. Sparrow, and two daughters, Mrs. George L. Green and Mrs. E. B. Rich.

KIWANIS CHIEFS OPEN CHICAGO PARLEY TODAY

Officers and governors elect of the Kiwanis International from the United States and Canada are assembling for their annual four day council, which opens today in the Palmer House. They will outline a program covering Kiwanis activity in public welfare, urban-rural relations, the study of relief legislation, juvenile aid, vocational guidance, traffic safety, law enforcement, and organization of discussion forums on public affairs.

Sets Nov. 18 as Deadline for 1938 Tax Objections

County Judge Jarecki yesterday set Nov. 18 as the deadline for filing objections to 1938 real estate taxes, either on the ground of high rates or incorrect valuations. On that date he will enter judgment for sale of properties on which owners have not paid taxes in full or have not filed objections.

AIR LINE DROPS BIG NEW PLANE AS TOO COSTLY

United Purchases 10 Smaller DC-4s.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

W. A. Patterson.

The four motored 66,500 pound airplane known as the Douglas DC-4 that was flown over the United States by several air lines last summer is considered too large to be economically sound for commercial air transportation at this stage of the industry's development, and no more will be built.

This became known last night when United Air Lines, the only company that had ordered any of the giant planes, announced that its order had been canceled. Instead, said W. A. Patterson, president of United, his company has ordered 10 smaller Douglas planes for delivery in the spring of 1941. The smaller planes also will be four motored craft.

50,000 Pound Ships Ordered.

The smaller machines will be called the "production type" DC-4s. They will weigh 50,000 pounds each, will have the tricycle landing gear pioneered in the original DC-4, a supercharged cabin for comfortable high altitude flying, and will be some 25 to 30 miles an hour faster than the older, larger machine, altho they will have considerably less power.

The original type DC-4 was to seat [illegible] passengers by day and have 32 berths for night flights. It was to have four 1,500 horse power engines, was to cruise at 196 miles an hour, and to cost approximately $500,000. The new machines will carry from 30 to 35 passengers, have four 1,200 horse power engines, cruise at 225 miles an hour, and cost $340,000 each.

Much Interest in Smaller Plane.

One of the chief reasons for the switch by United to the smaller planes, said Patterson, was the interest in such a machine shown by Presidents C. R. Smith of American Airlines, Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker of Eastern Airlines, and Jack Frye of Transcontinental and Western Air. Also interested in a machine of this size is K. L. M., the Royal Dutch Airlines.

If Douglas can sell 40 or 50 of the smaller planes the cost will be reduced even below the figure now quoted, because the engineering work which is such a large proportion of the total cost of any new plane, can be split among more production units.

It also was found in studies of the larger DC-4 that the seat-mile cost of operation would be considerably higher than the DC-3 21 passenger planes which all the major air line operators in the United States now are flying. The seat-mile cost of operating the new production-type DC-4 will be approximately the same as the DC3.

Problem of Big Ship Told.

From the time the original DC-4 was envisioned as reported in THE TRIBUNE as long as two years ago, traffic agents for the various air lines regarded it with considerable fear. It would be necessary to curtail frequency of schedules—a policy diametrically opposed to all transportation theories—in order to find enough passengers to fill these planes, they said.

With the new smaller planes the same frequency of service may be maintained but more seats will be available for sale.

Also with the smaller planes all the major air lines will be able to continue using the same engines that are being flown today.

United to Use Wasp Engines.

In the case of United Air Lines the C type twin wasp engines can be used; and of the other lines G-200 cyclones of identical power ratings for take off. This will mean no change in maintenance techniques or equipment.

The prototype DC-4 that was flown last summer was sold, less instruments and engines, to the Japanese government for $700,000 some months ago. The only other four motored air liner now flying is the Boeing 307 types that have been ordered by TWA and are to be delivered soon.

Fresh Eggs at Highest Price Year on ½ Cent Advance

Eggs graded as fresh firsts reached the highest price of the year in active cash trading on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Prices went up ½ cent a dozen to 24 cents. refrigerated grades advanced [illegible] cent. Reports of reductions of 34,500 cases in Chicago storage warehouses encouraged the market. November refrigerator standards futures at 17.90 cents a dozen. Butter prices were sustained in slow and closed unchanged with November at 27.50 cents per pound. prices were steady.

AAA to Make New Loans on Cotton Crop

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The agricultural department announced today it would make loans available to growers on this year's cotton crop at a base rate of 8.3 cents per pound.

The loans program provides allowances for location differentials under which cotton stored near principal markets will be eligible for a higher rate than cotton stored under loan at remote points.

Producers may place 1939 grown cotton under government loans at a base equivalent to 8.3 cents a pound for middling ⅞ inch cotton, gross weight basis, or 8.7 cents on a net weight basis, subject to differentials for location of its storage. The loan rate is slightly below the current price of about 9 cents a pound.

Loan Rates Will Vary.

Under the location differential provision, the loan rate will vary from a low of 8.70 cents per pound in parts of western Texas and in New Mexico to a maximum of 9.30 cents for some points in North Carolina and in Virginia. Rates in all Gulf of Mexico and California points will be 9.20 cents.

Announcement of the new loan program comes at a time when about 10,100,000 bales of surplus cotton from previous crops are stored under government loan programs.

The full loan rate will be available only to coöperating cotton producers who have not on any farm knowingly planted or permitted the planting of cotton in 1939 in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm during the last season.

Some Growers Penalized.

Noncoöperating farmers—those who exceeded their planting allotments—will be eligible to receive a loan at 60 per cent of the rate applicable to coöperating producers and only on that part of their production in excess of their marketing quotas.

The program also will provide a schedule of premiums and discounts under which cotton grading above and below middling ⅞ will be eligible for a variation in rates. This schedule was to be announced later.

Loans will be available until May 1, 1940. Local banks and other lending agencies may make loans to producers upon cotton stored in approved warehouses and sell their notes to the Commodity Credit corporation from time to time prior to 30 days from the maturity of such notes. The farmer loans will bear 3 per cent interest instead of 4 per cent as in the past.

ASSESSED VALUE OF COUNTY BANK STOCKS BOOSTED

The assessed value of stock of Cook county banks this year is $26,312,800, an increase of $1,759,000 over the 1938 assessment of $24,553,800, Assessor John S. Clark announced yesterday. An increase of $1,933,920 boosted the assessment for the six large loop banks to $23,673,750, compared with last year's assessment of $21,739,830, Clark said.

The figures are for bank stock assessments only. Banks also are assessed for their real estate and tangible personal property.

Assessments for each of the big loop banks this year, compared with the 1938 assessments, were listed as follows:

American National	$ 442,500	$ 376,600
Cont Illinois	9,398,800	8,434,150
First National	7,182,300	6,523,000
Harris Trust	3,474,000	3,359,800
Northern Trust	1,995,150	1,921,380

REVEALS STEEL FIRMS 'CONSULT' ON SOME PRICES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation, told the monopoly investigating committee today that steel companies consult among themselves concerning charges for making special steels for customers.

Federal trade commission and justice department officials at the hearing said it was the first time to their knowledge that a steel company representative ever admitted publicly that such consultations take place. The special charges are known to steel men as "extras," and are made when the companies process steel in a manner different from standard specifications.

Fairless said counsel advised him that the company was "perfectly within its rights" in holding such consultations, but a special assistant attorney general contended there was "some question" as to whether the practice constituted violation of anti-trust laws.

BELIEVE NAZIS RUN BLOCKADE THRU NEUTRALS

Neighbors' Shopping in America Expands.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Government figures indicated today that Germany's neutral neighbors may have run millions of dollars' worth of American goods past the empires' blockade to the reich in the first month of the war.

Officials declined to discuss the possibility, but the department of commerce published figures showing that altho Germany obtained scarcely anything from the United States in September, her neutral neighbors greatly stepped up their purchases in America.

In September, 1938, for instance, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Belgium, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland together bought $34,611,000 from the United States. Of that total, $12,675,000 was bought by Germany alone.

Nazi Purchases Tumble.

Last September, Germany's purchases fell off to $607,000, but the American purchases of the middle European group totaled $33,460,000—practically the same as last year.

Neutrals made purchases for Germany in the world war, with the result that England and France started rationing them in an attempt to limit their imports to quantities the neutrals needed only for themselves.

At least part of the September increase in exports to European neutrals was caused by the disruption of their normal purchases from England, France, and Germany. Sweden bought $3,628,000 in American goods in September, 1938, against $8,695,000 in September this year; Norway jumped from $1,665,000 to $4,397,000; The Netherlands from $6,663,000 to $9,916,000; Denmark from $1,371,000 to $2,674,000; Belgium from $4,467,000 to $5,554,000; Switzerland from $729,000 to $1,617,000.

Russian Buying Decreases.

If Germany sent other countries shopping in America in September, the figures indicate that Italy and Russia probably were not so employed. Italy's imports from the United States increased only from $4,158,000 in September, 1938, to $4,834,000 last September, while Russia's imports fell from $5,595,000 to $1,785,000. Spain's imports gained, but this was believed a result of the fact that Spain is now rebuilding its civil war wreckage.

France and England, importing directly from the United States, increased their American purchases. France bought $11,235,000 worth of American goods in September, 1938, and $12,132,000 in September, 1939. England boosted its purchases from $49,301,000 to $60,339,000.

American exports of all countries in September totaled $288,573,000 against $246,335,000 in September, 1938. For the first nine months of 1939 they totaled $2,184,894,000 against $2,295,447,000 for the comparable period last year.

Comparative Figures.

September exports this year and last year to principal countries were:

	1938.	1939.
Mexico	4,465,000	5,781,000

Bendix Votes Dividend of $1 for Common

Favorable dividend actions were taken yesterday by director of four large companies, including three Chicago enterprises. Bendix Aviation corporation declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 11 to holders of record Nov. 18, bringing this year's total payments to $1.50. Payments of 25 cents were made June 1 and Sept. 1 this year. Nothing was paid on the common in 1938.

An extra dividend of 10 cents a share and the regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents were declared by directors of the Union Tank Car company, Chicago. Both are payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 18, and bring this year's payments to a total of $1.30. The same amount was paid in 1938.

Belden to Pay 30 Cents.

Belden Manufacturing company, Chicago manufacturer of insulated copper wire with plants here and in Richmond, Ind., declared a dividend of 30 cents on its common stock, payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 20. Payments made earlier this year were 5 cents on Feb. 20, 10 cents on May 15, and 15 cents on Aug. 15. The company paid a total of 20 cents in 1938.

Directors of the Storkline Furniture corporation, Chicago manufacturer of children's furniture, announced an extra dividend of 12½ cents per common share, as well as the regular quarterly payment of the same amount. The dividends, payable Nov. 29 to stockholders of record Nov. 18, bring total 1939 payments to 75 cents. A total of 37½ cents was paid last year.

Court Issues Restraining Order in Watermelon Case

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday issued an order directing that Cohen and Gordon, commission merchants at 1425 South Racine avenue cease from violating department of agriculture regulations with respect to the sale of watermelons. The department of agriculture had alleged that the company did not make reports or pay the $1 a carload assessment imposed by the watermelon control.

More Sugar Delivered This Year to American Market

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The agriculture department reported today sugar delivered to American markets totalled 5,521,110 short tons, raw value, during the first nine months of this year, compared with 4,926,521 a year ago.

VANDERPLOEG NAMED HEAD OF KELLOGG CO., FOOD MANUFACTURER

W. H. Vanderploeg.

Watson H. Vanderploeg, former vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, yesterday was named president and general manager of the Kellogg company, manufacturer of packaged foods at Battle Creek, Mich. He had been executive vice president and general manager since last July.

He succeeds W. K. Kellogg, founder of the company and its active head since 1906. Kellogg was elected chairman of board. Joel S. Mitchell, vice president of the foreign division, was named first vice president and will take over additional duties in connection with the company's domestic business.

Vanderploeg has been a director of the company since 1937. Last April he was named "executive representative of W. K. Kellogg" on the company's board. He is a native of Pella, Ia.

COURT REJECTS ATLANTA ATTACK ON 1937 COAL ACT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Atlanta apparently lost its Supreme court attack on the constitutionality of the 1937 bituminous coal act today.

Chief Justice Hughes stopped argument on constitutional questions after he and other justices had expressed doubt that the city had a right to challenge the legislation before it had suffered actual damages. This action indicated the tribunal would dismiss the case.

Atlanta challenged constitutionality of price fixing provisions, contending the city would have to pay more for its coal, but the justices developed that the price schedule had not yet been announced.

"It is rather difficult to see how you are injured," commented Chief Justice Hughes before asserting:

The 1937 law was intended to stabilize the bituminous coal industry. It was passed as a substitute for the 1935 Guffey act declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court. Atlanta appealed from a decision by the District of Columbia federal court sustaining the legislation.

MOTOR AND FOOD ISSUES BOLSTER CHICAGO STOCKS

Motor and food shares lifted most issues on the Chicago Stock exchange slightly higher yesterday. Trading continued along narrow lines thruout the session, however, with only 22,000 shares changing hands in 80 issues. The Chicago exchange was one of the major securities markets open during the day.

General Motors advanced 1 point at 55 on a turnover of 1,600 shares, the second largest volume for any issue. Hupp Motor closed unchanged at 1½ on moderate transactions.

Among automobile equipment shares, Aro Equipment set a new 1939 high of 14⅞ but slipped to finish at 14⅜, up ¼. Burd Piston Ring climbed ⅛. Borg-Warner declined ¾.

JONES OFFERS PLAN TO SAVE WEAK CARRIERS

Boston-Maine First to Take Action.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, inaugurated for the Boston and Maine railroad today a debt refunding plan which he said might save a number of railroads from bankruptcy. However, it has not yet been applied to any other railroad.

The plan provides for postponing debt payments and reducing annual interest charges. The B. and M., which already owes the Reconstruction Finance corporation $14,750,000, had applied for additional loans.

Jones said the railroad was "so close to the ragged edge" in meeting its debts that the R. F. C. suggested the refunding plan as a condition for future loans.

Board Meets, Adopts Plan.

Directors of the railroad, Jones said, met in Boston today and approved the plan, but its adoption will depend upon the consent of bondholders and creditor banks. The program is subject also to interstate commerce commission approval.

Jones said the plan was entirely voluntary and involves neither court action nor application of railroad debt adjustment legislation passed by the last congress. He predicted its adoption because, he said, the bondholders would realize more than they could by selling the bonds at their current market price.

The railroad would cut its annual interest charges about $3,000,000 and postpone for at least 20 years its debt, of which more than $60,000,000 would have come due within the next five years.

26 Million Loan Provided.

Upon adoption of the plan, the R. F. C. would lend a maximum of $26,000,000 more to the railroad to facilitate the refunding. The saving on interest, moreover, would enable the railroad to spend more for maintenance and improvement.

Holders of $105,833,000 of first mortgage bonds would be paid half in new 30 year 4 per cent income bonds and half either in cash or in new 20 year 4 per cent first mortgage bonds. The R. F. C. would lend the railroad the money to pay bondholders electing to take cash.

R. F. C. Would Take Bonds.

The R. F. C. would take 20 year 4 per cent first mortgage bonds for the new loans and for the $14,750,000 already owed.

Similar 20 year 4 per cent first mortgage bonds also would be given various banks for the road's short term debts totaling $5,500,000.

Jones said in a letter to E. S. French, president of the railroad, that the plan "would place your road in a position to rehabilitate and maintain its facilities so as to promote good service and give your bondholders a more dependable investment."

Goodrich Cuts Tire Prices to Spur Winter Demand

Akron, O., Nov. 7 (AP).—The B. F. Goodrich company today announced reduction in consumer tire and tube prices. The cuts ranged from 12½ to 14 per cent on popular tire lines. J. J. Newman, vice president, said the company was attempting to stimulate winter sales.

Illinois Output of Oil Falls in Last Week

Illinois oil production in the week ended Nov. 4 dropped 12,175 barrels to 326,580 barrels a day, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. In the preceding week output has moved toward the all-time peak of 344,267 barrels daily, reached in the last week of September.

Daily average crude oil production in the United States increased slightly in the week ended Nov. 4, totaling 3,501,350 barrels, compared with 3,498,500 the previous week and 3,628,550 a year ago, the American Petroleum institute reported.

Exploration in the Illinois fields last week opened 61 new wells of which 11 were dry. This brings the total number of wells in the state to 4,392.

Illinois Production Figures.

The state geological survey at Urbana estimated that crude oil production in Illinois in October set a new monthly peak of 10,250,000 barrels. For the first ten months this year the oil output totaled 73,000,000 barrels or more than twice the 33,686,000 obtained in the entire year 1908, when the oil boom of that period reached its height.

Exploration in the state last month opened three new pools—near Calvin and Phillipstown in White county, and near Cowling in Edwards county.

The geological survey said on Nov. 1 there were 46 new fields in operation in the Illinois basin region, all discovered since Jan. 1, 1937.

Estimate Producing Wells.

There were 4,487 producing wells in these fields, the survey estimated. This was somewhat larger than the Oil and Gas Journal's estimate for Nov. 4.

Meanwhile, the house oil committee in Washington continued its hearing on a bill for federal control of waste in oil and gas production. H. A. Beaky, economist for the bureau of mines, testified that an increased demand for oil by warring powers could be met in the United States "with comparatively little effort."

ACT TO PREVENT ATLANTIC COAST RAIL CONGESTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The Association of American Railroads announced today it is putting into effect immediately a plan designed to prevent congestion at the principal north Atlantic ports.

J. J. Pelley, association president, said the plan was adopted "because of the possibility, under existing conditions, that there will be an increased movement of export freight."

Designed to preclude the use of freight cars for storage purposes, the plan was developed by the association's car service division after the world war. Delay in unloading cars at north Atlantic ports created chaos in 1917 and was a factor in bringing about government operation of the railroads.

G. C. Randall of Chicago has been appointed manager of the car service division in charge of port traffic and the movement of rail traffic to ports.

Aeronautical Corporation Files Common Stock Issue

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 7 (AP).—Aeronautical Corporation of America filed with the securities and exchange commission today a registration statement for proposed issuance of 60,000 shares of $1 par common stock, a new issue to be sold at $6.25 a share, to enlarge manufacturing facilities and reduce outstanding indebtedness.

GAS RATE SLASH ASKED PENDING FEDERAL RULING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harry R. Booth.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—An immediate interim order reducing the wholesale rates charged for natural gas used as a mixture with manufactured gas in the Chicago area was requested in a motion filed before the federal power commission today. Harry R. Booth, assistant attorney general of Illinois, acting in behalf of the Illinois commerce commission, and George Slaff, counsel for the federal power commission, filed the motion.

Ewing Simpson, power commission hearing examiner, indicated the full commission will hear argument Dec. 11 on the motion for an interim order. Hearings have been in progress since May 8 on a complaint filed by the Illinois Commerce commission requesting the power commission, under the authority of the natural gas act of 1938, to fix "just and reasonable" rates for the natural gas which is mixed with artificial gas and sold by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company.

Earnings an Issue.

The motion for an immediate temporary rate reduction in the wholesale rate on the natural gas involved the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America and the Texoma Natural Gas company, which are the defendants in the proceeding and which sell natural gas at wholesale to Peoples Gas. The motion charged that the pipe line company and Texoma earned an average of $4,835,183 during the seven year period of their operations, or approximately 8 per cent on a $61,000,000 investment.

The defendant companies—Natural Gas Pipe Line and Texoma—supply Texas natural gas to the Chicago District Pipe Line company at Joliet. The latter company in turn sells the gas to Peoples Gas.

Owners of District Pipe Line.

The Chicago District Pipe Line company is owned by Peoples Gas [79.54 per cent], by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois [14.05 per cent], and by the Western United Gas and Electric company [6.41 per cent], a Commonwealth Edison company subsidiary. The Chicago utilities in turn own 26.62 per cent of the defendant companies.

Testifies in Government's Antitrust Suit.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—Richard H. Grant, Dayton, O., vice president of General Motors corporation in charge of sales, testified in the corporation's anti-trust case in federal court here today concerning the meeting of executives in Los Angeles, Cal., in 1925, about which much of the government's case has been built.

Grant is one of the 17 individual defendants in the case. He said he went to Oakland, Cal., to meet Fred Coats, Oakland, Cal., regional manager of Chevrolet in November, 1925, because of "hectic financing conditions in southern California."

Urges Two Financing Units.

At a conference between Grant, Coats, and A. L. Deane, a representative of General Motors Acceptance corporation, Grant argued that G. M. A. C. should have two companies, one to act as a recourse company, which it was then doing, and one to act as a nonrecourse company in competition with independent finance companies which did not have the recourse clause.

Grant said he took that stand because he wanted to sell more cars and by making G. M. A. C. partially nonrecourse would enable Chevrolet dealers to offer financing terms equal to those of competitive dealers.

Official Takes Different View.

Deane, Grant testified, took the position that to make G. M. A. C. partially nonrecourse would increase finance rates and that he wanted dealers to finance at rates no higher than those of G. M. A. C.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., Donaldson Brown, Fred Fisher, and John J. Raskob were then called to Los Angeles, Grant said, to decide the issue. They decided to adopt Deane's plan.

Grant declared he told southern California dealers they would have to use finance rates not to excess of those used by G. M. A. C. but the dealers could do their own financing if their rates were not higher than those of G. M. A. C.

BANK STOCKS

Chicago bank stocks closed steady to slightly lower yesterday in dull trading. Continental closed at 85, up ½ point; Chicago Title closed at 121, 1 lower, and First National at 224, off 2. Others were unchanged.

Business Bits

William H. Hubner.

William H. Hubner, formerly a member of the research staff of Universal Oil Products company of Chicago, has been named head of the refinery technology division being organized by the Ethyl Gasoline corporation. The new division will begin operations about Jan. 1 at Detroit. J. B. Taylor Jr., of the Ethyl Engineering laboratories, has been chosen assistant to Hubner.

D. C. Woods, formerly vice president and treasurer of Rollins Hosiery Mills, Inc., was elected president of the company yesterday at a board meeting held in Chicago.

The Greater Chicago Safety council announced winners in three district interplant accident prevention contests covering the period from April 1 to Sept. 30. Columbia Mills was the winner in the Greater Pullman group, Birtman Electric company in the northwest group, and the Whiting corporation, of Harvey, in the "southurban" group.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

The hog market slumped yesterday to new low levels for the last eleven weeks under pressure of supplies. Losses for the day ranged from 10 to 20 cents, all classes sharing in the downturn. Top loads brought $6.60 at the start of trading. The closing top was $6.45.

The cattle trade was a two way affair yesterday. Some of the best yearlings and steers held firm, but others were draggy and weak to 15 cents lower. Some late were off more.

WALGREEN SALES FOR TEN MONTHS EXCEED YEAR AGO

But October Volume Dips 0.6 Per Cent.

Walgreen company, chain drug store operator, yesterday reported an increase in sales for the first 10 months of the year, but a decrease in October compared with the volume for the 1938 month.

Sales for the 10 months ended Oct. 31 were $57,526,410, compared with $54,815,753 in the corresponding 1938 period. The increase was 4.9 per cent. For October, however, the company had sales of $5,887,495 against $5,921,379 in October, 1938, a decrease of 0.6 per cent.

Spiegel, Inc., large Chicago mail order house, reported its sales totaled $6,749,404 last month, the best October sales since 1937, and a 9.7 per cent increase over October of last year, when sales totaled $6,154,121.

Sales for the first 10 months of the year showed an increase of 3.4 per cent over the year ago level, aggregating $39,916,242, compared with $38,586,336 in the first 10 months of 1938.

DIVIDENDS.

I notice that directors of Douglas Aircraft company have declared a $3 a share dividend on the company's capital stock.—Y. W.

Answer: Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in 1928. It acquired all the assets and business of the Douglas company, which had been engaged in the design, development and construction of airplanes since 1921.

Douglas paid an initial dividend of 75 cents a share on March 19, 1930. Disbursements that year totaled $1.25. Since that year payments have been made as follows:

Year.	Divids. paid.	Year.	Divids. paid.
1931	$1.25	1935	$ .75

EMSCO DERRICK.

What does Emsco Derrick and Equipment company do? Let me have some information on this company.—H. S.

Answer: Emsco Derrick and Equipment company manufactures and sells a broad line of steel oilwell derricks, oilwell drilling machinery and oilwell production equipment. The company also produces fabricated structural steel, commercial galvanizing and contractor's equipment.

In December of last year Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Republic Supply company of California acquired a substantial interest in Emsco Derrick. It was understood that these two companies purchased more than 200,000 shares of Emsco's 373,594 shares outstanding.

A loss was reported last year for the first time in five years. Losses were also reported in 1931, 1932 and 1933. Net income, earnings a common share and dividends paid a common share in the past five years:

1934	$444,164	$1.19	$ .50
1936	656,246	1.76	1.12½
1937	546,131	1.46	1.00
1938	*230,030	*0.62	.70

*Loss.

In the first nine months of the present year the company had a net income of $39,709, equal to 11 cents a share, against net income of $223,429, equal to 60 cents a share, in the same period last year.

The company has no funded debt, and only one class of $5 par value capital stock outstanding. There were current assets of $3,276,254 and current liabilities of $1,085,341, leaving net working capital of $2,190,913, at Dec. 31, 1938.

UNION TANK CAR COMPANY

Chicago, Ill., November 7, 1939.

The Board of Directors of Union Tank Car Company has declared a quarterly dividend of Thirty Cents (30c) per share and an extra dividend of Ten Cents (10c) per share on the outstanding Capital Stock of the Company, payable December 1, 1939, to stockholders of record at the close of business November 15, 1939. Checks will be mailed by The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, Transfer Agent.

GAS RATE SLASH ASKED PENDING FEDERAL RULING

Involves Wholesale Cost for Chicago Area.

hearing purporting to show that the present rate of return of the two defendant companies would pay a dividend of 25 per cent a year on $3,000,000 of common stock and leave $47,537,862 for liquidation in 1955, after the retirement of all bonds and other indebtedness.

S. A. L. Morgan, counsel for the companies, called the computation "fantastic" but said he had no objection to its introduction. "It merely shows the application of the theories of the Illinois Commerce commission to the facts assumed," Morgan said.

Liquidation of the companies after Dec. 31, 1954, was assumed on the basis of company testimony that the defendants' supply of natural gas would be exhausted by that time. This was one of the factors on which the companies had relied in contending that their rate of return should be 8 per cent.

Basis of Computation.

Kleinman's computation assumed the payment of a 25 per cent annual cash dividend on the $3,000,000 of outstanding capital stock of the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America. It assumed the payment of no dividends on the $500,000 of outstanding capital stock of Texoma Natural Gas until liquidation. Texoma is the operating company and no dividends have been paid on its stock.

Kleinman expressed his opinion as an expert that the rate of return of the companies should be not more than 6 per cent. He submitted another computation purporting to show that a rate reduction of $3,000,000 a year would leave on hand at the end of 1954—after retirement of all bonds and other indebtedness and paying a 25 per cent annual cash dividend on the $3,000,000 of capital stock—a total of $3,930,923 for the retirement of the $3,500,000 of capital stock of both companies.

Separate Action on Retail Rate.

If the motion for an interim rate reduction should be granted, it would remain in effect pending the final determination of the case. An order reducing the wholesale rates charged by the two companies for natural gas used in Chicago would be followed by action on the part of the Illinois Commerce Commission to reduce the consumer rates charged by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke.

The purchase of natural gas for mixing with artificial gas represents more than half of the operating expenses of Peoples Gas, according to the testimony before the power commission.

COTTON

Cotton futures advanced .07 to .11 cent a pound in American markets yesterday on buying influenced by firmness at Liverpool and British claims that the British navy has overcome the submarine handicap to shipping. The New York market was closed for local elections, but Chicago and New Orleans were open.

Spot cotton closed .08 to .10 cent a pound higher, with New Orleans at 9.37 cents, Houston at 8.85 cents, and Galveston at 8.95 cents per pound. Prices follow:

BELGIAN PEACE PLAN REVERSES RISE IN WHEAT

Closing Prices Are Weak; Corn Also Lower.

The Belgian-Dutch offer to mediate a peaceful settlement of the European war pulled the props from under an advancing wheat market yesterday. Futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel lower after being up ¾ cent in early trading.

The December delivery advanced to 89 cents in midsession, or only ½ cent below the season's top. At the close the quotation was 87⅞ to 88 cents, unchanged from Monday.

The market's early strength was based on further drouth reports from the western plains area. Only light rains were reported from the eastern fringe of the big wheat producing states, and the forecast was for continued clear weather.

Fears Small Wheat Crop.

The Robinson Elevator company of Kansas City, Mo., commented that "a serious situation is confronting Kansas wheat farmers, as well as those of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and Nebraska. Should this dry condition continue thru November, there is little doubt that the Kansas 1940 harvest will be very small."

The company estimated that Kansas planted acreage at 11,500,000 acres. The report said that, with seeding time already past, abandonment of normal acreage or more can be expected. Last year 13,885,000 acres were planted, of which 3,327,000, or 24 per cent, were abandoned.

Corn futures moved mainly in sympathy with wheat and closed ¼ to ⅝ cent lower. Lake clearances of corn Monday totaled 610,000 bushels from Chicago, and 167,000 bushels more were loaded into vessels.

Soy Beans Close Lower.

Soy beans moved over a 2⅜ cent range, with the May contract touching $1 at one time. Closing prices were ½ to ⅝ cent lower, the market following the general decline in grains. Monday's clearances by lake from Chicago totaled 776,000 bushels, and 411,000 bushels were loaded here. Soy bean shipments by boat and rail last week totaled 1,904,000 bushels. The demand for cash beans had shrunk yesterday, however, and no shipping sales were reported by Chicago merchants.

Oats closed irregular, ⅛ cent higher to ¼ cent lower. Rye lost ⅝ to 1 cent. Trading in both grains was light.

NOTICE OF THE SALE OF TEMPORARY LOAN NOTES OF THE CHICAGO HOUSING AUTHORITY

Sealed proposals will be received by the Chicago Housing Authority at its office in the City of Chicago at 12:00 o'clock N. (central standard time) on the 14th day of November, 1939, for the sale of a negotiable temporary loan note or notes of said Chicago Housing Authority in the aggregate amount of Three Million Four Hundred Sixty-five Thousand Dollars ($3,465,000.00), and designated (First Series). Such note or notes will be dated November 14, 1939, and will be payable to bearer on May 14, 1940. The proceeds of such note or notes are to be used to pay the expenses incurred or to be incurred in the development of a low-rent housing project located in the City of Chicago and for which the United States Housing Authority has agreed to make a loan to the Chicago Housing Authority to assist in the development thereof.

For the prompt payment of the principal and interest of such note or notes, the full faith and credit of the said Chicago Housing Authority will be pledged and such note or notes will be further secured by a requisition agreement between the Chicago Housing Authority and the United States Housing Authority under the terms of which agreement the United States Housing Authority agrees to purchase an advance loan note of the Chicago Housing Authority at or prior to the maturity of such temporary loan note or notes in an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereof, and agrees to cause the proceeds of such advance loan note to be deposited at the Bank at which such temporary loan note or notes is payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Such note or notes will bear interest at a rate per annum fixed in the proposal which is accepted for the purchase of such note or notes. Both principal and interest of such note or notes will be payable at any incorporated Bank or Trust Company designated by the purchaser, the fees or charges, if any, of such Bank or Trust Company, to be paid by the purchaser. Each bidder will be required to specify in his proposal the rate of interest which such note or notes he proposes to purchase shall bear and the Bank or Trust Company at which he desires such note or notes to be payable. Each bidder will also specify in his proposal the denominations in which he desires such note or notes to be issued. Such note or notes will be awarded to the bidder offering to pay the lowest interest cost. In computing the lowest interest cost, the Authority will take into consideration any premium which the purchaser agrees to pay. All proposals for the purchase of such note or notes shall be submitted in the form set out below. No bid for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained and no proposal will be received for less than the full amount of such note or notes. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

(signed) Elizabeth Wood
Secretary.

Ship Brings Forest.

Nov. 7, 1939.

ONE of the Tribune ships that haul news print paper from Canada recently tied up at its dock in the Chicago river with a small forest on the top deck. The ship had brought 40 young trees from the Tribune timberlands in Ontario and Quebec to be transplanted in an arboretum at the Du Page county farm.

Some of the trees came from the forests near Heron Bay, Ont., on the north shore of Lake Superior, and the others from Franquelin and Shelter Bay on the St. Lawrence river in Quebec. All were sent to Thorold, Ont., on boats that haul pulpwood to the paper mills there and then were reloaded for shipment to Chicago.

The collection included 13 birch, 6 spruce, 4 mountain ash, 5 balsam fir, 2 jack pine, 4 white cedar, 4 larch, and 2 balsam poplar trees.

Packed with Soil.

The young trees were dug from their native north woods with steam shovels and packed in large crates, each tree with about two tons of soil around the roots. The crates were lined with wet moss to keep the soil from drying.

The trees are being planted at the farm in the soil in which they grew in Canada. A large hole is scooped out for each tree with a Diesel powered tractor scoop. Black dirt is put in the bottom and the tree, with the original dirt still in place about the roots, is set in its new location with the tractor scoop. Then more black dirt is tamped in around the edges of the hole.

There is a natural mulch of decayed moss and evergreen leaves, or needles, around the base of each tree, but the trees are mulched with peat moss to protect them during the winter. Then they are watered thru the mulch.

Straw to Be Used.

An additional mulch of straw will be put on later to keep the soil from freezing around the roots. This is considered especially important for the evergreens. Should the soil freeze dry around the roots of the evergreens the trees might lose their needles and die. The trees will be watered in dry weather for a few years until they are well established.

None of the trees have tap roots. All the roots are spread out in the moist mulch of decayed moss and evergreen needles and in the first few inches of the surface soil.

The gardeners say that all the trees appear to be in good condition and that they have a fair chance to live. They anticipate more trouble with the evergreens than with the deciduous trees. It often is difficult to transplant evergreens directly from the woods. They are more likely to live when the roots have been trained to develop in a ball of earth by successive transplantings in a nursery before they are set in a permanent place.

Forty-five different kinds of trees and shrubs were planted in the arboretum last spring. One died during the summer. Most of them are kinds not commonly found in this region.

TIMKEN ROLLER BEARING'S 1939 PROFITS SOAR

L. A. Young Reduces Loss; Is Booked at Capacity.

Timken Roller Bearing company announced yesterday that its profit in the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $1,486,564, equal to 61 cents a share. Earnings were $217,097, or 9 cents a share, in the corresponding 1938 period. Profit for the first nine months of 1939 was reported at $4,908,934 or $2.03 a share, compared with a net loss of $109,064 in the corresponding period of last year.

L. A. Young Spring and Wire corporation and subsidiaries issued a report which showed a smaller net loss in the first nine months of the current year than in the corresponding period of 1938. Net loss for the first three quarters of 1939 amounted to $145,560, compared with $815,493 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1938.

Quarter Loss $229,290.

Indicated net loss for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $229,290, against net loss of $410,691 for the corresponding 1939 period. The company is the leading manufacturer of automobile upholstery springs. It has plants thruout the country, including two in Chicago, and maintains general offices at Detroit.

"The company has obtained contracts for maximum production for the entire 1940 automobile season and the outlook for profits is bright," L. A. Young, board chairman, told stockholders in a statement accompanying the report.

MEN

WE WILL TAKE ON ADDITIONAL MEN WHO WISH TO TRY TO LEARN TO DO THIS WORK AND WHO CAN GET ALONG ON MODERATE EARNINGS WHILE STUDYING AND PRACTICING. WE WILL TRAIN SUCH MEN FREE IF THEY DESIRE THIS OPTIONAL ADVANTAGE. WE WILL FURNISH FULL EQUIPMENT WITH NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED. THERE IS NO EXPENSE.

No previous experience in any kind of selling is necessary. If you are capable of understanding and of applying your own judgment to tested methods; if you are one who likes to practice to gain skill and judgment in what he does, and if you are a worker, willing to pay a working price for success, then we will give you a chance. We cannot guarantee you will be a star, but we do guarantee you opportunity with sincere, earnest, practical instruction and guidance.

This is a large national institution operating from coast to coast. We believe the world sales of our elec. unit lead all others. We are now introducing this extraordinary product and it already has a greater sale than any product in the world ever attempting any of its services. [No device ever having attempted to render all of its services.]

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may obtain $25 to $300—

Salary Loans On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months], and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's charge is less on all loans than the maximum permitted by law. Our monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES and CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter or telephone will receive immediate attention.

As little as $2.00 to $2.26 a week repays in full, including all charges, a $150 loan over 20 months at America's largest loan company. No salary assignments.

$2.00 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $150 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $2.26 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $150 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

How British-French blockade has hit Belgium and Holland, causing economic distress in those countries. Even inland canal traffic, important to both, has been sharply reduced. The small map shows blockade of entire North sea. Stars mark points at which British have established contrabrand control service.
